

MACMILLAN CALLS FOR TALKS BY EXPERTS

Rogue Valley Edition

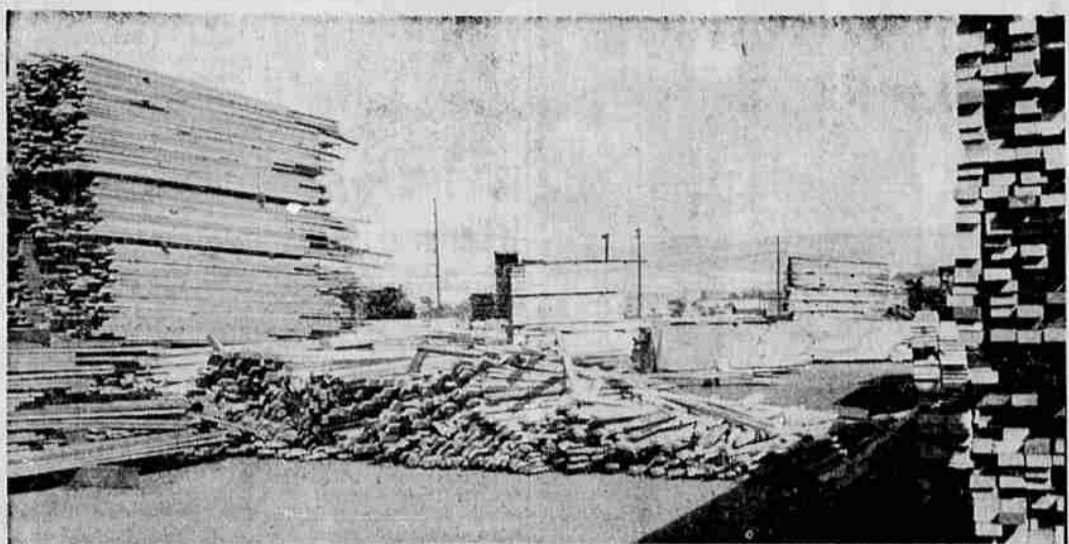

55th Year Price 10 Cents

MEDFORD MAIL TRIBUNE

40 PAGES

MEDFORD, OREGON, THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 29, 1960

No. 165

SCATTERED LUMBER—Four stacks of lumber at Kogap Manufacturing company south of Medford were toppled Wednesday when a sonic boom jarred the valley shortly after 1:30 p.m. The stacks of lumber were 16-foot high. No one was reported near the stacks at the time of the accident. (Knackstedt photo)

Congressman Is 'Disinvited' To Meeting Tonight

Congressman Charles O. Porter (D-Ore.) has been "disinvited" to a meeting of the board of the Rogue Basin Flood Control and Water Resources Association set for tonight. But he said this morning he's going to show up anyway, as scheduled, to talk about the Rogue River project to anyone who may be there. The association's meeting was cancelled. It was scheduled for the Rogue River, near Rock Point, at 8 o'clock this evening. After a half-hour telephone call between Porter, in Medford, and Ben Hilton, chairman of the association, in Grants Pass, Hilton told Porter he would try to "reinstate" the meeting for tomorrow night.

Porter said he was planning to say concerning the Rogue project, and because of "the non-partisan nature" of the association. Porter, in his conversation with Hilton, asked that his side be heard. And in a statement after the telephone discussion, he said: "This is a campaign. One of the most important issues in the Fourth District is which candidate for Congress can best advance the Rogue Basin project. I would expect the association to hear both sides. I hope that the meeting will be re-scheduled. "Of course I know the association is a non-partisan group, and that it must remain so in order to be effective. All that I want is a chance to present my own case to them personally."

