

Lecture Planned By UN Chapter On Foreign Policy

Due to the wide interest shown at the recent candidates fair in the candidates for the coming election, the Medford Chapter of the Oregon United Nations association has scheduled a series of lectures designed to deepen the voters knowledge in this area.

The first lecture will feature Dr. Donald S. Willis, from the University of Oregon, at the Red Cross auditorium, Nov. 6, at 4 p.m. An informal coffee hour will follow the lecture.

Dr. Willis, an associate professor of Chinese and Japanese literature and head of the East Asian studies program at the university, has spent many years in the Asian area conducting research programs for the university.

Dr. Willis will discuss foreign policy in Asia and Africa, using material from his studies to spell out the existing problems and the courses they may be expected to take in the future.

The public is invited to these non-partisan lectures. A schedule of future lectures will be announced soon.

GOLF AREA CLEARED OF ROCKS—Part of a group of 65 men who participated in a rock detail at Rogue Valley Country club last week is pictured above.

The bucket-bearing brigade was helping to prepare the way for seeding of fairways for the nine-hole addition to the golf links, east and south of the present 18-hole course. The men covered some 20 acres picking up rocks "egg-size" and larger. "Those fellows really worked," according to T. F. (Red) Maulding, RVCC greens supervisor, in charge of the project.

Another detail, senior and junior high school boys, worked yesterday. Maulding hoped to have seeding complete yesterday. Work preparatory for the seeding had been underway for about a year. Red fescue and Kentucky blue grass is to be grown on the fairways. Bent grass and Merion blue grass are to be seeded on the greens and tees, respectively, on which work is yet to be completed.

State Police Report Three Area Accidents

Three automobile accidents occurred Friday night, but no serious injuries were reported, state police said.

One occurred about 8:05 p.m. when a car driven by Robert Evan Bromley, 3602 Old Stage rd., Medford, went out of control on a curve on Hanley rd, broke a power pole, knocked down some fence and went into a ditch.

No injuries were reported to the driver, state police said. The driver told police he met another vehicle with bright lights causing momentary blindness.

Teenagers ran their car out of gas and were pushing it when another car struck it on the South Pacific highway in front of Tucker's Sno-Cat tractor company, state police said.

Thomas Shuler, 18, of 1032 Woodrow lane, Medford, said his car ran out of gas, and passengers Leon Knapp, 1375 Stewart ave., and Mike Parsons, 809 East Ninth st., both 18, were pushing. A car driven by Melvin Shiltz, Talent, hit the Shuler car in the rear, according to police.

Shiltz received a cut on his mouth, officers said.

A car reported stolen from Nelson Motors, 1062 Court st., Medford, was involved in a one-car accident Friday night, state police said.

Gregory Brian Wolfe, 55 Quince st., Medford, who told police he was a passenger, said the car was traveling on Crater Lake highway and pulled out to pass another when the driver lost control and the car rolled over near Four Corners. The car was registered to Gail E. Jensen.

The Family Council

Editor's Note: The Family Council consists of a judge, a psychiatrist, three clergymen, three editors and a women's editor. Each article is a summary of an actual case history. The Council reports on problems that have been dealt with by responsible agencies and counselors.

Mrs. C. A. - She takes no interest in her sister. Bernice H. - My mother seems ashamed of me.

Mrs. C. A. - I have two daughters, both happily married with young children, both living out-of-town though not near each other.

The trouble is that Bernice, the younger, practically holds her hands to her ears every time I talk about her sister, Diane, on the other hand, has a real family feeling. When I write to her or telephone, she wants to know every little thing about Bernice. "What else is new?" Bernice will say, if I so much as mention Diane.

Last month Diane won an important prize in sculpture. When I offered to send Bernice the newspaper clippings about it, she said, "Don't bother." I am heartbroken over this sick relationship. Aside from her envy of Diane, Bernice is a sweet and bright young woman.

Bernice H. - My mother thinks getting your name in the paper is the greatest. She 600 South Grape st., Medford, police said. Wolfe was taken to Sacred Heart hospital, treated for a head injury and released.

While it seems late for this mother to get to work on Bernice's starved ego, it's better late than to assault it further.

Unthinkingly, Mrs. A. floated along on the clouds of adulation for her first-born. She assumed that mousy, unsure Bernice was up there with her, enjoying the ride as part of Diane's entourage.

Nothing was further from the truth. To Bernice, every commendation for Diane became a reproach for her. "Why aren't you like her, why can't we be as proud of you as we are of her?" rang in her ears, even though no one mouthed the words.

Instead of basking in the glory of being Diane's sister, Bernice writhed in the shame she felt at not being able to "measure up."

An interesting sidelight in these situations is that Bernice and Diane may very well be in direct touch with each other, exchanging news about their babies, birthday presents, recipes and chitchat. But Bernice won't tell her mother to concentrate upon her, and her alone, when they communicate.

By focusing upon, even exaggerating, her role as mother of Bernice and grandmother of Bernice's children, and underplaying the Diane bit for the next few months, two things may happen. First, Mrs. A. will discover unsuspected virtues, abilities, assets and natural endowments in her second child. Also, Bernice's battlements will begin to melt as her icy defensiveness vanishes. Reassured, certain that she too is appreciated and loved, she may be able to reach out and commend her sister.

Phil Dunkel and Bob Gilkey, both of San Diego, Calif., were guests at our last meeting. Gilkey is the son of Master and Mrs. H. A. Gilkey. Dunkel was projectionist for films taken in Europe. The films were taken by an Air Force friend of his stationed overseas.

Gilkey reported on a letter received from one of our young members, Ronald Olson. Ronald was recently inducted into the service and is stationed at Ft. Ord, Calif.

Murray Bartling, fire insurance agent, cautioned everyone again about the seriousness of the dry season. At the next meeting, Nov. 11, two films will be shown. It is hoped that anyone in the community that is interested in FFA or county agent will attend. The meeting will start at 7:30 p.m. All members are urged to attend because voting for officers for the year 1961 will be held.
