

Ford Shaky During 1st 2 Frames

By RUDY CERNAKOVIC
Pittsburgh—UPI—“What was that score?” This question was tossed by a perspiring Whitey Ford after his second shutout over the Pittsburgh Pirates in the World Series.

“It was 12-0—and are you kidding?” a writer replied.

“Kinda lost count out there,” said Ford pushing his cap back on his head.

“That shutout was a little tougher than the one I had Saturday at Yankee Stadium,” he said. “It took us longer to get the runs today.”

Ford, whose seven-hit shutout evened the series at 3-all, admitted he was shaky in the first two innings.

“They were hitting the ball on the ground. That’s the kind of pitches I must make—make ‘em hit on the ground. But in this infield the ball goes through like lightning.”

Some Doubts

Ford said he had some doubts about the third inning when his fingers were burning.

“I was afraid a blister was developing,” he said. “So I took one finger off the seam and that relieved the pressure a bit. Course it had some effect—my fast ball wasn’t as good as I wanted it and the curve came a bit tougher.”

Ford said he never knew definitely that he would pitch the six game Wednesday until 11 o’clock in the morning.

“Case just come up and said—‘Here’s the lineup.’ I saw my name. In my mind last night I kinda thought I would pitch, though.”

Whitey reflected a second when someone asked if this was the most satisfying victory in his baseball career.

“It will be if we win the Series Thursday,” he said.

Klu Thinks Pirates Err In Pitching

By MILTON RICHMAN
Pittsburgh—UPI—The Pittsburgh Pirates have been pitching Bobby Richardson all wrong.

Who says so?

Big Ted Kluzewski, who held the old World Series record of 10 runs batted in jointly with Yogi Berra until Wednesday when Richardson cracked the mark by boosting his RBI total to 12 for the current Series.

Don’t get the idea Klu’s comments stem from sour grapes. Ted isn’t built that way.

“More power to Richardson,” said the burly Chicago White Sox first baseman, who is doing post-game television commentary on the Series here. “Records are made to be broken and I think the little guy is making one helluva showing.”

“But I’m really surprised at the way the Pirates are pitching him. They’re keeping the ball up on him and in Chicago we never pitch him high.

High Fast Ball

“That homer he hit with the bases full on a high fast ball that was in on him. And both those triples he hit yesterday were on high fast balls.

“We keep the ball down on him and away. Instead of fast balls, we throw him breaking balls.”

Kluzewski pointed out that the surprising New York Yankee second baseman has been “the most natural hitter,” as far as swinging at the ball is concerned, in the entire Series.

“In a way that’s not so hard to understand,” Klu said. “The big names like Roger Maris, Mickey Mantle, Yogi Berra and Bill Skowron get all the publicity and try their hardest to live up to it.

“But a little guy like Richardson, who hit only one homer all season, doesn’t get much advance publicity and therefore is more likely to play his normal game.”

Richardson Attributes Series Record To Luck

Editor’s Note: Bobby Richardson of the New York Yankees broke a World Series record Wednesday by hitting a pair of triples that gave him a total of 12 runs batted in so far. He gives his impressions of the game in the following dispatch.)

By BOBBY RICHARDSON
Written for UPI

Pittsburgh—UPI—That record of mine merely means I was lucky enough to be in the right place at the right time.

And when I say lucky that’s exactly what I mean. I’d never even had a chance at the record if there didn’t happen to be men on base when I came up. It seems every time I go up to the plate there are two or three men on.

Both those triples I hit Wednesday came on high fast balls. This isn’t my first World Series, of course, but I can honestly say that I have never hit the ball so hard in any other Series—even during their regular season—that I can remember.

Maybe confidence has something to do with it. In such an important Series as this is always does a great deal for your morale when you start off well. You get a hit or two right off the bat and things start looking up.

That’s the way it has been for me almost since the start of this Series. I don’t intend to pop off about my hitting now or any other time, though. First of all, there is still another game to go and nobody of all I know that second is ever going to mistake me for Babe Ruth no matter how many runs I drive in.

Frankly, I’m glad to be in the lineup. Believe me, I did not count on breaking any records.

Crater Plays Yreka On Friday Evening

Central Point—Crater High school football team expects to have its hands full Friday night when it entertains Yreka, Calif., here. But, there was an optimistic note in the Comet camp.

Coach Leonard Warren reported that “the kids have looked a little better this week than they have for quite a while.”

The mentor said that the Comets spent most of Tuesday afternoon working its offense against the type of defense they anticipate from the Californians. Most clubs have found it hard going this season against the Miners. Yreka shoots linebackers on almost every play and use often what amounts to a nine man line. Teams have had a rugged time either going through or around the Miners.

