Letters to the Editor must bear the name and address of the writer, although under certain circumstances the use of a pen name or initial for publication is permissible. The Mail Tribune reserves the right to edit all letters with a view to clarification and condensation. Letters submitted for publication must not exceed 400 words. The letters printed in this column do not necessarily represent the views of the paper; in fact the contrary is often the case.

The Facts Speak

To the Editor: I was much amused to read in Friday's Mail Tribune of Dr. Durno's statement that Porter has $50,000 for his campaign. Isn't it reasonable to expect that he would spend some of this vast sum on television time in Jackson county, Durno's home territory, to answer Durno's charges, if he had it? Yet he is rarely seen on TV except for occasional spot announcements, usually at non-peak hours and inexpensive times of day.

Consider Durno's campaign expenditures, on the other hand, in this county alone. One can hardly turn on TV without seeing him, some times for 15 minutes at a time, at a peak hour; besides which, he has newspaper ads, two at a time, to announce these spectacles.

He has spent generously on radio, too, judging by the frequency of his announcements. And let's not forget the billboards: huge ones, up and down the county.

Dr. Durno must think the voters are deaf and blind if he thinks they would fall for his nonsensical statement. We see and hear the products of his exorbitant campaign expenditures day after day, knowing that the same pattern is being followed in the other six counties of the Fourth District.

Porter is conspicuous only by his absence on all the communications media. A Democrat, lacking the generous financial support of any wealthy organization, he has to make up in legwork what he lacks in cash. Any child knows Porter would buy advertising here and elsewhere if he had $50,000 at his disposal. The facts speak for themselves.

Our Growth Is Cited

To the Editor: It would be a good idea for you to take a trip around the Rogue River valley, observe the tremendous growth and think seriously over the changes made during the past eight years while you are deciding on who to vote for, for president of the U.S., Tuesday, Nov. 8.

Senator Kennedy has based the greater portion of his campaign on the economic issue and has stated many, many times that "we are standing still economically under the Eisenhower administration."

"This is not the truth. Never in the history of the nation have we moved forward in every field as rapidly as we have in the past eight years. The sound growth and expansion is tremendous. One figure alone which is impressive is that our economy has now absorbed 23,000,000 women into the working force of the U.S. and still kept the number of unemployed at a low figure.

Healthy economic growth in the Rogue valley is evident everywhere with the beautiful new housing areas, shopping centers, medical centers, industries at White City and elsewhere, business buildings, dozens of attractive new motels, hospitals, unbelievable retirement home, new schools and tremendous growth of the school systems. Southern Oregon college where the number of students, faculty and buildings has doubled.

Our growth is tremendous and is being duplicated in every section of the United States.

Vice President Richard Nixon has never suggested stopping at this point. He is interested in further sound economic expansion under a government which understands our free enterprise system. He will be an excellent president.

Nasty Cartoon

To the Editor: During my over 40 years as subscriber to the Mail Tribune and its forerunner papers, I believe this (Herblock, Friday, Oct. 28) is the most repulsive, and I hope I will never see another, such a nasty cartoon in The Medford Mail Tribune.

Fine Men Maligned

To the Editor: Of course you will not publish this, but I must tell you anyway that I think you owe your better class of subscribers an apology for the language used in your front page cartoon of Friday, Oct. 28.

Do you know that you are speaking of the two finest citizens of these wonderful United States?

Shame on you, Mr. Editor. Mrs. Mary A. Brooke

Quemoy and Matsu

To the Editor: Although only a rank amateur regarding things military, I can follow Kennedy's reasoning about the defense of those two off-shore islands, Quemoy and Matsu. It is the belief in military circles that within a few years China will have a stock-pile of atomic weapons. It might be well to bear in mind that the Chinese invented gunpowder.

Therefore, if China, like Russia, becomes able to turn out these weapons like sausages, our Navy had better not get close to the Chinese mainland.

Those two stationary targets, Quemoy and Matsu, will be subjected to such terrific sustained bombardments that human hearts and nerves will find them unendurable.

Besides, how does a country, no matter how powerful, go about defeating a nation of 650,000,000 people, one-third of whom their rulers consider expendable?

