Favorite Recipes Listed By Wives of Candidates

By GAY PAULEY UPI Women's Editor

New York — (UPI) — Now that the fat versus Jackie fuss over fashion is dead, maybe the two political parties can stir up another over who's a better cook.

Favorite recipes of the wives of the presidential candidates were revealed today at the 18th annual food editors' conference.

Mrs. Richard M. Nixon listed meat loaf, Mrs. John F. Kennedy gave a recipe for baked beans, Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson offered dilled okra, and Mrs. Henry Cabot Lodge, a rice curry.

The R. T. French company, Rochester, N.Y., one of the sponsors of the conference gathered the recipes. All sound tasty to this impartial cook.

Meat Loaf
Mrs. Nixon's meat loaf: 1 pound ground beef; 1 pound ground pork; 1 medium onion, minced; 1 small can Spanish-style tomato sauce; 1/2 teaspoon pepper; and 3 slices bacon.

Combine all ingredients, adding only enough of the tomato sauce so that the mixture can be shaped into a firm loaf. Place in baking dish. Put slices of bacon on top for flavor. Bake in a moderate oven, 350 degrees, about 1 and 1/2 hours.

Baked Beans
Mrs. Kennedy's baked beans: 4 cups beans; 1 small onion, chopped; 1/2 pound salt pork, diced; 3/4 cup brown sugar or molasses; 1/2 cup catsup; 1 teaspoon dry mustard; 2 teaspoons salt; 1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce; 1 cup boiling water, and 1/4 pound salt pork, in strips.

Cover peas beans with water. Bring slowly to a boil and soak overnight. Drain, cover with fresh water and simmer slowly; when the skins burst when blown upon, the beans are sufficiently cooked. Drain and add: onion, 1/4 pound salt pork, sugar, catsup, mustard, salt, Worcestershire sauce and boiling water. Place in greased casserole dish and decorate top with 1/4 pound salt pork, in strips. Bake, covered, in a very slow oven 6-8 hours; uncover for last hour of cooking. Add additional water or stock if the beans become dry.

Dilled Okra
Fresh okra; 1 teaspoon dill seed; 1 hot red pepper; 1 hot green pepper; 2 cloves garlic; 1 quart white vinegar; 1 cup water; 1/2 teaspoon pure or uniodized salt.

Women Hold Reunion At Chuck Wagon Cafe
A reunion of women who worked at the Camp White laundry during World War II was held recently at the Chuck Wagon. Attending were the Mesdames Eleanor Sawyer, Shady Cove; Hattie Chaffee, Gold Hill; Ruby Buggs, Ashland; Esther Huntley and Evelyn Jones.

The group hopes for a larger attendance at a second event in the near future. Others wishing to attend are asked to write Mrs. Sawyer, Mrs. Chaffee or Mrs. Riggs.

Place 1/2 teaspoon dill seed in bottom of each sterilized jar. Pack washed fresh okra as tightly as possible in each jar being careful not to bruise the okra. Add 1/2 teaspoon dill seed, peppers and garlic. Bring to boil vinegar, water and salt and cover okra with mixture. Seal jars and allow to stand two weeks. Serve icy cold.

Mrs. Johnson didn't specify the amount of okra, apparently assuming that the home-maker would judge for herself how much to pack in each jar. The French test kitchens said the amount of spices indicated Mrs. Johnson used one-quart containers.

Rice Curry
Mrs. Lodge's rice curry: 1/2 cup uncooked rice; 2 cups hot water; 1/4 cup fresh or canned tomatoes; 3/4 cups sliced green pepper; 1/4 cup sliced onion; 2 tablespoons melted butter; 1/4 teaspoon salt, and 3/4 teaspoon curry.

Pour hot water over rice. Keep hot, but do not cook, for 45 minutes. Combine ingredients in buttered baking dish. Bake in a moderate oven, 350 degrees, about 1 1/2 hours, stirring from time to time, until the rice is tender but not dry.

