EAR NOISES

Dr. Joseph Sataloff of Philadelphia, who has done research on ear noises, writes me that they are most commonly associated with otosclerosis or hardening of the bone about the ear. They come also with Meniere's disease, which is a disease of the lining of the inner ear, and certain types of degeneration of the eighth nerve, which is the nerve of hearing. This degeneration comes sometimes with advancing years. In many cases, in which there is trouble with the little bone called the stapes, an operation on this will give relief. Good results with such an operation were reported recently by Finnish ear men who said they were able not only to improve hearing but also to cut down on the noises. Ear noises with Meniere's disease are very hard to relieve. They may subside after months or years.

I keep getting dozens of letters from people who wonder if hypnosis might suddenly and miraculously enable them to stop eating too much, or worrying too much, or smoking too much, or being afraid to go up in an elevator. Some hope that it would cure a tendency to mental trouble. As I must keep saying, hypnosis is largely a method for giving suggestion, and often this suggestion helps only for a while. I have talked to a number of psychiatrists who sometimes use this technic, and most of them tell me they use it in only certain cases, and then only as part of a long course of treatment. Some tell me that it may take a while for a person to learn to go easily into the hypnotic state, and then to cooperate with the psychiatrist.

Many persons who want to try hypnosis tell me of the difficulties they have encountered in trying to find in their city a fine, ethical, trustworthy, and well-trained man to do the hypnotizing. I doubt if many people will be cured, as they expect to be, by one attempt at hypnosis.

Transient Found With New Machine

Medford police arrested Francis Earl Matheny, 68, transient, on a charge of grand larceny Wednesday, after Matheny was found to have a stolen adding machine in his possession.

The adding machine valued at $140 was stolen from the Jewett Office Supply company, 31 North Bartlett st.

Matheny admitted in a signed statement that he took the machine. He told police he reached through the open front door of the store and took the machine from the counter. He intended to sell it, he said.

Matheny was first arrested by police on a drunk in public charge when he was found, allegedly intoxicated, under a loading dock near the railroad tracks.

He entered a plea of guilty to the drunk charge in municipal court yesterday, was sentenced to 20 days in jail and then bound over to the county to face the larceny charge.
