

Man Drowns in Logging Pond

Jack A. Jones, 45, of Star route, box 245, Prospect, drowned last night in the Red Blanket Lumber company's mill pond at Prospect.

Company officials said Jones was working on the pond when he apparently slipped and fell in. Fellow employees said he yelled for help, but went under and drowned before anybody could get to him. Apparently, he was not wearing a life-jacket at the time and could not swim, the Jackson county coroner's office said this morning.

The body was taken to Conger Morris Funeral home in Medford.

210 Pints of Blood Collected

A total of 210 pints of blood was collected Tuesday afternoon during the Red Cross Bloodmobile's visit in Medford. The quota was 200 pints.

Red Cross officials reported that of the 246 persons who offered to donate blood yesterday there were 36 rejects, which is unusually high.

Prior to regularly scheduled drawing, blood was donated for open heart surgery which was performed in Portland today on a Medford girl. The blood was flown north late yesterday on a United Air Lines flight.

Today the Bloodmobile will be in Ashland at the Britt center on Southern Oregon college campus. The quota there is 150 pints, it was reported. The Bloodmobile will be at the center from 1 until 6 o'clock this afternoon.

Longshoremen, Maritime Sign Automation Pact

San Francisco — (UPI) — An historic six-year agreement to cover the effects of automation was reached Tuesday night by the International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union and the Pacific Maritime Association.

In brief, it obligates the association to pay the ILWU $31.5 million over the next six years in return for the union's agreeing to the introduction of labor-saving machinery on the waterfront. Called "New Epoch"

The agreement, which still must be ratified by the 15,000 dockworkers involved, climaxed two and one-half weeks of intense negotiations and nearly three years of informal talks between the union and the association.

Both union and employer representatives called it a "new epoch" in waterfront labor relations.

There was no breakdown given as to how the money will be distributed. But there will be wage increases and additions to the union members' death, disability and pension funds.

The association will put $5 million a year for the next six years into a fund for the union. It has already put $1.5 million into this fund.

Earnings Guaranteed
The ILWU was guaranteed a 35-hour week, no layoffs and minimum weekly earnings. The union members also were given the option of an early retirement or lump sum benefits at regular retirement.

In return, the union agreed to give up obsolete work-rule

U. S. Raps Russia's Disarmament Plan

United Nations, N.Y. — (UPI) — The United States charged today that Russia's proposals are designed to "forestall rather than promote real disarmament."

U.S. Ambassador James J. Wadsworth told the U.N. Political committee Russia's disarmament plan, "aside from other deficiencies," was tied to measures to break down the administrative machinery of the United Nations.

Multnomah Voter Registration at Peak

Portland — (UPI) — The Multnomah County Registrar's Office reported here Tuesday that the county registration total for the Nov. 8 general election has reached an all-time high of 290,629.

The office said 164,138 of the persons registered were Democrats, 122,160 of them were Republicans and there were 4,341 miscellaneous registrations.

PRICES HOLD STEADY

Corvallis — (UPI) — Prices received by Oregon farmers held steady in September at a slightly higher level than a year ago, Oregon State College reported today. Higher livestock price made up for a drop in crop prices.

restrictions that have been the subject of controversy and job slowdown since the 1930s.

West Coast shipowners and stevedoring firms, who now pay $120 million in wages to long shoremen annually, expect to save a million hours a year as a result of the relaxation of work rules, according to an association spokesman.

Dellenback

interests are properly considered and protected in the balancing of interests among the various sections of the state.

Our relatively small representation is still further reduced in strength and Jackson county's interests are placed in greater jeopardy whenever any member of our delegation accepts an office on a state level which calls for his primary concern to be any other part or parts of the state except Jackson county.

Duncan

and legislative council. In his second term in 1959, Bob Duncan was signally honored by being unanimously elected Speaker of the House. In this position he served his county and state with distinction, earning the warm plaudits of members of both parties.

Economy, Efficiency
His record is one of economy and efficiency without fear of wise expenditures for the benefit of the people, recognition of individual and minority rights, and a continual awareness of the proper functions of government so as not to encroach upon those rights. His diligence and fairness at all times was unquestioned.