Newcomers Listed In Shady Cove Area
Shady Cove-Trail - Newcomers to Shady Cove are Mr. and Mrs. William Welshelmer and children, Jimmy, Dicky, Donnie and Sue, who are living on Indian Creek road. The Welshelmers bought the old John Laden ranch, and are building a home there.

Also newcomers to Shady Cove are Mr. and Mrs. Edward Anselmi and children, Charles and Roger, who have purchased the Wheeler house and acreage up Indian creek. The children are in the fourth and seventh grades at the Shady Cove school. Mr. Anselmi is employed by the Goodwill Machine shop in Medford. Mr. Anselmi's stepfather, Alfred Hogue, and Mrs. Hogue have bought the Harris-Heaton place off Longbranch road.

State Officers To Be Honored
Prospect - Prospect Lions auxiliary executive board met September 28, at the Weldon Downing home to discuss plans for an evening of entertainment Wednesday, October 12, honoring the Oregon Lions Auxiliary officers.

The Butte Falls and Shady Cove-Trail auxiliaries will be co-hostesses for a smorgasbord type dinner which will be served by the women of the Episcopal church guild. State officers planning on attending are Mrs. Frank Christian, Treasurer, president of the Oregon Lions auxiliary; Mrs. Edward Stevens, Phoenix, secretary; Mrs. Harvey Parrott, Jacksonville, treasurer; and Mrs. Ron Larson, Bandon, district director.

Guests in McLeod
McLeod - Guests at Harding's Paradise are Mrs. Clarence Farmer and Mrs. Benjamin Gomez, Death Valley, Calif.; Mrs. Emma Hunter, Alhambra, Calif.; and Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Weston, Long Beach, Calif.

East-west winners were Mrs. Howard Boyd and John Shortridge, first, 154; Mrs. Jack Barr and Ray Wise tied with Mrs. R. T. Jones and Mrs. Marvin Nelson for second and third, each pair scoring 147 points; Mr. and Mrs. Gordon, fourth, 144 1/2 points. Mrs. Patricia Gilhusen served refreshments.

Illinois Valley Units Plan ACWW Program

Illinois Valley—Mrs. Walter Colpitts of the Illinois Valley Home Extension unit attended a meeting of Associated Country Women of the World chairmen held at the Redwood Grange hall in Grants Pass.

The ACWW committee heads have chosen the independent islands of the West Indies as their study for this year. The islands are Cuba, Haiti and the Dominican Republic. Each chairman was given a research assignment.

Women of the HEU re-upholstery classes have volunteered to recover a chair for the recreation room of the Illinois Valley Fire hall. Classes in upholstery will begin October 12 at the O'Brien schoolhouse with work from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Those attending are to take sack lunches. Leaders will be Mrs. Colpitts and Mrs. Richard Rians, assisted by Mrs. Hazel Slonaker, Mrs. William Peery and Mrs. Lee Anderson, O'Brien.

Zuleima Temple Slates Luncheon

Zuleima temple, Daughters of the Nile, will honor presidents of Zuleima clubs at a stated session Saturday, October 8 at 1 p.m. at the Medford Masonic temple. Luncheon will be served at 12 o'clock by members of Zuleima patrol as a fund-raising project.

Auxiliary Activities Scheduled

A number of activities are planned for October by the auxiliary to Crater Lake post, Veterans of Foreign Wars.

The group will sponsor a birthday party October 12 at 8 p.m. at the Camp White domiciliary for members there with birthdays this month. Mrs. Ivan Lusk is chairman.

On October 26 and 27 indoctrination has been scheduled for representatives and alternates of the veterans administration volunteer services. They will meet at Camp White October 26 from 9:30 a.m. to 4 p.m., or October 27 from 7:30 to 10:30 p.m. for those who cannot meet during the day.

All VAVS representatives and their organization will sponsor the annual Halloween party at Camp White October 28. Booths, games and refreshments are planned.

The auxiliary also holds dances at the domiciliary the first and third Mondays, with music supplied by the Camp White orchestra or by local musicians. On the second and fourth Fridays visitations at the camp are made from 1:30 to 4 p.m.

