

Candidates' Parade

(Editor's note: These are the fourth in a series of statements by candidates for congress from the fourth district, state legislature candidates, and candidates for county officials. Statements are either from the candidate personally, or a representative of the candidate with the candidate's approval.)

(Space for the statements has been offered by the Mail Tribune following a long-standing policy of the paper. Today's statements are from Gerald Scannell Jr., Democratic candidate for Jackson county district attorney, and James L. Sheldon, treasurer of the Alan Holmes for District Attorney committee. Holmes is a Republican candidate.)

ALAN HOLMES
Alan Holmes is the Republican candidate for the office of district attorney for Jackson county, and is the only candidate experienced in all the duties connected with the functions of this office.

GERALD SCANNELL JR.
The program that Gerald J. Scannell Jr., Democratic candidate for the office of district attorney in Jackson county, advocates is the continued expansion and enlargement of the non-support collections, compelling payment by fathers for child support which in turn would lessen the heavy tax burden in welfare aid necessary at this time for such children.

Nixon Proposes Economic Program, Revision of Taxes

New York—(UPI)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon proposed a broad economic growth program today including creation of a top level national economic council and tax reform embracing short cuts in excise levels as well as personal and corporate incentives.

The Republican candidate called for "a tax system moving toward some revision in personal and corporate tax rates, reform in depreciation allowances at a rate well below those now in effect, and protection of state and municipal revenues."

Republican Candidates To Attend Dinner

An open question and answer session between candidates and voters will be held at the no-host buffet supper between 5:30 and 7 o'clock tonight at Kim's restaurant.

Radio-TV Highlights

The fourth debate between Sen. John Kennedy and Vice President Richard Nixon will be heard over stations KYJC (1230 kc) and KMED (1440 kc) Friday at 8 p.m. It will be carried by KBES-TV at 10 p.m.

America's Quest Topic Of Mrs. Neuberger's Talk

Ashland—Mrs. Maurine Neuberger, Democratic candidate for U.S. Senator, today told a Southern Oregon college audience that "America's greatest quest in the 1960s must be to provide world leadership toward a bright future, not the triggering of nuclear holocaust."

She said she was now going through an era of profound crisis, but is not a defeatist on the question of meeting our challenges. She declared "I believe the United States will inspire and lead the way by helping to banish poverty, disease, hunger and ignorance, and by helping to create new opportunities for personal freedom, dignity and individual achievement."

Yrs. Neuberger said underdeveloped areas of Asia, Africa and Latin America "test our good-will and capacity to help down-trodden peoples break out of the vicious circle of hunger, disease and ignorance."

"Economic assistance is needed by under-developed countries, but they can benefit even more if exposed to the ideals of democracy," Mrs. Neuberger declared. "Young Americans would be effective ambassadors without portfolio, while serving their country in a stimulating way and broadening their understanding of the problems facing other peoples and nations."

Labor Relations Trial Examiner Renders Decision

Union Must Appeal Within 20 Days

Portland—(UPI)—A National Labor Relations Board trial examiner has found the 11-month Stereotypers Union strike against the Oregon Journal and the Oregonian illegal, the newspapers reported today.

They said Martin S. Bennett handed down the decision in a 25-page report in San Francisco Wednesday. He ruled that all major issues on which the Stereotypers based their strike were either illegal or involved with illegal demands.

Findings Binding
His decision sustained all unfair labor practice charges brought against the union by the newspapers and by the NLRB itself. The findings will be binding on the union unless it appeals them to the NLRB in Washington within 20 days.

Rene Valentine, strike coordinator, said this would be done. He withheld further comment until he had completed study of Bennett's report.

Bennett ordered the Portland Stereotypers and Electrotypers Union, Local 48, and its international union to "cease and desist from demanding or striking" for demands that foremen be union members, acceptance of the union's management and substitution clauses, and acceptance of the union's constitution and laws.

The strike started Nov. 10, 1959, when about 60 Stereotypers walked out and members of 10 other unions followed them. Of 830 strikers, about 60 have returned to their jobs.

Had Joined Forces
The newspapers joined forces the first day of the strike and for five months published a joint paper in the Oregonian plant. They resumed separate publication last April 17.

Bennett also ordered the posting of a notice of compliance with his findings in the union's local and international offices and in the stereotype departments of both newspapers.