Porter's press release, sent out from his office in Eugene for use after the meeting, said in part: "If the Rogue River project is ever to be built, it will have to be built with the help of the Democrats in Congress. Representative Charles O. Porter told a meeting of the Rogue water resources group Thursday evening. "The Rogue project was sleeping when I took office," he said, "and planning money for the project was being taken from it and used on the Columbia river. "I protested this, and we have received funds and the project is moving along. . . . "Green Peter dam on the Santiam river is the only project in the state recommended by the administration, and that only in an election year. Since the Democrats regained control of Congress in 1955, we have forced five new dam starts on the administration. . . . New starts on the Rogue project will be done through the Democrats or not at all," Porter said. "The Army engineers have

Russian Premier Yells Opposition, Bangs on Desk

Arms Talks Should Be by Technicians

United Nations, N.Y. — (UPI) — British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan fired back at Communist attacks on Africa and disarmament today in a stinging U.N. speech that sent Nikita Khrushchev into a burst of fist-banging, shouting opposition.

A dramatic Macmillan proposal for "nonpolitical" disarmament negotiations by experts rather than propagandists was almost overshadowed by Khrushchev's incredible performance.

Hitting by Name The British prime minister, hitting at Khrushchev by name in the first western Big Three reply to the Russian's condemnation of the West last week, called for handling arms-cutting negotiations over to "technical experts, scientific, military and administrative."

"... it would not at this stage be political and controversial," Macmillan declared. "The prime minister thus launched a major attempt to break the disarmament impasse shortly before his meeting with Khrushchev this evening. The Russian's behavior did not bode well for this first top-level East-West contact since the abortive Paris conference last May. Four Khrushchev Outbursts There were four table-thumping outbursts by Khrushchev. His heckling and shouts of disapproval caused the Assembly president to cancel Khrushchev's order. Khrushchev's first outburst came when Macmillan threw his support to U.N. Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold and rejected Khrushchev's efforts to try to mold the United Nations around Communist lines. The Russian pounded his desk with both fists so loudly other delegates turned and stared.

Macmillan spoke of the breakup of the Paris summit conference last May—blamed by the West on Khrushchev—and read an allied communique expressing willingness to resume the talks at any time. Khrushchev exploded at this and yelled, "Yes, let's talk about Paris. Don't send the U2 and don't try to cover up aggression."

Macmillan, the picture of dignity in dark blue suit, his silver hair gleaming in the bright lights, looked down his nose at the Russian antics and continued his speech. (Continued on Page 2)

Reads Communique Macmillan spoke of the breakup of the Paris summit conference last May—blamed by the West on Khrushchev—and read an allied communique expressing willingness to resume the talks at any time. Khrushchev exploded at this and yelled, "Yes, let's talk about Paris. Don't send the U2 and don't try to cover up aggression."

Macmillan, the picture of dignity in dark blue suit, his silver hair gleaming in the bright lights, looked down his nose at the Russian antics and continued his speech. (Continued on Page 2)

Macmillan, the picture of dignity in dark blue suit, his silver hair gleaming in the bright lights, looked down his nose at the Russian antics and continued his speech. (Continued on Page 2)

Macmillan, the picture of dignity in dark blue suit, his silver hair gleaming in the bright lights, looked down his nose at the Russian antics and continued his speech. (Continued on Page 2)

Macmillan, the picture of dignity in dark blue suit, his silver hair gleaming in the bright lights, looked down his nose at the Russian antics and continued his speech. (Continued on Page 2)

Macmillan, the picture of dignity in dark blue suit, his silver hair gleaming in the bright lights, looked down his nose at the Russian antics and continued his speech. (Continued on Page 2)

Macmillan, the picture of dignity in dark blue suit, his silver hair gleaming in the bright lights, looked down his nose at the Russian antics and continued his speech. (Continued on Page 2)

Macmillan, the picture of dignity in dark blue suit, his silver hair gleaming in the bright lights, looked down his nose at the Russian antics and continued his speech. (Continued on Page 2)

Macmillan, the picture of dignity in dark blue suit, his silver hair gleaming in the bright lights, looked down his nose at the Russian antics and continued his speech. (Continued on Page 2)