Against Free Trade

To the Editor: I feel that every one of Congressmen Charles O. Porter's constituents should know that he very firmly insists on continuing the unconstitutional international control of tariffs which is imperiling and destroying American industries.

"We trade and sell more than we buy," he said in answer to my recent inquiry, "We must not be afraid to compete."

How does Mr. Porter get that way? There is, at this moment, a formerly unheard of, staggering $24 billion in foreign credits charged against our rapidly dwindling $18 billion in gold reserves that proves we are NOT selling more than we buy. Because we cannot compete ei-

No Push-Button Magic for Peace, Kennedy Declares

Philadelphia - (UPI) - Sen. John F. Kennedy derided Vice President Richard M. Nixon's strategy for peace today by insisting "there is no push-button magic" for averting war.

The Democratic Presidential candidate said he is "convinced that peace can be obtained only through a stronger America - and America in which a strong economy, supporting a strong defensive posture, is manned by a citizenry strong in their sense of purpose."

But he said Nixon's "grand strategy" is to create a series of committees, conferences, councils and good will tours.

"The next war may be started and won by merely pushing a button - but there is no push-button magic for winning the peace," Kennedy said.

Fourth Straight Day
The Democratic standard-bearer spoke out in a speech prepared for delivery while motorcading through Philadelphia in his fourth consecutive day of bidding for Pennsylvania's important 32 electoral votes.

He had a busy day of campaigning scheduled in Pennsylvania's largest city, a Democratic stronghold whose votes must offset those of Republican-dominated areas if Kennedy is to carry the Keystone State.

State police estimated some 30,000 people turned out for Kennedy's appearance at a shopping center in Levittown - a figure which probably was high but a crowd which was peppy and large despite Kennedy's lateness of three hours.

Text Contains Pledge
Kennedy concentrated on the issue of unemployment at Levittown, where a number of workers at the U.S. Steel Corporation's nearby Fairless Works reside. But he failed actually to utter the major campaign pledge set forth in a prepared text released to newsmen.

This pledge, which aides stressed that he stands by, was to set a "full employment" goal of 82 million jobs by 1968 if he is elected president eight days from now. The current number of jobs is something in excess of 88 million and Kennedy's target figure would mean leaving only a bare minimum of the working force unemployed.

Legion Head Says Signs Misleading
Portland - "Veteran" day will be a mockery in Oregon for more than 30,750 veterans eligible for GI home loans if the citizens are misled by the flood of billboard advertising which implies Measure 13 would cost the taxpayers money," according to Merrill E. Johnson, American Legion commander for Oregon.

"These billboards, showing a burdened taxpayer weighted down by money bags labeled 'another $135,000,000,' are misleading since the Oregon treasury made $6 1/2 million during the past 15 years from home loans to veterans," he said.

"If this $6 1/2 million net profit had not been collected by the state department of veterans affairs to alleviate the tax burden, this sum would have gone to a few money lenders.

"I am shocked by the misleading interpretations growing out of these billboards and ask voters to join in correcting this unfair approach.

"Greed for profit," the Oregon City Legionnaire asserted, "is the sole motivating factor behind these billboards and the citizens of Oregon ought to be told about it."

Eleanor Holm Saved by Knife

Miami Beach - (UPI) - An emergency operation on one-time swimming champion Eleanor Holm was credited today with saving her life after she had taken an overdose of sleeping pills.

Miss Holm, 43-year-old ex-wife of showman Billy Rose, was reported resting comfortably at St. Francis Hospital. Physicians said she probably would remain there the rest of the week.

Ambulance attendants took Miss Holm to the hospital. Surgeons in the emergency room cut into her chest and inserted a breathing tube. The former showgirl was reported out of danger 24 hours later.

Pendleton Flier Object of Search

Cheyenne, Wyo. - (UPI) - Darkness halted an air search Sunday along the Colorado-Wyoming border for a missing light plane piloted by James Green of Pendleton, Ore.

Civil Air Patrol planes from Colorado and military craft from Lowry Air Force Base at Denver resumed the search at dawn today.

Nightfall prevented search planes from completing a check of a report from an unidentified hunter, who said he saw a small plane crash in mountainous timber country in the Penic Pass area near the border of the two states.

Green, was reported en route to Oklahoma City to pick up his wife. He operates a firm which builds radio, weather and other towers.