The Crater mentor expressed hope that Comet passing will click and thereby loosen up the California defense some.

Yreka also boasts a good T offense which is similar in style to Crater’s. The Miners have a fine runner in Butch McCarthy, a capable passer in Dick Kinney and another pair of good backs in Jon Member and John Ellis.

The Californians were 7 to 0 winners over Eagle Point, which Crater beat 20 to 0 and 12 to 6 losers to Ashland which nipped the Comets 27 to 26.

Much blocking and tackling drill this week has contributed to the better showing of the Comets in their practices.

With Gary Wald coming down with the flu this week and missing Tuesday and Wednesday drill, Warren said he would have John Champ at a middle linebacker and Jeral Brown at an outside backing spot. Al Minnick, a tackle, is back with the Comets after being out all last week with a bad case of flu.

Gill Has 11 Lettermen

Corvallis—UPI—Eleven lettermen and some promising sophomores are expected to turn out Saturday when Coach Slat Gill starts his 33rd season as head basketball coach with opening of practice at Oregon State.

Last year’s starting lineup of Jay Carty, Steve Flynn, Karl Anderson, Jim Woodland and Bill Wold returns along with lettermen Bob Jacobson, Ernie Johnson, Stan Stafford, Bob Niles, Tim Campbell and Bruce Patterson.

Sophomores include Steve Pauly, Gary Ross, Dave Hayward, Rod Kinion and Grant Harter. Terry Baker is expected to turn out after the close of the football season. Norm Monroe, a transfer from Clark Junior College, also is expected to report.

EAGLES TRADE OWENS

Philadelphia—UPI—Don Owens, 6-foot, 4-inch, 255-pound tackle from Mississippi Southern, was traded to the Philadelphia Eagles to the St. Louis Cardinals Wednesday for a 1961 draft choice. Owens, 28, starred on defense for the Eagles in 1958 and 1959 but was used sparingly in their three games this season.

Expansion To Be Real Next Week

Pittsburgh—UPI—The first expansion in the 60-year history of the major leagues will become a reality next week when the National League names Houston and New York as its ninth and 10th clubs and the American league does the same by plucking Dallas-Fort Worth and Minneapolis-St. Paul.

Houston and New York made formal application to join the NL Tuesday and will be selected at the senior circuit’s meeting in Chicago Monday. The AL will meet either next Wednesday or Thursday and is expected to name Dallas-Fort Worth and Minneapolis-St. Paul as its ninth and 10th teams.

There was some speculation that one of the new berths in the AL would go to Toronto. The Canadian city has gone ahead and made formal application, but Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick, here for the World Series, indicated that the application would be turned down.

“It’s just a guess, of course,” Frick said, “but I would say Dallas-Fort Worth and Minneapolis-St. Paul stand a good chance of obtaining a franchise.”

Stanford, Calif.—UPI—Sophomore Ed Cummings may fill injured Skip Face’s fullback spot when the Stanford Indians meet San Jose State Saturday.

Stengel Resignation Question Hangs Heavy Over Forbes Park

By LEO PETERSEN
UPI Sports Editor

Pittsburgh—UPI—The question whether 70-year-old Casey Stengel, who led the New York Yankees to 10 American league pennants in the last 12 years, will resign hung almost as heavy over Forbes Field at starting time today as whether the Pittsburgh Pirates or the Yankees would win the decisive game of one of the most unusual World Series ever played.

And right down to what could be his final game, the master manipulator held off the announcement of his starting pitcher until the last minute, when he named Bob Turley, Manager Danny Murtaugh, on the other hand, made it definite that 20-game winner Vern Law, who has won two Series games with relief aid from clutch-reliever Elroy Face, would be on the firing line for the Pirates.

Casey didn’t say this would be his last day on the job after Wednesday’s 12-0 Series-squaring romp but there were tears in his eyes when he was presented with a petition from the New York baseball writers asking him not to resign “in the interests of the game.”

Murtaugh sent Law to the mound in an attempt to bring the Pirates their first world championship since 1925. The Pirates’ last National league pennant before this year was in 1927 when the Yankees swept four straight from them in the Series.

Injury Sidelines Howard

The fractured finger suffered by catcher Elton Howard in Wednesday’s fiasco determined that the Yankees again had Yogi Berra in left field and Johnny Blanchard behind the plate. Stengel also said that Cletis Boyer would be his third baseman.

Law, who mixes a good fast ball with sinker, change-up and slider, won the first and fourth games for the Pirates but needed help both times from Face.