All persons interested are invited to the dances, and also may participate in the visitations by calling Mrs. Russell Zundel, department VAVS chairman, Spring 2-2417.

Women of the auxiliary scheduled a variety show at the domiciliary for October 5. In addition to work with veterans, the auxiliary and post sponsor Girl Scout troops and also give help to needy veterans' families.

Woman Attends Portland Dinner

Central Point — Mrs. Julie Tummers was recently in Portland where she was a guest at the annual dinner given in honor of Oregon's governor by the Chiefs de Cuisine society. The event, held at the Sheraton-Portland hotel, honored Governor and Mrs. Mark Hatfield this year.

Ernest Maurer, Seattle, executive chef of the United Airlines, was recently a guest at Mon Desir, the dining inn which Mrs. Tummers operates.

Valley Couple Hosts For Dinner, Ride

Illinois Valley—Mr. and Mrs. Van Johnson were hosts at their home September 30 for a dinner and moonlight horseback ride. Guests were Mr. and Mrs. Don Fulk and children, Mr. and Mrs. Will Benjamin, Mr. and Mrs. Keith Nelson, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Bashaw and family, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Williams, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Nolan, Jack Sauer and Jo Woody.

Catalogs Beget Catalogs; Gift Ones Now Fill Mails

By DICK WEST United Press International Washington — (UPI) — Five or six years ago, in a moment of springtime madness, I borrowed a seed catalog from a trusting neighbor and ordered a rare form of hybrid kumquat.

It soon became apparent why this type of kumquat was so rare. It wouldn't grow. The catalog, however, was extremely fertile.

Before the summer was over, it had produced six other seed catalogs and that fall I harvested a bumper crop of gift catalogs.

I am at a loss to explain by what process one catalog begets another, but they seem to reproduce themselves in inverse ratio to the amount of orders they attract.

I have not ordered anything since I bought that sterile kumquat. Consequently I am now on the mailing list of every nursery and gift shoppe in the United States, plus a few in Canada and Mexico.

I assume that the nurseries and gift shoppes cross-pollinate their mailing lists. At any rate, every change of season brings the postman to my door with a new litter of catalogs.

Currently, it is the Christmas season. In December, it will be Easter.

A Little Early
I personally am unable to think in terms of Christmas shopping at this time but, as a public service, I will pass along some of the gift suggestions I gleaned from the catalogs for the benefit of any early birds in the audience.

Are you troubled over what to get for the man who has everything? Don't get him anything. He will appreciate it. Nothing is just what he needs. This, however, is my own suggestion and didn't come from the catalogs.

The catalogs offer you Christmas tree ornaments with your own name on them, an egocentric touch that blends nicely with the modern Yuletide spirit. Or you can get "bayberry mist" in a spray can and send out scented Christmas cards.

There is a Swiss chime that plays "Adeste Fideles" when the front door is opened and, Leftover pickle liquid makes a tasty dressing for vegetables. A blend of 2 tablespoons of sweet pickle liquid is enough for one 10-ounce package of frozen cooked broccoli. Or make mock asparagus vinaigrette. Chill one 10-ounce package of cooked frozen asparagus, drained, in 1/2 cup of dill pickle liquid for 1 hour.

Upside-down
New York — (UPI) — Upside-down apple cake can be made with a mix. Arrange 8 thin slices of apple in cake pan. Sprinkle with cinnamon topping from a package of coffee cake mix. Prepare batter according to package directions, and pour over apples. Bake according to directions. Turn onto a plate and cut into 8 servings.

when Christmas is over, you can replace it with one that plays "Happy Days are Here Again."

For your big-footed friends, you can order a two-ounce bottle of "shoe-eez" which is supposed to eliminate pinching. For 79 cents, husbands can get their wives a gold-tone, 24-inch "zipper upper" which enables them to zip up the backs of dresses without help from the milkman.

Something for the household? How about an appliance cord which is shorter than other appliance cords and guaranteed to be "just as long as it needs to be" to put an end to "cord clutter"?

The life-of-the-party should be delighted with a green bowtie shaped like a holly leaf, or a knee-length necktie "literally covered with funny insults" and "hilarious gags," such as "me Tarzan - You Jane."