A major strike issue was the union's insistence that a new automatic plate-casting machine ordered, and since installed, by the Oregonian would require four men for its operation. The Oregonian claimed it required only a single man.

Insisted Laws Prevail
Bennett found that the international Stereotype Union would not permit the Portland local to determine the number of men to handle the machine, but insisted that its general laws requiring four men prevail. He also found that the international would not permit the local union to take the dispute to arbitration as suggested by the publishers.

As to the union's demand that foremen be members of the union, Bennett said: "Basically this reduces itself to persistent efforts and strike action by the respondents union to tie the foreman's loyalty and obligation to themselves rather than to his employer."

Hearing Scheduled On Interchange

A public hearing will be held Friday, Oct. 21, at 9:30 a.m. at the county courthouse auditorium regarding the interchange of the Pacific freeway and Crater Lake highway.

The hearing, called by the public utility commissioner, concerning the state highway commission's request to construct two overcrossing structures and one grade crossing in the area north of Medford.

Also to be considered at the hearing will be the petition by Medford Corporation to construct a private road crossing over the existing Pacific highway.

Residents will have an opportunity to voice their opinions regarding the interchange at the hearing.

U.S. Insignia Said Painted on Cuban Airplanes

Act Seen Plot To Fake 'Incident'

Havana—(UPI)—An informed diplomatic source said today that five Cuban air force fighter planes were painted with U.S. Air Force insignia over the week end at the suburban military airport of San Antonio de los Baños.

The source said it was presumed that Cuba intended to use the aircraft in a faked "incident" to strengthen the Fidel Castro government charge before the United Nations that the U.S. is preparing an "imminent armed invasion" of Cuba.

The diplomatic source identified the Cuban planes painted over at the army airport as single-engine British-made Sea Fury aircraft.

The planes were brought from British war surplus stocks several years ago by the regime of ousted Dictator Fulgencio Batista.

Five British technicians hired by the Cuban government to service the Sea Fury fighters at the army base were discharged last week, the source said. Their discharge presumably was to pave the way for an alteration of the Cuban air force markings on the craft.

Business sources said meanwhile that the first effect of the new U.S. embargo on exports to Cuba would be felt in the spare parts field. They said continuing shortages in the transport, sugar and oil industries.

Bids Opened for Lake Highway Job

F. L. Somers, Medford, was apparent low bidder at $882,393 for 11.8 miles of grading on the new Lake of the Woods highway in Jackson and Klamath counties. Bids were opened late yesterday in Portland by the bureau of public roads.

M. J. Brassfield company and B and F Construction company, Salem, submitted the second low bid of $884,380, and Commercial Iron Works, Portland, was third with $908,458.

The bureau said a contract would be awarded soon. There were 16 bids in all. The engineer's estimate for the work was $922,111.

The project is a continuation of recent state high department and bureau of public roads efforts to improve the Lake of the Woods highway.

The highway is part of the "Winnemucca to the Sea" route, which is being improved from Winnemucca, Nev., to Crescent City, Calif. Work is well along in Lake county, and has started on a Highway 199 tunnel in California under Oregon Mountain.

Addition to Airport Lighting Announced

The Federal Aviation Agency in Washington, D.C., announced a $2,000 addition to the present lighting system at the Medford airport.

The project, part of its air navigation facilities, will be added to its program for fiscal 1961, it was announced.

The project includes a $36,000 row of lights which will flash in sequence towards the runway on the existing high intensity approach lighting system and the installation of $28,000 worth of additional threshold lights. The threshold lights, located at the ends of the runways, will more clearly outline them.

Is Ambassador

Washington—(UPI)—The United States today recalled its ambassador, Phillip W. Bonsal, from Cuba for "an extended period of consultation."

A State Department spokesman said in announcing the move "no date has been fixed for his return to Cuba."

There were indications he might stay here until January, at which time the next administration might appoint a new ambassador to Cuba.

Officials said the move does not amount to a break in relations and the United States does intend to return an ambassador to Havana at some time.

The move followed by one day a ban on U.S. exports to Cuba except medical supplies and non-subsidized food. Officials said the timing of these two actions was "a coincidence."

The U.S. Embassy in Havana will be run temporarily by Charge d'Affaires Daniel M. Braddock.