Turley, who won the final game of the 1958 Series with the Braves, went 8-13 innings to receive credit for the Yankees’ 16-3 second game rout.

One of the most curious Series ever played was forced to a seventh and final game Wednesday in a record-filled utter rout. When it was all over, Bobby Richardson had set a Series record 12 runs batted in for one series and the Yankees’ six-game totals of 46 runs and 78 hits were also records.

Richardson topped a mark of 10 previously held by Berra and Ted Kluzewski while the Yankee team totals topped previous records of 43 runs by the 1936 Yankees and 74 hits by the New York Giants of 1912. For the six games, the Yankees had an astonishing .341 team batting average.

St. Mary’s Primes for Panthers

St. Mary’s High of Medford, facing its toughest foe yet this season in its District 5B title defense, has added new Wing T plays this week to its basic multiple offense.

The Crusaders are grooming their attack for a scuffling with the strong Chiloquin Panthers. This Friday night brush will be at 8 p.m. in Gem stadium at Klamath Falls.

Medford’s parochial school aggregation also is drilling on new defense aimed at stopping a power Panther single wing offense. Chiloquin has reported good speed with backs Benny Nygren, Mike Ochoa and Al DeBortoli and a fine pass receiver in 6-3 end Paul Harris. Line stalwarts include Frank Hediund, Frank Hoback, Harold Oldaker and Ed Case. Johnny Jackson is a standout defensive back.

Chiloqui last week end won 19 to 0 from Sacred Heart of Klamath Falls, a team which St. Mary’s downed 26 to 6. The Panthers did all their scoring against SH in the first half. To beat the Trojans, SM had to break a 6-all second half deadlock.

Should Be Ready

Said Chiloquin coach Gordon Kuist after the Sacred Heart tangle, “We played a bang-up game. I think we’ll be ready for St. Mary’s next week end.”

At St. Mary’s, Coach Bill McKibbin reported some injury troubles. Joe Kaiser, defensive linebacker, was hit on the head in the Tulelake game last Friday and has had recurring headaches this week. It’s doubtful whether he’ll go against the Panthers. Don Pruitt may get the call.

Alex Metz, halfback, has a stone bruise on his heel and Andre Knutson could see duty in his spot. End Dan Jacobson is still troubled by a bad ankle.

Possible SM starters on offense are Paul Elliott and Pete Naumes, ends; Pat Stinson and Marv McGee, tackles; Brian Von Buskirk and Jerry Vakoc, guards; Mike Stinson, center; Jim Calhoun, quarterback; Dick Evans and Alex Metz or Knutson, halfbacks; and Fred Lucas, fullback.

Red Raiders Encounter OTI Eleven

Ashland—“This is the one to win, and I think we can do it,” proclaimed Southern Oregon college coach Al Akins when quizzed on the chances of his Raiders whipping Oregon Tech in Klamath Falls this Saturday night.

Akins went on to say that he was pleased with the effort against Portland State but there were still some problems to be worked out.

“We realize Ore Tech has a better than average club after winning four games without a defeat, but I feel that we have come along fine enough so that with a good effort we could get them back on their heels,” Akins remarked.

SOC has one item in its favor. It will be near top shape for the first time this season. Only Ron Mullanix and Willie Garner, because of injuries, are doubtful starters.

Olsen, Francis Back

Doug Olsen has come back to take charge of the quarterbacking duties along with Gordy Carrigan who can now be turned back to his end position. Eldon Francis made a surprise appearance last week and appears to have recovered sufficiently.

If Garner is unable to play, it may be a big blow to the Raider plans. Garner, an OCC all-star, plays an offensive guard spot and linebacker on defense. Mullanix has been used mainly in the defensive unit.

Four game totals in the statistics show that Al Barnes holds the rushing lead with 262 yards and a 6.1 play average. Barnes played with a partially sprained ankle last week in picking up 70 yards against the PSC Vikings. John Buck has 114 yards, Gordon Carrigan 98, Doyle Branson 74 and Kern Bennett 68.

Howard (Hopalong) Hartman has taken the pass receiving lead with 12 snafes for 183 yards, a pair of touchdowns and a 15.3 yards per catch average. Carrigan has nine for 122, Branson five for 73 and Dave Hughes four for 41.

Even though Buck has not played quarterback for two games, his 221 yards is still tops in passing. Carrigan has 176 and Olsen has 118 in his lone appearance.

Barnes and Branson hold the scoring lead with 18 points each. Tony Brauner has increased his punting average to 34.4 yards per boot.

