Supreme Court Refuses To Reconsider Ruling on Gulf State Oil Boundaries

Washington — (UPI) — The Supreme court refused today to reconsider its May 31 ruling that limited the offshore boundaries of Mississippi, Alabama and Louisiana to three statute miles.

The plea for reconsideration was rejected in a brief order without explanation.

The three Gulf coast states maintained the three-mile limitation was unfair. They noted that Florida and Texas won a boundary line extending three leagues—10½ statute miles—into the gulf.

By reaffirming its earlier tidelands decision, the Supreme court in effect awarded the federal government royalties on all petroleum pumped out of submerged lands more than three miles off the coasts of Mississippi, Louisiana and Alabama.

As a matter of course, the Supreme court also rejected California's motion that it be allowed to enter the case in support of the three Gulf coast states.

In other orders issued in its first business session of its new term, the court:

—Agreed to decide whether a Wilmington, Del., restaurant leasing property from a local government agency must serve Negroes. The suit was brought by William H. Burton, a Negro. He claimed he was refused service in a coffee shop at a public garage operated by the Wilmington Parking authority.

—Refused to review a $10,000 damage award to Gen. Harry H. Vaughn, former military aide to ex-President Harry S. Truman. A lower court awarded the judgment against Curtis Publishing Co., on Vaughn's complaint about the caption of a picture of him carried in the Saturday Evening Post.

—Affirmed the dismissal of charges that five trucking companies illegally loaned $200,000 to former Teamster President Dave Beck. The Justice department had brought the charges under the Taft-Hartley Labor act.

—Dismissed, with the consent of all parties, a suit by Scientist Linus Pauling to

Wall Street Chatter

New York — (UPI) — The 1960-61 business recession will be the "acid test" for the textile industry, states the Value Line Investment Survey.

It will provide a way to determine whether this industry has strengthened its fundamental position enough to substantially lessen the extent of profits erosion during a business downturn.

But, Value Line points out, the textile business has made important progress toward this goal in the last five years. The industry's capacity now is in much better alignment with overall demand because of the elimination of many marginal producers and a shift in the makeup of the population toward building up the young adult market.

While the business picture seems to have a way to go before it completes its "adjustment" the situation is not as bad as one might infer from much of the foreboding sentiment circulating, says Thomas & McKinnon. The next economic impetus may well hinge on the spending plans of the consumer and the government, it adds.

As the outlook for stock prices for the balance of 1960, it appears that the rather steep market correction which has taken place since January has largely discounted the adverse business news, according to Amott, Baker & Co. However, the wait-and-see policy of many individual and institutional investors, it points out, could prevent any significant rise in market prices until there is some more encouraging news, economic or otherwise.

Plan Tentatively OK'd for Certain School Districts

Salem — (UPI) — The Legislative Interim Committee on Education Saturday tentatively approved standards whereby certain school districts could be declared distressed areas and receive extra state funds.

To qualify, a district would have to be carrying a tax levy of 12 mills on true cash value for operating purposes.

Amount of the additional aid has not been determined.

The committee approved a minimum for each county of 25 per cent of the state foundation program to districts. This would guarantee each county about $65 per pupil per year, with variations in some areas.

Uniformly Applied
Under another proposal, the state would reimburse school districts of half their approved student transportation costs. This would be uniformly applied in all districts. The plan was given tentative approval.

The reimbursements now vary lightly, ranging as high as 80 per cent.

The committee also approved two segments of a new distribution formula for state aid to local school districts.

Form of Flat Grants
The committee approved a provision that at least one fourth of the basic program would be in the form of flat grants to counties. The basic program consists of state aid and the amount of required local taxes.

Also approved was a stipulation that under an equalized flat grant program, districts would get not less than two thirds of the difference between the grants and what they currently receive. The next year the figure would be not less than one third.

Khrushchev Welcomes Summit Meeting With Next President

United Nations, N.Y. — (UPI) — Premier Nikita Khrushchev, preparing to return Thursday to Russia, welcomed today a summit meeting with the winner of the American presidential election, "whoever he may be."

Khrushchev said furthermore he was "sure" that such a meeting with Vice President Richard M. Nixon or Sen. John F. Kennedy would take place.

The Soviet premier appeared for more than two hours Sunday night on the live television program "Open End" and did not refuse to answer any of the unrehearsed questions. His replies to interrogator David Susskind were largely repetitious and long-winded and his mood ranged from the jocular to the angry.

But he made these points:

—Called for an arms embargo under which "no state should sell any nation arms."

From the line of questioning he indicated he specifically meant an embargo of arms to African nations. "Why give them arms," he said. "Better to give them bread and machines."

—Gave his "categorical" pledge that the Soviet Union will never start a war. "So you can sleep in peace."

—Rejected heatedly President Eisenhower's challenge to a worldwide plebiscite on whether men prefer Communism or Western democracy.

—Said it was a "wild idea" that Berlin could lead to nuclear war but insisted Russia would sign a peace treaty with East Germany. He said West Berlin could continue to live under capitalism with its Western contacts.

—Insisted the RB47 bomber was shot down over Russian territory and refused the idea of an international arbitration body making an inquiry.

—Said he was going home Thursday.