Much significant legislation was enacted during his term as Speaker including the migratory labor laws, rewriting of Oregon's juvenile code, and reforms in the unemployment compensation act.

Duncan is presently a member of five interim committees. In this and other ways he daily serves his constituents.

In addition to his invaluable experience in state government, Bob Duncan has garnered a wealth of varied experience over half a lifetime of hard work and accomplishment.

Education
His excellent education, gained largely through his own effort, includes a BA degree from Illinois Wesleyan university and law-degree from the University of Michigan. He has worked in the fields of agriculture, mining, banking, and insurance; and as a merchant seaman, sailed to Alaska, Hawaii and the Orient.

When war broke out, Duncan enlisted in the Naval Air Corps, being commissioned a lieutenant (jg) the June following Pearl Harbor. He served in the Navy three years in a top-secret program involving radio-controlled aircraft.

Upon graduation from the Michigan law school in February, 1948, Duncan moved with his family—wife, Marijane, daughter Nancy, and son, Angus—to Oregon. He passed the bar examination in July, and that fall moved to Medford, where he became associated with William McAllister, now an Oregon Supreme Court justice.

Respected
As an attorney, Duncan is well known and respected in this community. He has been active in many civic affairs—church, service clubs, youth work, UMC and other charitable organizations. His family has grown to seven with the addition of two boys, David and James, and another daughter, Laurie.

Robert Duncan, it is firmly believed by his many friends and supporters, is outstandingly well-qualified by his innate abilities, his proven leadership qualities, his wide and rich experience, and his demonstrated integrity and excellence of judgment, to once again serve the people of Jackson county in the Oregon legislature.

Salem — (UPI) — Public Utility Commissioner Jonel Hill has approved an employee stock purchase plan of Pacific Power & Light Co. under which employees may buy stock through payroll deductions.

Salem — (UPI) — Roy Russell Riggs, 74, who retired in 1955 after nearly two decades as captain of guards at the state prison, died Tuesday.

WHAT DOES THE BIBLE SAY?

When we come to the time of Abram we notice a definite break in God's program. He gave Abram definite instructions, and made a very important prophecy as recorded in Gen. 12:1-5. The first thing he asked Abram to do was leave his relatives and go to a land that God would show him. It seems that God had a definite purpose in this. His family was not living in a way that was pleasing to God, so He wanted Abram to live in a land that God would show Him, where it would be easier for him to serve God without the interference of unbelieving relatives. God promised him that he would make of him a great nation and through this nation all of the people of the earth would receive a blessing. He also promised him that he would bless him that bless thee, and him that curse thee will I curse: For the proof of this prophecy all we have to do is look back through the pages of history to find that many of the nations that troubled Israel are not in existence and some others have been brought low.

Why so many Volkswagens live to be 100,000.

The Volkswagen isn't the kind of a car you trade in after a year or two. It's designed and built for keeps. Continuity in making the same basic model year after year, has brought about a quality of assembly that a $5,000 car would be proud of. (A VW costs only $1782*)

A VW is so airtight, you'll want to open the window before you slam the door. Even after you've had it for several years.

If you own a '56 or '57 VW that you've taken good care of, you wouldn't trade it in for a look-alike '61. You'd keep it, and have the satisfaction of watching 99,999 on the odometer turn over to 00,000.

If you're not a VW owner, come in and let us start you on the road to 100,000!

Institute Gives Tips On Freezing Foods

Chicago — (UPI) — The American Institute of Baking has found by laboratory test that some baked goods should be frozen fast and defrosted quickly while others taste better after a slow melt.

All frozen bakery goods keep their flavor best if stored at zero degrees F., institute research showed. All goods tested, except sweet rolls containing raisins, were unwrapped.

Eureka, Calif. — (UPI) — Ellis J. Allison, 60, city manager at Yakima, Wash., died here Tuesday.

New York — (UPI) — Fresh vegetables and nuts make a tasty combination. Try adding sliced almonds to cooked and buttered string beans or cauliflower; stuff green peppers with a mixture of nuts, celery, tomatoes and seasonings; add chopped salted peanuts to creamed carrots.