Macmillan, the picture of dignity in dark blue suit, his silver hair gleaming in the bright lights, looked down his nose at the Russian antics and continued his speech. (Continued on Page 2)

Hunters Cautioned About Fire Danger While in Mountains

Hunters have been cautioned by forest service personnel and owners of tree farms in the area to be careful with fire while in the woods this season. Deer hunting season opens Saturday morning. C. E. Brown, supervisor of Rogue River National Forest, said closures in the forest will be lifted, effective at midnight tomorrow night. The action is not because of a decrease in the fire hazard, he said, but is to open all areas to hunters. Brown said the forest is now the driest it has been all season, and that fires must be completely extinguished when left. Although the ground may be damp in the mornings, he said it takes little time to dry as the day progresses. Hazardous Summer "In spite of a hazardous summer, we have been fortunate in having only 12 acres of protective area burned. We wish to keep this down, and will need complete cooperation from hunters and other forest users," Brown said. Operators of tree farms in the area have again opened their land to hunters, but the Industrial Forestry Association asked hunters to use fire with caution. Last year there were only two hunters' fires on tree farms. They burned only one acre, a favorable decrease from the previous year's acreage burned during hunting season. Tree farms in this area which have been opened to hunters include those operated by Elk Lumber company, Fir Milling and Planing company, Kogap Manufacturing company, Timber Products company, and Weyerhaeuser company.

Teacher Shot While Hunting

Happy Camp—Terrill James Ready, 41, eighth grade teacher at Happy Camp Elementary School, was fatally shot late Wednesday while hunting southwest of Happy Camp.

According to Siskiyou county sheriff's deputies, Ready apparently tripped and fell over a log about 5 p.m., accidentally discharging his rifle. He was killed almost instantly. The body was found on a road near the Willamette sawmill housing project where the Ready family lived. A search party had been looking for the man all night after he failed to return home for dinner. The Ready's moved to Happy Camp earlier this month from Montague where he was a teacher. Mrs. Ready is the second grade teacher in Happy Camp. They have three children, Bruce, 8, Gerald, 7, and Stuart, 5½. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Phals T. Ready, Grenada, Calif.

Registration will continue today, tomorrow and Saturday, and additional enrollments are expected. Of the total so far registered, there are 721 men, compared to 692 on a comparable date last year, an increase of 4.1 per cent. There are 531 women now enrolled, compared to 464 last year, an increase of 14.4 per cent.

Registration will continue today, tomorrow and Saturday, and additional enrollments are expected. Of the total so far registered, there are 721 men, compared to 692 on a comparable date last year, an increase of 4.1 per cent. There are 531 women now enrolled, compared to 464 last year, an increase of 14.4 per cent.

Registration will continue today, tomorrow and Saturday, and additional enrollments are expected. Of the total so far registered, there are 721 men, compared to 692 on a comparable date last year, an increase of 4.1 per cent. There are 531 women now enrolled, compared to 464 last year, an increase of 14.4 per cent.

Registration will continue today, tomorrow and Saturday, and additional enrollments are expected. Of the total so far registered, there are 721 men, compared to 692 on a comparable date last year, an increase of 4.1 per cent. There are 531 women now enrolled, compared to 464 last year, an increase of 14.4 per cent.

Registration will continue today, tomorrow and Saturday, and additional enrollments are expected. Of the total so far registered, there are 721 men, compared to 692 on a comparable date last year, an increase of 4.1 per cent. There are 531 women now enrolled, compared to 464 last year, an increase of 14.4 per cent.

Registration will continue today, tomorrow and Saturday, and additional enrollments are expected. Of the total so far registered, there are 721 men, compared to 692 on a comparable date last year, an increase of 4.1 per cent. There are 531 women now enrolled, compared to 464 last year, an increase of 14.4 per cent.

