Physically Handicapped Said Proven as Good Risks for Employment

Editor's note: This week's National Employment Week, as proclaimed by President Eisenhower, was the occasion for the publication of the following article in observance of the week. Since it is also Personnel Office and co-ordinator for the selective placement of the physically handicapped for the Veterans Administration Domiciliary, White City.

By JOHN W. SINDERS
 The physically handicapped have proven themselves to be as good and in most cases better than a non-handicapped when properly placed in a position. This is especially true if an individual evaluation is made on abilities and capabilities before placement on the job. You will notice that nothing was said about the handicap because generally speaking a handicap is secondary to abilities and capabilities. Should more attention be given to the individual's employable qualities and less to his disabilities, the employer and the handicapped would both benefit materially.

Charles Medick was born blind, but he's one of the nation's top table tennis players today. Calls the turns by the sound of the ball alone. Something to think about.

Head of Big Firm
 Dwight D. Guilfoill, Handicapped American of the Year, Air Force veteran, polo, tennis, father of seven children, is himself an employer of the head of an Illinois electronic firm which this year should do a cool million dollars worth of business. And here's the special kicker; not only Guilfoill but all but two of his more than 100 associates have severe physical handicaps. When Guilfoill came out of the hospital in a wheelchair, he came out with plenty of pride and resolve to make good in some self-rolled career, a career not to be interfered with by his physical handicap. He met others who shared his views, and the business he heads today is the result. Yes, Mr. Employer, every minute of every working day, those hundred paraplegics, workers with ear trouble, blind workers, deaf mutes, amputees, multiple sclerosis victims and some muscular dystrophy are proving that a physical handicap is not a job handicap.

The placement of the physically handicapped has shown itself to be profitable. There are blind professors in colleges, paraplegics who have been trained and serve as judges, and excellent typists perform the duties from wheel chairs because of polio or other crippling diseases.

Mr. Employer—as you fill vacancies occurring in your business, contact your nearest state employment office and see if a well qualified handicapped applicant can be recommended to fill the position.

Kohler Accepting Applications for Reinstatement

Kohler, Wis.—(AP)—The Kohler Co., hit by the nation's longest labor dispute in history, Tuesday processed applications of former workers for reinstatement to their jobs.

The workers, who left their jobs more than six years to go on strike against the plumbingware firm, were granted the opportunity to seek reinstatement in a decision handed down recently by the National Labor Relations Board.

A spokesman for the firm, found guilty of unfair labor practices by the NLRB, said "quite a number" of workers have returned to their jobs since the company began accepting reinstatement applications.

But the spokesman said it would be a week or 10 days before the firm knew how many bonafide workers applied to be returned to company payrolls.

The workers, members of the United Auto Workers, went on strike April 5, 1954.

Letters were sent to 1,400 workers by the company. But not included in the reinstatement offer were 89 employees whose discharge for misconduct during the strike was upheld by the NLRB.

Roosevelt Cancer Grants Announced For Research

New York—(AP)—The Eleanor Roosevelt Cancer Foundation has announced grants totaling $717,000 for a research and training program to find a preventive and cure for cancer.

Gen. Omar N. Bradley, foundation board chairman, said the program was formulated by the foundation's scientific advisory board based on a three-month study of the problems in research and training.

The four-point program includes:

- A $167,000 grant to establish an Eleanor Roosevelt Cancer Research facility at the Jefferson Medical Center in Philadelphia.
- A $150,000 grant each year for two years to the University of Utah medical school to build a cancer research facility in Mrs. Roosevelt's name.
- A $250,000 grant to be used in 1960-61 for the international fellowship program to be supervised by the International Union Against Cancer.
- Establishment of an Eleanor Roosevelt Institute for cancer research at the University of Colorado medical center and expansion of the cancer care program of the American Medical Center at Denver under the supervision of the University of Colorado medical school.

"The Eleanor Roosevelt Cancer Foundation will concentrate on establishment of research facilities, and the training of scientific personnel to take advantage of these facilities," Bradley said.

New SOC Faculty Members Listed

Ashland—Additional new faculty members at Southern Oregon college whose names did not appear in a previous release include:

Dean F. Fisher, assistant professor of mathematics, who was formerly a traveling science teacher, received his bachelor's degree from Brigham Young university and his master's from the University of Utah.

