

Man Nabbed in Plot To Kill Khrushchev

Attempt To Take Makeshift Bomb Over Fence Foiled

New York—UPI—A 22-year-old man was captured early today trying to sneak into the sealed-off United Nations grounds with a makeshift bomb in a drunken plan to kill Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev.

"I was only after Khrushchev, nobody else but him," Richard Hogan told newsmen after his capture.

"He is insulting the United States—making us look like small people," he said. "I lost a lot of buddies in Korea."

Hogan was carrying a soda bottle filled with inflammable liquid—when he was caught trying to crawl over a fence bordering U.N. territory. No United Nations meetings were in session.

It was the first bomb incident known to be directly connected with Khrushchev since the Russian leader arrived here Sept. 19 for the U.N. General Assembly session. There have been a number of false bomb alerts, however, and a crude cardboard box bomb exploded Sunday in Times Square seriously injuring a 73-year-old man.

Had Toured Bars

Hogan, a laborer, was charged with carrying and possessing a deadly weapon with intent to use and carrying and possessing an explosive substance with intent to use against person or property.

Hogan told detectives he had finished work Tuesday at 4 p.m. and spent the rest of the afternoon and evening in a series of bars in Queens and Manhattan.

In one of the bars, he said, he saw a television program about Khrushchev's activities, and said to himself, "Somebody ought to put him away."

Hogan said he decided to see "if I could make it." "I'd consider myself a lucky guy to assassinate Khrushchev," he said. "I would have gotten rid of a big headache."

He denied making the bomb, a 12-ounce bottle filled with an inflammable liquid with an 11-inch piece of blue cloth set in place as a fuse. He said he had found it.

Spotted by Patrolman Police believed the liquid was gasoline.

Hogan was spotted approaching the U.N. grounds by patrolman William Fisher, a member of the extra-heavy security detail that has been posted around the glass-walled U.N. headquarters since the start of the General Assembly session.

As he was about to climb the fence, police said Fisher shouted at him and told him to raise his hands. The Molotov cocktail fell to the ground.

Police said Hogan has a record for drunkenness and that he told them he was placed in Bellevue hospital for drunkenness in 1958, 1959 and 1960.

Ike Asked To Declare National Prayer Day

New York—UPI—Evangelist Billy Graham today called on President Eisenhower to declare a national day of prayer on the eve of the Nov. 8 election "so the people may pray urgently that God's will be done" at the polls.

Stocks Continue Sag On Light Offerings

New York—UPI—Stock prices continued to sag under the weight of light offerings today as investors learned of falling business inventories and skidding corporate profits.

It was announced earlier that the general sluggish state of business is expected to cut the previously estimated federal budget surplus of $4.2 billion by 75 per cent for the current fiscal year.

Losses among the major groups in today's session were generally small, however, with some upside action concentrated in building materials, distillers and tobaccos.

Creative Ability Related To Humor

Chicago—(Science Service)—Your child's C.Q. (creativity quotient) is related to his sense of humor. Research by Prof. Jacob W. Getzels and Prof. Philip W. Jackson of the University of Chicago points to development of a "creativity quotient" similar to the I.Q. system of ratings now in use.

For their research on giftedness, they used a group of about 500 adolescents in the University of Chicago Laboratory School from the sixth grade to the end of the senior year in high school. They found that the emphasis on sense of humor is so marked that it is the one characteristic that sharply sets apart the high-creativity group from all other groups. Their research also disclosed that teachers prefer the high I.Q. child to the child with the high C.Q. The highly creative child studied was selected only if he was not in the top 20 per cent in I.Q. The high I.Q. child and the high C.Q. child were equally superior in school achievement to the student population as a whole.

Business Upturn Eyed To Save Budget Surplus

Washington—UPI—The administration is counting on a big upturn in business in the closing months of the year to save what is left of the 1961 budget surplus.

But economists in and out of government doubted today there would be as big a business spurt as was anticipated by a new budget report.

With revenues down and spending up, the $4.2 billion surplus proposed last January by President Eisenhower has melted to $1.1 billion, the Budget Bureau reported Tuesday night in its mid-year review.

The shrinkage dimmed the chances of a general tax cut next year.

Revenues from corporate profits taxes were off $2 billion as profits failed to match the $51 billion forecast. The Treasury said they are likely to hit $47 billion, equal to the record set in 1959.

Near Original Forecast
It also said that total output of goods and services this year would come within one per cent of the original forecast of $512 billion. That would be $507 billion or better.

Economists interviewed by UPI doubted that this level could be achieved. With business stalled at a $505 billion annual rate in the third-quarter of the year, they noted, it would take a jump of about $9 billion in the October-November-December rate to push the figure for the whole year up to $507 billion.

The new budget figures for the current fiscal year showed revenue of $81.5 billion and spending of $90.4 billion. Revenues were off $2.5 billion from the earlier estimate and expenditures were up $600 million.

Budget Director Maurice H. Stans blamed Congress for $2 billion of the shrinkage in the surplus. He cited its refusal to enact higher postal rates and certain excise tax increases, and passage over a presidential veto of a $745 million annual pay boost for civilian government employees.