Cuba has had no ambassador in Washington since the first of this year. Its embassy here is headed by a Charge d'Affaires.

Tentative Date Set For TV Debate for Porter, Dr. Durno

A tentative date of Oct. 27 has been set for a television debate between Congressman Charles O. Porter, who is seeking reelection, and Dr. Edwin R. Durno, Medford, Republican candidate for the fourth district congressional seat, according to Manville Heisel, Medford campaign manager for Dr. Durno.

The tentative television appearance has resulted from challenges from both candidates to a half-hour debate on issues of the campaign.

Al Flegal, chairman of the Reelect Porter to Congress committee, said in a letter to Durno's headquarters here that "the public has reacted favorably in this campaign to the idea of candidates appearing on joint television debates giving the public the opportunity to compare the candidates side by side."

He challenged, on behalf of Porter, Dr. Durno to a television debate. Dr. Durno's headquarters here, however, said it had not received such a letter, Heisel said.

The two debated last night in Grants Pass at a League of Women Voters Candidates Fair, and are scheduled to debate tonight at Hedrick Junior High school in Medford.

Heisel said Dr. Durno "has never refused to debate with him (Porter), and will look forward to every opportunity to do so."

The debate would be telecast from Eugene and would be seen in the Eugene, Roseburg and Coos Bay areas, Heisel said. He added that he hopes the film would be available for viewing in the Medford area.

Immunologists Win Nobel Prize

Stockholm—(UPI)—Two scientists from England and Australia won the 1960 Nobel Prize for Medicine and Physiology today for their work in breaking an "immunity barrier" so human organs may be transplanted from one person to another.

The scientists were Prof. Peter Brian Medawar of London and Sir Frank MacFarlane Burnet of Melbourne. They will share prize money of $43,625.

Both men are specialists in immunology. They were honored for their discovery of immunological patterns in the human body and the method by which these patterns may be overcome to permit transplant operations.

Cold War Timetables

Washington—(UPI)—Mrs. Henry R. Kaiser, 40, Corvallis, died Wednesday night from injuries suffered in a two-car collision here Monday.

Candidates Fair at Hedrick Tonight

Candidates for national, state and county offices will attend the Medford League of Women Voters Candidates Fair at Hedrick Junior High school at 8 o'clock tonight.

Many of the candidates attended a similar fair last night sponsored by the Grants Pass League of Women Voters.

Congressman Charles O. Porter and Dr. Edwin R. Durno will highlight the fair with a discussion of "The role of a congressman in foreign affairs." Porter is seeking reelection, and Dr. Durno is seeking the congressional seat.

Among other candidates who plan to attend are Elmo Smith, Republican candidate for the U.S. senate, and Mrs. Maurine Neuberger, Democratic candidate seeking the senate seat.

Candidates for state legislature and county offices also plan to attend.

Following the program in the Hedrick gymnasium, coffee will be served in the cafeteria, where those attending will also have an opportunity to meet each candidate personally.

Carstensen Nominated To Group's Board

Bob Carstensen, county engineer, has been nominated to the board of directors of the county and local roads division of the American Road Builders' association.

The association, which promotes better roads and road systems, holds its national convention in the spring. Results of voting will be announced at that time.

Portland—(UPI)—Mrs. Henry R. Kaiser, 40, Corvallis, died Wednesday night from injuries suffered in a two-car collision here Monday.

DRIVE-UP SERVICE—For the convenience of travelers on West Main st. a third "drive-up" courtesy mail box was installed this week by the Medford post office on the south side of the street near Ivy st. A no-parking strip has been painted at the new box to give motorists the opportunity to conveniently use the box. Postoffice officials said that the new box will eliminate some of the congestion at Holly and Sixth sts.

City Opens Bids For Three Water Main Projects

Medford's water department opened bids on three water main projects this week, two of them necessitated by the proposed Pacific freeway. The apparent low bids totaled $59,586.

W. H. Conrad company was the apparent low bidder at $32,160, on a project to relocate an 18-inch water main near the site of the proposed Biddle rd. interchange with the new freeway.

Other bidders on the project were M. C. Lininger and Sons company at $33,004 and Salem Sand and Gravel company at $39,585. The engineers estimate was $34,986.