Registration will continue today, tomorrow and Saturday, and additional enrollments are expected. Of the total so far registered, there are 721 men, compared to 692 on a comparable date last year, an increase of 4.1 per cent. There are 531 women now enrolled, compared to 464 last year, an increase of 14.4 per cent.

Registration will continue today, tomorrow and Saturday, and additional enrollments are expected. Of the total so far registered, there are 721 men, compared to 692 on a comparable date last year, an increase of 4.1 per cent. There are 531 women now enrolled, compared to 464 last year, an increase of 14.4 per cent.

Scientists Find Virus Linked To Human Cancer

New York — (UPI) — Scientists have discovered a virus linked to human cancer. The newly-found virus is associated with at least eight cancers of different types from various parts of the human body, the researchers reported. If further research pins down the virus as the cause of cancer, broad new possibilities for combating the dread disease will have been opened. These might include vaccines to prevent cancer and early detection of cancers by spotting the virus in the system of a cancer victim.

Teacher Shot While Hunting

Happy Camp—Terrill James Ready, 41, eighth grade teacher at Happy Camp Elementary School, was fatally shot late Wednesday while hunting southwest of Happy Camp.

According to Siskiyou county sheriff's deputies, Ready apparently tripped and fell over a log about 5 p.m., accidentally discharging his rifle. He was killed almost instantly. The body was found on a road near the Willamette sawmill housing project where the Ready family lived. A search party had been looking for the man all night after he failed to return home for dinner. The Ready's moved to Happy Camp earlier this month from Montague where he was a teacher. Mrs. Ready is the second grade teacher in Happy Camp. They have three children, Bruce, 8, Gerald, 7, and Stuart, 5½. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Phals T. Ready, Grenada, Calif.

Registration will continue today, tomorrow and Saturday, and additional enrollments are expected. Of the total so far registered, there are 721 men, compared to 692 on a comparable date last year, an increase of 4.1 per cent. There are 531 women now enrolled, compared to 464 last year, an increase of 14.4 per cent.

Registration will continue today, tomorrow and Saturday, and additional enrollments are expected. Of the total so far registered, there are 721 men, compared to 692 on a comparable date last year, an increase of 4.1 per cent. There are 531 women now enrolled, compared to 464 last year, an increase of 14.4 per cent.

Registration will continue today, tomorrow and Saturday, and additional enrollments are expected. Of the total so far registered, there are 721 men, compared to 692 on a comparable date last year, an increase of 4.1 per cent. There are 531 women now enrolled, compared to 464 last year, an increase of 14.4 per cent.

Registration will continue today, tomorrow and Saturday, and additional enrollments are expected. Of the total so far registered, there are 721 men, compared to 692 on a comparable date last year, an increase of 4.1 per cent. There are 531 women now enrolled, compared to 464 last year, an increase of 14.4 per cent.

Registration will continue today, tomorrow and Saturday, and additional enrollments are expected. Of the total so far registered, there are 721 men, compared to 692 on a comparable date last year, an increase of 4.1 per cent. There are 531 women now enrolled, compared to 464 last year, an increase of 14.4 per cent.

Registration will continue today, tomorrow and Saturday, and additional enrollments are expected. Of the total so far registered, there are 721 men, compared to 692 on a comparable date last year, an increase of 4.1 per cent. There are 531 women now enrolled, compared to 464 last year, an increase of 14.4 per cent.

Registration will continue today, tomorrow and Saturday, and additional enrollments are expected. Of the total so far registered, there are 721 men, compared to 692 on a comparable date last year, an increase of 4.1 per cent. There are 531 women now enrolled, compared to 464 last year, an increase of 14.4 per cent.

Registration will continue today, tomorrow and Saturday, and additional enrollments are expected. Of the total so far registered, there are 721 men, compared to 692 on a comparable date last year, an increase of 4.1 per cent. There are 531 women now enrolled, compared to 464 last year, an increase of 14.4 per cent.

