Navy Claims New Speed Record for Jet Fighters

Washington—UPI—The Navy today claimed a new world record of 1,390.21 miles per hour for jet fighter planes. The record would be nearly 100 miles an hour greater than one submitted for recognition by Russia four months ago.

Navy Secretary William B. Franke said "we have shown again that we are equal to any challenge—that we will be second to no one."

The Navy mark was set Sept. 25 by Cmdr. John F. (Jeff) Davis, 39, an Annapolis graduate from Chicago, in a McDonnell F4H Phantom II fighter that will become operational aboard Navy carriers late this year.

45,000 Feet Over Desert
Davis flew a 62-mile (100 kilometer) circular course in 40.9 seconds. His true average speed was 1,454 miles an hour, but he was occasionally somewhat wide of the course. The test was at an altitude of 45,000 feet over the Mojave Desert near Edwards Air Force Base in California.

Russia's mark for the 100-kilometer course, submitted to the Federation Aeronautique Internationale June 28 and not yet recognized, was 1,298.7 miles per hour. The American record also must be submitted to the same body for recognition.

The current official world record is 1,167.35 miles per hour set by Brig. Gen. Joseph H. Moore at Edwards last Dec. 11.

Portland—UPI—Vernon F. Gleim, 53, Portland, suffered a fatal heart attack while hunting in the Tillamook Burn during the opening day of the season Saturday.

AGENTS SEIZE HEROIN—Agents look at some of the cash and heroin seized by federal narcotic agents when they arrested the Guatemalan ambassador to Belgium and three other persons on charges of smuggling heroin into the United States. Authorities said it was the largest single narcotics seizure ever made in this country. Authorities said 160 pounds of heroin in three large suitcases were flown into New York from France by Ambassador Mauricio Rosal and Etienne Tarditi, a Frenchman. (UPI Telephoto)

Rep. Ullman Asks Study of Flumes

Baker—UPI—Rep. Al Ullman (D-Ore.) said Monday he has asked the Bureau of Reclamation to study flumes reported inadequate in irrigation ditches near Bend.

He said officials of irrigation districts had informed him that the flumes in question did not have the capacity to meet current and future needs.

Ullman asked Commissioner Floyd Dominy in a letter to indicate to him the prospect for including funds for this investigation in the bureau's budget request for the coming fiscal year.

HELD IN DOPE GRAB—Handcuffed to each other, Mauricio Rosal, left, Guatemalan ambassador to Belgium, and Nicholas Calamaris, ducking camera, leave Federal Court in New York City to be taken to the Federal House of Detention. Rosal, 58, of Guatemala City, and Calamaris, 47, a native of Greece who has been working as a Brooklyn longshoreman, were arrested Monday with two other men on charges of smuggling heroin worth $20 million on the illicit market into the United States. ## Mother, Daughter Believed To Be Held Captive in Auto

Madras—UPI—The sheriff's office said today police agencies in Southern Oregon and Northern California had been alerted to look for a car in which a woman and her daughter may be held captive.

A note found on a restroom wall late Monday said "Please help me. I and my little girl are being kidnaped..." A similar note also turned up in a service station restroom at Grass Valley, Ore., the sheriff's office said. The note gave a telephone number in Snoqualmie, Wash. The sheriff's office said it called the number, that of Douglas Ballough, who told authorities his wife, Phyllis, was missing.

The sheriff's office said all points bulletins to police agencies were issued after the call was made.

Federal Agents Seize Four Men In Record Haul

New York—UPI—A Guatemalan diplomat and three other men were held in a record million dollars bail today in the smashup of an international narcotics smuggling ring that "defies the imagination in its magnitude."

Federal narcotics agents arrested the four men at gunpoint on a crowded Manhattan street Monday and confiscated pure heroin worth $20 million on the illicit market.

U.S. Attorney S. Hazard Gillespie said the heroin seizure was the largest single narcotics haul ever made in this country.

Chief Courier
Mauricio Rosal, 58, Guatemalan envoy to Belgium and the Netherlands, was identified by federal agents as the smuggling ring's chief courier.

He was said to have flown in from France Sunday with more than 110 pounds of uncut heroin procured from Middle East narcotics suppliers through the underworld sources in Marseilles. He apparently used his diplomatic immunity from customs search to smuggle the heroin.

Rosal and French mystery man Etienne Tarditi, 56, said to have smuggled in 50 pounds of heroin last Saturday, rendezvoused in Manhattan Monday with Trans World Airlines purser Charles Bourbonnais, 39, and Brooklyn longshoreman Nicholas Calamaris, 47.

Forced To Curb
That was when a swarm of about 75 narcotics agents, guns drawn, pounced on a taxi and station wagon in which the four men were riding and forced them to the curb.

Rosal immediately claimed diplomatic immunity from search and arrest, but federal agents had checked in advance to find that since Rosal was accredited by Guatemala to represent that country in Belgium and the Netherlands—and not the United States—while here he did not enjoy the privileges of diplomatic immunity.

The arrest of the four men was the climax of a carefully-built-up case against them, narcotics agents said. U.S. agents were aided in their European operations by the French Surete, the secret police.

"This operation defies the imagination in its magnitude," said George Gaffney, head of the Federal Narcotics division here.

Rosal and his alleged confederates were believed to have made twice-monthly narcotics deliveries here for the past year.

That was why Gillespie asked for the unusually high bail of $250,000 each for the four men—$1 million in all.

In lieu of bail the four men were held in the U.S. House of Detention pending a hearing Oct. 17. They were charged with conspiracy to violate the narcotics law, which carries a maximum sentence of five years in prison and a fine of $10,000.

Morse 'Definitely' Not Candidate

Washington—UPI—Sen. Wayne Morse (D-Ore.), said emphatically Monday he is not a candidate for president and does not want North Dakota electors to vote for him.

In a letter to the secretary of state of North Dakota, he said he had read newspaper reports indicating that the names of electors supporting Morse might be placed on the state's official ballot for the November election.

The senator said "this is to notify you that I am not a candidate for the presidency of the United States; that I am strongly supporting the Democrat ticket, and I do not desire to have presidential electors in North Dakota support me for the presidency in the forthcoming November election."

The auction, held at the Sheraton Hotel, featured unusual items ranging from a new car to a rifle bullet located inside a freshly killed deer.

Stocks, Autos, Electronics Lead Stock Prices Down

New York—UPI—Stocks headed into lower ground today paced by steel, electronic and auto shares.

Brokers are looking for a test of last week's low point before another rally is attempted. Business news generally has been gloomy. Hopes for an October steel pickup are dimming, copper prices have been cut and earnings reports are showing as many lower profits as higher ones.
