WHAT CAN ONE DO FOR ASTHMA?

Obviously, as I said in a recent column, the first thing to do is to try to find out what the main cause of the asthma is. Then, one can try to avoid, or remove, or control that cause.

There are, however, still a number of drugs which can be taken by mouth or injected to relax spasm in the air tubes, or to make sputum come out better, or to make it more liquid and less sticky.

Many asthmatics need the help of a good nose man who can drain infected sinuses and perhaps remove a bunch of "polyps" which greatly interfere with breathing.

One of the best drugs to give immediate relief is epinephrine (adrenalin), but unfortunately, if too much is given too often, the person may become somewhat insensitive to it, and this will be sad.

who perhaps have been so anxious and excited and fussy that they have kept the child's nervous system in a turmoil. Dr. Alvarez' booklet on asthma, allergy and hay fever may be obtained by sending 25 cents and a large, stamped, self-addressed envelope...