Court Considering Suggestions for Pollution Control

The Jackson county court yesterday accepted for consideration recommendations on air pollution control made by the Medford Chamber of Commerce legislative committee. The letter urged that the county and Medford make the necessary air pollution study because many of the industries are outside the city. The city and county planning commissions or the local air pollution committee should make a further study toward definite plans before funds are spent for additional air pollution surveys, the letter recommended. This and other committee recommendations were approved by the chamber's board of directors at its regular meeting Sept. 22. Problem Coordinated "The planning commissions should lay out a proposed plan describing the type of community we should plan to build during the next 15 to 20 years," the letter stated. "If such a plan is outlined then the air pollution problem should be coordinated with the plan." "Positive action should be taken toward setting up the program so that industries will be in a position to cooperate and know in advance the ordinances under which they will be required to operate," the letter stated. "It was the consensus of the committee that air pollution does exist and that some orderly procedure should be taken to attempt to improve the situation. There is just as much hazard of overly controlling air pollution as there is lack of control. This can result in elimination of industries due to the small profit margin, the committee concluded.

Request for Lease Of Ball Park Land Being Considered

The Jackson county court and fair board yesterday took under advisement a requested lease for the area in front of the ball park for commercial use. Robert Taylor of Dean and Taylor Pontiac company, Medford, requested lease of the area to complement an adjacent commercial strip he is planning. Taylor said the land he has purchased extends from the service station and Kim's restaurant to the fairgrounds, and back to the California Oregon Power company installation. The land measures about 670 feet wide by 500 feet deep. The area he proposes to lease measures about the same highway frontage and is 150 feet deep, Taylor explained. The Medford auto dealer requested a long term lease, about 20 years, which would allow erection of an auto sales office, but no showroom. County Commissioner Ralph James said such an operation would mean erecting a small building similar to what used car dealers have. Taylor said he plans to erect attractive commercial buildings along the entire highway frontage, properly spaced, with easy access roads to them. Taylor said he has commitments from two gas companies, two car dealers, a farm equipment company, a national appliance company and a furniture dealer. The lease would not interfere with possible construction and operation of a stadium or operation of the ball park, he said. Fair Board Chairman Collier Buffington suggested that the property be leased on a front foot basis. The fair board was asked to make a recommendation to the county court. Meanwhile, the county court will ask for a legal opinion from the district attorney's office on how long the county can lease property, and any other legal technicalities.

Jumpers Dropped On New Blaze

Rogue River National Forest this morning dropped three smoke jumpers on a newly spotted lightning fire in the Applegate district. The blaze brought to 14 the number of lightning strikes on the Rogue forest from a Wednesday storm. Fire fighters had the other 13 out or in the mop up stage. All were in the Applegate district. Patrolmen of the state department of forestry also were mopping up today on the rash of lightning blazes on state-protected land in Jackson and Josephine counties. Nine fires resulted from the Wednesday storm in Jackson county and some 25 were reported in the Josephine unit of the southwest forestry district. Newest fire on federal forest land was near Gulf butte over the state line in California. The Rogue forest used a total of 13 jumpers on five fires (two or three to a fire) because of the rugged country. The state department of forestry reported no new fires in Jackson county after spotting one near Battle Mountain in the Evans creek area yesterday afternoon. It was the third lightning fire from the storm found in that area. Four state forest patrol crewmen were mopping up today on the sight of the Samson creek fire, which broke out Wednesday. One hundred acres of grass and scrub oak were burned.

Candidates Reminded Of M-T Space Offer

The Mail Tribune, as in past years, plans to offer free space for statements by candidates seeking election to Congress from the fourth congressional district, candidates for the state legislature, and candidates for county offices. The statements, which must not exceed 500 words in length, must be in the Mail Tribune's news room on or before Oct. 1. Candidates are reminded of the deadline, and statements received after the Oct. 1 deadline will not be used.

