Jump Into Bathtub Saves Woman's Life
Chattanooga, Tenn. — A quick-thinking young pregnant mother saved her own life by jumping into a bathtub filled with water when her clothes caught fire. Mrs. Martha J. Flynn, 22, was engulfed in flames when she got too close to a gas heater in her home. Her 5-year-old son, George, was filling the tub with water. She jumped in, extinguished the blaze and then went next door to call for help.
