

Conference for Volunteer Help At White City Set

A conference and workshop for volunteer workers will be held at the White City Veterans Administration domiciliary Oct. 26 and 27.

Anyone interested in doing volunteer work at the domiciliary is invited to attend the conference.

Instruction in game leadership for older people will be included in the program. Manual arts therapy in mechanized, handcraft and light mechanics will be covered also.

Teach Leadership
Jessalee Mallalieu, of the cooperative extension service of Oregon State college, will instruct in game leadership.

Louis A. Reale, chief of domiciliary manual arts therapy, will instruct manual arts classes.

The conference will convene Oct. 26 at 1 p.m. Sessions Oct. 27 will start at 9 a.m.

Henry Herzog, domiciliary manager, will give a welcoming speech at the start of the conference Oct. 26.

Mrs. Bottel Talks At Lions Club

Helen Bottel of O'Brien, Ore., whose humorous column, "Helen Help Us" is read by millions of people throughout the U.S. and Canada, spoke of her experiences as a columnist at last week's Crater Lions club Ladies Night gathering at Kim's restaurant.

Mrs. Bottel said that her "country life" in O'Brien has changed little since she became a columnist, except that her mail has increased considerably.

She said it is easy to be "as was" in her small town because "half the people don't know I'm syndicated and the other half don't hold it against me."

Her column was first introduced in the Grants Pass Daily Courier and was later syndicated by King Features after only four publications. She is also a past small town editor and correspondent for several Oregon newspapers, including the Mail Tribune.

Mrs. Bottel was accompanied to the meeting by her husband, Robert Bottel, who has charge of the Redwood Highway California Agricultural Inspection station near O'Brien.