Clarifying Words on Dog Control Ballot Not Likely, Opinion to Madden Reads

It is not likely that a clarifying paragraph will appear on the November general election ballot regarding the wording of a dog control measure. The opinion was sent to County Clerk E. M. Madden Wednesday by Deputy District Attorney Gerald J. Scannell Jr. In his letter, Scannell said that "I would also state that I do not feel that it would be legal, or at least the matter would be open to question by persons who would be displeased by any measure passed at this election as to any narrow description being inserted as to what a 'yes' or 'no' vote would accomplish." The wording on the ballot for the dog control measure will be simply "for or against dogs running at large." The opinion further stated that it was the feeling of the office that proper news releases to all news media would be the best way of approaching the problem which "obviously" existed at the time of the primary election in May. Scannell said that the district attorney's office is still awaiting receipt of an attorney general's opinion concerning the effect of a repeal of the county-wide dog control measure in Medford and Rogue River that approved dog control in the primary election in May. In his letter, Scannell said that the questions asked of him by Madden regarding dog control "are perhaps premature." He added that if the county measure had failed in the primary it would not have controlled the city measure.

Mrs. Eisenhower's Mother Dies in Sleep at Denver

Denver — (UPI) — Mrs. Elivera Doud, 82, mother of Mrs. Mamie Eisenhower, died in her sleep at her home here Wednesday night. Death came at 10:44 p.m. from cerebral arteriosclerosis. Mrs. Doud had been in poor health for several years. Dr. E. Paul Sheridan, a specialist in internal medicine who was present at the time of death, said Mrs. Doud had been failing "for a long time" and in critical condition for the past week to 10 days. He said her death had been "more or less anticipated." Private Services A spokesman for Olinger Mortuary, where Mrs. Doud's body was taken, said private services for "a very few friends" and members of the family would be held at her home here Friday afternoon. The spokesman said time of the services would not be disclosed to discourage crowds. She will be buried in Fairmount Cemetery, beside her husband, John S. Doud. Mrs. Eisenhower was flying here from Washington by way of Chicago, where the President was to make a speech tonight. The President was expected to continue on to Denver later for the funeral.

United Plane Lands Safely With Bad Tire

A United Air Lines plane which had blown a tire at take off at Eugene made a safe landing here last night, city firemen reported. Firemen were summoned about 8:40 p.m. and asked to stand by while the air liner landed. Two fire trucks were sent to the airport.

Seven Trials Set For U. S. Court

Seven trials and two hearings are scheduled for federal district court which will convene in Medford at the U. S. courtroom in the post office building Monday, Oct. 3. U. S. District Judge Gus J. Solomon will preside for the session which will continue through Thursday, Oct. 13. This is the first federal district court scheduled in Medford this year. The sessions are usually scheduled in May and October. The May court was cancelled due to a heavy court schedule in Portland.

Plywood Company Closing One Week

Medford Veneer and Plywood Corporation announced today that its operations at White City and at Crescent City, Calif., will shut down for one week commencing Oct. 3. Medford Veneer and Plywood Corporation operates a green veneer manufacturing plant at Crescent City, and a plywood manufacturing plant in the White City industrial area near Medford. Approximately 160 men are employed at White City and 50 at Crescent City. Company officials said that increased production in the plywood industry coupled with reduced demand make it necessary to adjust production. They also said that future adjustments in production may be required dependent upon market demand.

Weather

FORECAST: Fair through Friday. Low tonight 50. High Friday near 90. Highest Yesterday Temp. 87. Lowest This Morning 47.

Our Skies Tonight

Sunrise today — 5:57 p.m. Sunrise tomorrow — 6:07 a.m. The Moon sets — 1:15 a.m. Tomorrow and is in Perigee. Full Moon — Oct. 4. Venus, sets — 6:13 p.m. Jupiter, low in south — 8:57 p.m. Saturn, low in south — 9:41 p.m. Mars, rises — 10:43 p.m.

MRS. ELIVERA DOUD Private Rites Friday

Teacher Shot While Hunting

Happy Camp—Terrill James Ready, 41, eighth grade teacher at Happy Camp Elementary School, was fatally shot late Wednesday while hunting southwest of Happy Camp.