Lodge Due in Oregon Tonight for Campaigning; Smith, Mrs. Neuberger Express Different Views

By United Press International
Henry Cabot Lodge, the Republican vice presidential candidate, flies into Oregon tonight in preparation for a day of campaigning Thursday.

Lodge will spend tonight in Corvallis, hold a news conference there Thursday morning and speak at Gill coliseum in the early afternoon before flying to Portland. He speaks in Portland in front of Nixon-Lodge headquarters at 3:15 p.m. and in the auditorium at 8 p.m. He will spend the night in Portland and leave the next morning.

The two rivals for the U.S. Senate, Republican Elmo Smith and Democrat Mrs. Maurice Neuberger, scheduled two more appearances on the same platform today, at an Aero club noon luncheon in Portland and at an afternoon meeting in Hillsboro before grade and junior high school teachers.

The two candidates differed on the Connally amendment and on the proposed Oregon Dunes National Seashore in an appearance at Lewis and Clark College Tuesday. The Connally amendment restricts participation of this country in operation of the world court. Mrs. Neuberger said she favors repeal of the reservation, which allows the U.S. to determine issues of "domestic" concern on which it will not accept the court's jurisdiction. Smith said he was not completely opposed to elimination of the reservation but said "we should go a little bit slow." He said American interests should not be made subject to the court "unless we can be sure the cards are not stacked against us."

Smith told a question and answer session that he believed if the amendment were repealed one of the first questions to come up may be whether or not this country was properly occupying the Guantanamo Navy base in Cuba.

Dunes Views Clash
On the dunes park proposal Smith said he opposed any program that would see the area "locked up for single-purpose use." Mrs. Neuberger, whose late husband proposed the park, said its creation would be a boom to the tourist trade.

In other developments: Rep. Al Ullman (D-Ore.) told a dinner meeting in Enterprise Tuesday night that the state's power and timber resources were threatened with monopolistic control by giant corporations. He charged "administration politics have directly encouraged this trend toward monopoly . . . State Sen. Edwin Durno (R-Medford), who opposes Rep. Charles O. Porter in November, issued a statement asking his supporters who write letters to newspapers to refrain from name calling and to stick to the issues of the campaign.

Sweetland Speaks
State Sen. Monroe Sweetland, Democratic nominee for secretary of state, called in a Tuesday night speech at Reed college for greater participation by school teachers in public affairs at all levels of government.

Robert Straub, state Democratic chairman, issued a note releasing criticism of Smith's legislative voting record. He said Smith in the State Senate "voted against reapportionment of the legislature according to population and thus denied equal representation for each citizen of Oregon."

Courier Satellite Transmits Messages; Declared Successful

Washington—UPI—America's new Courier communications satellite received and relayed high-speed messages from earth today, blazing the trail for three permanent radio-telephone stations in the sky.

The 21-inch, 500-pound sphere dramatically proved its value as the forerunner of a practically jam-proof communications system by transmitting a message from President Eisenhower in Washington to Secretary of State Christian A. Herter in New York City.

The satellite, dubbed Courier I-B, also beamed back a pre-recorded statement by Army Secretary Wilber M. Brucker. Brucker said the experiment would "contribute immeasurably" to modern military needs and the improvement of communications.

Courier, carrying five tape recorders, receives and records high-speed radio-teletype and voice messages from earth station and relays them to another post when triggered by a coded signal. The Army said its performance was "excellent."

The satellite, circling about 600 miles above the earth at 20,000 miles an hour, has the capacity to memorize and transmit in 10 minutes wordage equal to the 773,693-word standard version of the King James Bible or a 50-page newspaper supplement.

The sphere was blasted into orbit by a 79-foot Thor-Able-Star rocket from Cape Canaveral, Fla., Tuesday afternoon, the third anniversary of Russia's first Sputnik. It was the 28th U.S. success since the birth of the space age. An earlier Courier attempt failed Aug. 18 when the rocket blew up.

Carnation Cuts Price of Milk

Portland—UPI—A half cent wholesale and retail price increase put into effect by Carnation Co. July 5 has been eliminated by the firm.

Carnation at the same time reduced its price to farmers by 12 cents per hundredweight from $5.97 to $5.85.

A company spokesman said the increase last July was to cover wage hikes granted May 1 and other higher costs. He said, however, the move had not been successful "because significant segments of the industry have not raised the retail store prices, thereby putting Carnation customers at a serious competitive disadvantage."

Carnation has not reduced the home delivery price increase made in July. Last week, Safeway Stores announced an increase amounting to one half cent per quart on multiple quart purchases in the retail price of milk.

'Fireball' Exercise Planned in Valley

The Jackson county civil defense center and network will hold "exercise fireball" Monday, Oct. 10, at 8 p.m., according to Dwight J. Albright, control center chief for the Jackson county civil defense agency.

Albright explained that all outlying civil defense stations in the county will receive sealed messages to be used when the drill starts. The network operators will then have a chance to place a message in proper form and send it to the control center. He added that all messages will have something to do with fire prevention.

Participating in the exercise will be citizen's band which was recently started, Albright said. All messages will be broadcast in the VHF (very high frequency) band and members of radiological monitoring teams may visit their nearest CD station to listen, he concluded.