Dr. E. C. McGill gained his BS degree from Southwestern Missouri state, his MS from Oklahoma A&M, and his EdD from the New York university. He is the assistant to the president and in charge of academic affairs at the college. Also he is a professor of economics.

Wallace Seaton has been added to the faculty as an instructor of English. He received his bachelor's degree at Oberlin college and his MS degree from the University of Toronto.

Lumumba Rebuffed By Party Members

Leopoldville, The Congo—(AP)—Patrice Lumumba, the fast-talking beer salesman who became the first premier of the Congo, appeared Tuesday to have lost his magic hold over Parliament.

A wholesale defection by 20 of the 44 senators and deputies from Lumumba's own Eastern Province left the deposed Premier with far less than the slim majority that put him into power.

The rebels issued a three-page statement to newsmen Monday night denouncing Lumumba as a Communist and accusing him of trying to set up a dictatorship by terror.

Teachers To Meet At Southern Oregon

Ashland—Teachers of geography and the social sciences on the elementary and secondary level will convene on the Southern Oregon college campus Oct. 8 for the meeting of the Oregon chapter of the national geography council.

Dr. Roy W. McNeil, of the SOC geography department and vice president of the Oregon chapter, is in charge of the program, and said it will deal in part with the changes being made in the presentation of these subjects to pupils.

On the program will be Dr. Ben Simmons, the state department director of curriculum and publications, who will be present to convey the thinking of the state department on the scope and sequence of the social studies. Dr. Betty Lou Dunlop, of the SOC faculty and Dr. Joe Hart, of the Portland State staff will participate in a panel discussion.

SEE THE NEW VALUE-PACKED COMET 1961 THE BETTER COMPACT CAR

ONLY COMPACT CAR WITH FINE-CAR STYLING

PRICED WITH OR BELOW OTHER COMPACTS

FIRST FAMILY-SIZE COMPACT

The only compact with fine-car styling. A spirited sense of proportion gives Comet the most successful styling in the compact-car field. New rustproof aluminum grille, exquisite new interior fabrics, new fine-car appointments everywhere.

The first family-size compact. Comet's 114" wheelbase (longer than any other compact's) provides spacious comfort other compacts sacrifice. There's generous room in a Comet, even for six grownups. And there's trunk space for a family-size load of luggage besides... over 25 cubic feet.

Big-car ride—small-car handling. The refined suspension (plus the 114" wheelbase) makes Comet's ride sturdier and smoother than many standard cars. And you'll find that Comet turns, parks and handles almost as easily as a baby carriage.

Priced with or below the other compacts. For all its new fine-car flair, family-size comfort, big-car ride and extra-value features, Comet is priced with or below the other compacts.

Challenge Made to Clarify Position By Local Candidate

In a speech delivered to members of the Jackson County Republican Central committee Monday night at the Medford hotel, legislative candidate John R. Dellenback challenged the Democratic legislative incumbent to clarify his position on two issues which he asserted would raise taxes for the average taxpayer.

Halfield Supports Billboard Measure

Salem—Gov. Mark Hatfield has announced his formal support of billboard control measure 15 on the Nov. 8 ballot.

Rudie Wilhelm Jr., Portland, chairman of the statewide Highway Protection Committee which is advocating passage of the bill today released a letter from Hatfield, dated Sept. 28:

"I am very much interested in your efforts to institute more realistic billboard controls, as exemplified in the petition I signed some months ago.

"While I recognize the value of outdoor advertising and the role it plays in consumer economies, my belief is that the public interest will be best served if there are ground rules, as it were, which everyone understands. Only thus can our wonderful landscape be enjoyed to the utmost along Oregon's scenic highways.

"Sincerely,
 Mark O. Hatfield
 Governor"

The petition to which Hatfield referred was circulated early this year to place the billboard control measure on the fall ballot, and was signed by 41,000 Oregonians.

Echo Satellite Visible Over Oregon

Portland—(AP)—If the weather is clear many Oregonians should be able to see the Echo I balloon satellite Friday and Saturday, providing they get up early enough.

Moonwatch Team members said the satellite should pass over the area at 5:39 a.m. Friday, south of the city in the lower sky heading northeast. On Saturday it is scheduled to appear at 5:13 a.m. in the south lower sky, also moving northeast.