According to Siskiyou county sheriff's deputies, Ready apparently tripped and fell over a log about 5 p.m., accidentally discharging his rifle. He was killed almost instantly. The body was found on a road near the Willamette sawmill housing project where the Ready family lived. A search party had been looking for the man all night after he failed to return home for dinner. The Ready's moved to Happy Camp earlier this month from Montague where he was a teacher. Mrs. Ready is the second grade teacher in Happy Camp. They have three children, Bruce, 8, Gerald, 7, and Stuart, 5½. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Phals T. Ready, Grenada, Calif.

Registration will continue today, tomorrow and Saturday, and additional enrollments are expected. Of the total so far registered, there are 721 men, compared to 692 on a comparable date last year, an increase of 4.1 per cent. There are 531 women now enrolled, compared to 464 last year, an increase of 14.4 per cent.

Registration will continue today, tomorrow and Saturday, and additional enrollments are expected. Of the total so far registered, there are 721 men, compared to 692 on a comparable date last year, an increase of 4.1 per cent. There are 531 women now enrolled, compared to 464 last year, an increase of 14.4 per cent.

Registration will continue today, tomorrow and Saturday, and additional enrollments are expected. Of the total so far registered, there are 721 men, compared to 692 on a comparable date last year, an increase of 4.1 per cent. There are 531 women now enrolled, compared to 464 last year, an increase of 14.4 per cent.

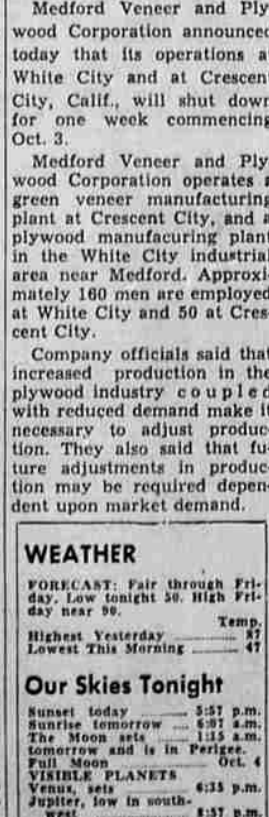

Registration will continue today, tomorrow and Saturday, and additional enrollments are expected. Of the total so far registered, there are 721 men, compared to 692 on a comparable date last year, an increase of 4.1 per cent. There are 531 women now enrolled, compared to 464 last year, an increase of 14.4 per cent.

Registration will continue today, tomorrow and Saturday, and additional enrollments are expected. Of the total so far registered, there are 721 men, compared to 692 on a comparable date last year, an increase of 4.1 per cent. There are 531 women now enrolled, compared to 464 last year, an increase of 14.4 per cent.

Registration will continue today, tomorrow and Saturday, and additional enrollments are expected. Of the total so far registered, there are 721 men, compared to 692 on a comparable date last year, an increase of 4.1 per cent. There are 531 women now enrolled, compared to 464 last year, an increase of 14.4 per cent.

Registration will continue today, tomorrow and Saturday, and additional enrollments are expected. Of the total so far registered, there are 721 men, compared to 692 on a comparable date last year, an increase of 4.1 per cent. There are 531 women now enrolled, compared to 464 last year, an increase of 14.4 per cent.

Groundbreaking

GROUND BREAKING—Construction of the new J. J. Newberry company store in the Medford Shopping Center got under way officially this morning as Mayor John Snider (left) and Medford Newberry Store Manager Harley M. Williams turned back the first earth with a pair of shovels, above. Attending the ceremony were managers of various shopping center stores and other local dignitaries. The new store, located in about the middle of the shopping center, will be three times as big as the Newberry store in downtown Medford, Williams said. The firm will occupy the new building about June 1, 1961. The present store will continue to operate after the new one is open, Williams added.