As a team, the Raiders have averaged 311.6 yards per game but the defense has allowed 357.2 yards per contest. SOC has averaged 169.8 yards rushing and 141 yards in the air.

SOC has a 48.3 per cent mark in passes completed with Carrigan the leader in hitting 12 of 20 attempts. Opponents have hit on 45.9 per cent.

Area Not Open To Antlerless Deer Hunting

One area of the Green Springs management unit is closed to antlerless deer hunting during Oct. 15-23 season for that unit and is so posted, Bob Maben, game commission biologist for southern Oregon, reminded nimrods today.

The game commission’s hunting rule synopsis states: “Green Springs antlerless deer permits are not valid in that part of the Green Springs unit bounded on the north by Ashland-Dead Indian road, on the east by the Moon Prairie road and on the south and west by state Highway 66.”

He said the reason for the closure is to give the game commission opportunity to determine effect of Howard Prairie delivery canal on the deer population and migration. Maben said, however, that the area is still open to buck hunting.

Eagle Point Juggles for IV Cougars

Eagle Point—Eagle Point High Coach Vern Steward has made a number of line-up changes and has had his football club working on defensive alignments and offensive polish in preparation for a Rogue league game with Illinois Valley.

The teams meet at 8 p.m. Friday at Eagle Point.

The Eagles (2-0) are tied with Phoenix for the loop lead. IV (0-2) shares the collar with Rogue River.

Over-confidence is a fear here on the part of the Eagles. IV, fell 25 to 0 Henley last Saturday. But there’s feeling the Cougars might have licked the over-confident Hornets with a few breaks.

Eagle Point this week will be without the services of regular tailback, Steve Geren. He is attending a Future Farmers conference in Kansas. Tom Percue has been shifted from quarter to fullback because of his speed and passing ability. Gary Ayres, 190-senior lineman and one of the fastest players on the squad, has drawn the quarterback assignment.

Center Support

Bill Skeeters, outstanding against Glendale last week, will be at fullback. At wingback will be Mike Palm who has averaged 6.8 yards per carry in the league and who intercepted two Glendale passes.

Coach Steward has been trying to find support for Bill Ayres, freshman, and John Linder, sophomore, at center. He’s been working senior tackles Marvin Cothrin and Don Pestka there. Ayres or Pestka will be the Friday starter at the pivot. Ends may be Charles Pomeroy and Ron Weidman and tackles Ray Petersen and Cothrin. Dick Wilson has been shifted from end to guard because he is one of the team’s best blockers. He and Roy Moore will be interior line starters.

Returning to action this week along with Gary Ayres is Dick Hertager, small in size but strong on defense. Steward noted the improvement of Dick Ayres, 225, junior tackle, and cited the defensive work of Gary Stele against Glendale.

Milwaukee—UPI—Catcher Stan Lopata has been given his unconditional release by the Milwaukee Braves it was announced today by General Manager Johnny McHale. Lopata, 35, a native of Delray Mich., started in the majors with the Phillies in 1948 and was with them except for one year in the minors until 1958 when he was traded to the Braves.

Hugh Campbell Heads Passers

New York—UPI—Hugh Campbell, a sophomore end from Washington State, is establishing himself as one of the most dangerous pass-receiving ends in college football since Alabama’s famed Don Hutson.

NCAA Service Bureau statistics released today show that Campbell leads the nation’s pass receivers in passes caught, yards gained and touchdowns, marking the first time one player ever has led in all three principal departments at the same time.

Campbell has caught 26 passes, gained 398 yards and tallied five touchdowns. He has caught three more passes than Bill Voss of Hardin-Stimons, gained 51 more yards than Hugh Richter of Wisconsin and scored one more touchdown than Larry Vargo of Detroit.

McKEEVER LL

Los Angeles—UPI—Star guard Mike McKeever will almost certainly miss Southern California’s game Saturday against California in the Coliseum because of a serious sinus infection which has caused loss of weight.

Portland—UPI—The weekly report on fishing and hunting conditions prepared by the State Game Commission:

Southwest: Recent rains have greatly improved hunting conditions in Douglas county and Coos and Curry counties should improve; waterfowl hunting will be good in Coos county and poor in the Rogue valley.

North Umpqua and reservoirs fair for trout; lower Rogue should be fair to good; cutthroat angling fair in lower Umpqua.

Central: Stormy weather has improved hunting conditions but some scattered ducks present on upper Deschutes system; Klamath area units have been only fair for deer but waterfowl outlook is good.

Lakes, reservoirs and tributaries in National forest boundaries in Cascade and Paulina mountains closed for angling, including Wickiup Reservoir.