Khrushchev was scheduled to make tonight what is expected to be his last major address to the United Nations General Assembly at this session.

He was expected to concentrate on disarmament, charges of "aggression" against the United States and a call for "immediate independence" for all colonial areas—an idea he again advanced Sunday night.

Khrushchev will fly back to Moscow on a Russian jet plane instead of returning on the liner Baltika.

Anti-Castro Guerrillas Said Operating in Cuba

Havana — (UPI) — Hundreds of anti-Castro guerrillas still are operating in Cuba despite government reports that 149 have been captured in month-long military operations in Las Villas and Oriente provinces, informed sources said today.

The Cuban army announced that 102 rebels and 32 "sympathizers" were rounded up in the Sierra de Escambray in Las Villas. It said a large quantity of U.S.-made weapons, including machine-guns and anti-aircraft and anti-tank guns, was confiscated.

American Captured
An American, identified only as Tony Salvard, was reported captured along with 14 others of an "invasion force" which landed in Oriente last week from the United States.

Premier Fidel Castro promised to report by television

Grange News

Upper Applegate
At the last meeting of the Upper Applegate Grange held Sept. 17, Dr. Elmo Stevenson, president of Southern Oregon college, spoke on the progress and projects of his college; and also spoke in favor of Measure 6 which will appear on the ballot in November.

Following this, the four candidates for the state legislature from Jackson county discussed the other 14 ballot measures. Mrs. Evelyn Nye and John R. Dellenback, the Republican candidates, and John Gregory and Robert Duncan, the Democratic candidates, had divided the various measures among them and brought to the assembled Grangers and friends a classification of these important measures.

Boyd Gibson introduced the president of Southern Oregon college and Mrs. Thomas Rutter spoke on the Candidates' fair to be held in Hedrick Junior High school on Oct. 20. The program was arranged by Grange Legislative Chairman Anna Scott.

The next meeting of the Grange will be Oct. 14 and to let the girls out 15 minutes earlier.

The result—no more rear-end collisions.

Employer Payroll Rate Stays Same

Salem — (UPI) — Oregon Employment Commissioner David Cameron said today that the 2.7 per cent payroll rate on employers this year will be the same for 1961.

The money goes for the state's Unemployment Compensation fund.

Cameron said there is a strong possibility that the same rate, which is considered high, may apply in 1962. "All indications point to it now, but our claim load this winter will be a big factor."

The unemployment benefits fund is currently $46 million, up $11 million from one year ago, but Cameron fears heavy claims this winter.

California and Washington also have employer rates of 2.7, he said. "It's a national trend right now. There is both high employment and unemployment in the nation," Cameron said.

Oxygen Used To Produce Chemicals

Tulsa, Okla. — (Science Service) — Oxygen instead of air is being used in a new commercial process that oxidizes hydrocarbons to produce a long series of important organic chemicals at a Celanese Chemical Company plant near Bishop, Texas.

James M. Robertson of that company reported the development of the process to the meeting of the American Institute of Chemical Engineers here.

Previous processes utilized air instead of the 95% pure oxygen to accomplish the oxidation of hydrocarbons.

The petrochemical industry oxidizes hydrocarbons such as propane and butane from natural gas to form a large number of aldehydes, ketones, alcohols and olefin oxides. The oxidation of hydrocarbons is one of the most important sources of these compounds which are so important to the chemical industry.

Policeman Finds Cause of Collisions

Kitchener, Ont. — A knowing police officer helped to reduce automobile accidents at a Kitchener plant parking lot.

Male workers driving their cars out of the parking lot had an unusually large number of rear-end collisions.

The plant called in Sgt. Wilfred Henrich. Henrich took one look and diagnosed the trouble. The men were not watching where they were driving but were watching the female employees leaving the building.

After much argument, Henrich persuaded plant officials

Three Persons Die In Oregon Traffic

The victims were Howard Mickenham, 35, Salem; James Edwin Riddle, 46, Portland; and Marion Speece, 53, Shelton, Wash.

Mickenham died Sunday from injuries suffered in a one-car accident 10 miles north of Salem Saturday. He received chest injuries when the car he was driving ran off U.S. Highway 99E, hit a culvert and overturned.

Riddle was killed Sunday when his car left U.S. Highway 22 six miles east of Salem and crashed into an embankment.

Speece died in a one-car accident Saturday morning when the car he was driving slid into a ditch and flipped over several times one mile north of Cottage Grove on U.S. Highway 99.

Most Prices Up On Stock Market

New York — (UPI) — Stocks continued to draw the bargain hunters early today with prices moving up in all but a few sections of the list.

The market crossed the finish line with its third consecutive gain Friday but brokers are wondering how long the improved tone can be maintained.

Simonds Saw stood out in the steels with a gain of nearly 3 points. Republic picked up a small fraction, while Youngstown, U. S. Steel and Bethlehem eased. Motors were mixed with American Motors and General Motors up a bit and Chrysler and Ford unchanged.

Vick rose nearly 2 points and Merck gave up more than 1 in a mostly mixed drug group. Procter and Gamble helped the industrial stock average with a gain of 2½ which was partially offset by a loss of more than 1 in General Electric.