M. C. Lininger and Sons was the apparent low bidder at $12,121 to relocate a six-inch water main near the site of the proposed Crater Lake highway interchange with the freeway.

Other bidders were W. H. Conrad company at $13,047 and Salem Sand and Gravel at $14,669. These bids compared to the engineers estimate of $14,366.

The third project is not necessitated by the freeway and involves installation of a 6-inch water main on McAndrews rd., and several other nearby streets.

M. C. Lininger and Sons was again the apparent low bidder on this project with a bid of $15,305. Other bidders were W. H. Conrad at $17,066 and Salem Sand and Gravel at $18,064. The engineers estimate was $15,203.

Two bids on relocation projects will be awarded by the water commission and the bid on the McAndrews rd. water main will be awarded by the city council when it meets tonight in regular session.

Treasurer Receives Checks from State

The county treasurer's office received four checks today from the secretary of state's office for quarterly payments of county moneys.

Rogue Hospital Grant Approved For Construction

Burns—(UPI)—The State Board of Health Wednesday approved $1,530,930 in federal Hill-Burton Act assistance grants for 11 Oregon hospitals and related construction projects.

Largest grant approved at the meeting here was $556,850 to aid in construction of a three-story $1,682,550 wing at Medford's Rogue Valley Memorial hospital.

Other projects include: McKenzie-Willamette Memorial hospital, Springfield, $44,177; Good Samaritan hospital, Portland, $40,000; Mercy hospital, Roseburg, $124,500; Clackamas County Public Health Center, Oregon City, $71,950; Mercy Hospital Nursing Home, Roseburg, $120,350; Good Shepherd Hospital Nursing Home, Hermiston, $128,375; Emanuel hospital, Portland, rehabilitation facility, $141,083; and chronic disease unit, $282,168; Good Samaritan hospital, Corvallis, $14,842; and Tuality Community hospital, Hillsboro, $16,666.

Up To Third of Cost
Completed cost of the proposed projects was estimated to be $4,175,441. The federal grants provide up to one-third of the cost of the hospital projects and up to one-half for other types of health facilities.

The approved grants were recommended earlier by a state advisory council, and now must be cleared by the U.S. Surgeon General, who never has reversed an Oregon Board of Health approval.

Dynamite, Caps Are Found in County

Two cases of dynamite and two electric blasting caps have been found.

According to Jackson county sheriff's deputies, two cases of dynamite were located Wednesday in an old shed at the end of Wards creek northeast of Rogue River. They were discovered by a U.S. alcohol and tobacco tax officer.

Sheriff's deputies are investigating to see if the dynamite is part of that reported stolen from several locations earlier this month.

Also found by county road department crews were two electric blasting caps. According to Bob Carstensen, county engineer, one of the caps was located in a culvert on the Upper Applegate rd. and the other was found near the Applegate Grange. One of the caps was reported still intact and was detonated by the county crews.

Vote of Confidence Requested in France

Paris—(UPI)—Premier Michel Debre called for a vote of confidence in the National Assembly early today to end a furious debate on President Charles de Gaulle's plan for an independent nuclear striking force for France.

Appling Lauds Welfare Program in Talk Here

Secretary of State Howell Appling Jr., today applauded the welfare recovery program, under which the state has recovered more than $560,000 in the last three years, as an example of the type of laws he favors "for the protection of the taxpayer's hard-earned money."

Appling, speaking at a breakfast meeting here as a candidate for reelection, charged that his Democratic opponent, Monroe Sweetland, "has clearly demonstrated by the fact that he twice fought against this law that he is even opposed to protecting the people's money from cheats and chiselers."

Appling said that the welfare recovery law, which enables the state to recover welfare tax money from runaway fathers who have abandoned their children and from others who have defrauded the state, "has made an important contribution to the present fiscal soundness of the state government."

"This is one of the reasons," he said, "why we now have a surplus of $35 million instead of the deficit our political opponents predicted. This is one of the reasons why we now have been able to recommend an increase in basic school support and a corresponding reduction in local property taxes instead of the need for a 9 per cent tax increase which my opponent tried to inflict on the people."

Appling said that between April, 1957, and June, 1958, the state regained more than $55,000 under the program. Later, he said, collections were stepped up and $311,417 was recovered over a 27 month period. Recoveries are now averaging about $27,000 a month, he said.