And if you want to promote togetherness while spreading Christmas joy, one catalog has the ideal gift for couples: "His and Hers" denture dishes, for storing false teeth at night.

Council of Blind To Meet Sunday

The monthly business meeting of the Jackson Council of the Blind will be held Sunday, October 9, at 2 p.m. in the Guild Hall of St. Mark's church.

Plans for the annual Thanksgiving dinner will be made and other important business will be taken care of, the council announces.

Light refreshments and a social hour will follow the business meeting. Interested persons are invited to attend.

Shady Cove Couple To Attend Convention

Shady Cove-Trail-Dr. and Mrs. Harold Reith, Shady Cove, planned to leave October 6 for California where Dr. Reith will attend a meeting of the National American Dental association in Pasadena.

Before returning October 24, the Reiths will visit their three daughters and their families in Temple City, Visalia and Redlands, Calif.

Gail Wunderlich Wins Grange Prize

Shady Cove-Trail - Gail Wunderlich, Shady Cove, won first prize in the Jackson County Pomona Grange needlework contest, and the prize was presented at the Pomona meeting September 30. The article, a infant's afghan, will now be entered in the state contest.

Mrs. Wunderlich is owner and operator of the Cove Beauty salon.

Mrs. Harding Returns to Home

McLeod - Mrs. Caroline Harding has returned to her home on Big Butte creek after visiting relatives in Roseburg and attending the Douglas county fair in that city.

Press School

The annual school for club reporters given by the women's department of The Medford Mail Tribune will be held Wednesday, October 12, at 2 p.m. at the Red Cross building. All organizations submitting news to the department are asked to send the reporter or some other representative to the meeting.

Furniture Terminology Defined

By JOYCE SCHULER Chicago — (UPI) — The Fine Hardwoods Association defined for the shopper these words, used by the average furniture salesman:

Period, style and fashion—not interchangeable terms. Period refers to the historical era with which furniture is identified, such as Queen Anne, Louis XIV or Victorian. Style, on the other hand, generally applies to the warpless quality of a furniture design, while fashion is the word for furniture designs in current vogue.

Veneers—sometimes mistakenly thought to be used only on cheap furniture. Actually, the overwhelming majority of fine furniture is made from veneered hardwood plywood for greater strength, resistance to warping or buckling and for fluid, curved lines. It is correct to call a table with a veneered walnut top and solid legs "genuine walnut."

Grain and figure—grain indicates the size and arrangement of the living wood's pores and usually is characterized by the annual "ring" growth. For example, birch is fine-grained, walnut, medium-grained, oak, coarse-grained. Figure refers to characteristic markings of wood other than grain, such as crotches, buris, curls, moles, feathers and waves.

Finish—refers only to the stain and glaze used on a wood and should not be confused with veneer. Shoppers consequently should beware of furniture labeled fruitwood finish or walnut finish. If the furniture is true fruitwood, probably cherry, it should be properly identified. If it is labeled "fruitwood finish," it may be nothing but a photographic copy of fruitwood grain on a substitute material such as plastic.

Inlay, parquetry and marquetry—all are ancient art forms, using rare woods and figures for unusual decorative effects. Inlay generally is a trim, achieved by setting an exotic wood into a groove. Parquetry is the arrangement of wood pieces in geometric form, such as squares or herringbone strips, alternating grains or wood tones for contrast. Marquetry is the "illustrative" use of woods in larger art forms and may be achieved by veneering similar figures side by side or by "mirroring" two successive wood slices in a process

Don't Remove Glasses
New York — (UPI) — When you visit the beauty salon, do you slip your specs into your handbag and peer owlishly while the beautician styles your hair? If so, you're short-changing yourself, says the Helene Curtis Guild of Professional Beauticians. If you wear glasses all the time, they belong on your face while you're having your hair done. Otherwise, how can the beautician create a coiffure to complement them?

To make home safer, provide a light switch at the entrance to every room.

called book-matching. Marquetry most often is used for cabinet doors, table tops and other large surfaces.
