

Uniforms To Be Discussed At Meeting

"Uniforms - pro and con" will head the discussion agenda at Monday night's meeting of St. Mary's Grade School Parents' club.

The meeting is scheduled to begin at 8 p.m. in the activities room of the parochial school. Parents of all children enrolled in the grade school, and others who are interested in the welfare of the school, are invited to attend, according to President Joe Zarosinski.

Mrs. Dean Pruett, chairman of room mothers, announced that refreshments will be served during the social hour by mothers of the two first grades. Mrs. Jack Van Dyck, Mrs. Paul Newcomb, Mrs. E. E. Ford and Mrs. Gordon Boner are in charge of arrangements.

Social Chairman Mrs. John O'Connor, assisted by Mrs. John Rossi, will be greeter for the evening.

It was decided at a recent meeting of the executive board of the organization that the board will meet regularly on the Wednesday night immediately preceding the first Monday of the month. Anyone having business to be considered by the club should contact one of the officers prior to that meeting date.

Meeting Announced By Knitting Club

Applegate Valley-Applegate Valley knitting club will hold their first meeting at the home of Mrs. Otis Buck Thursday, November 10, at 1:30 p.m. The second Thursday of each month will be the regular meeting date. Everyone interested in knitting is invited to attend.

POTPOURRI

A special copy of today's picture page will go to Mrs. Carol M. Sullivan, of San Leandro, Calif. Last August Mrs. Sullivan wrote to the Tribune suggesting that someone interview Mr. and Mrs. John Ross, at their home on Minear road. Mrs. Sullivan, who began her letter by saying she had enjoyed her stay in the Rogue valley very much, said she had visited Mr. and Mrs. Ross because she is a friend of their daughter who lives in Oakland, and had been most impressed with the lively Medford couple.

Mrs. Sullivan told in her letter how Mr. Ross made interesting lamps, with bases of magnolia and dogwood which he carves and curves, and how he decorates the shades with paper-thin slices of the beautiful polished stones. Potpourri and Photographer Bob Vroman found that Mrs. Sullivan had not exaggerated, and our stay with Mr. and Mrs. Ross was rewarding. Potpourri talked with Mrs. Ross while Photographer Bob took his pictures, and the quiet-spoken, white-haired woman told about her husband and their life together. "My husband is QUITE a man" she said with evident pride, and we agreed.

After the pictures were taken the four of us went out into the back yard where there are piles and piles of rocks waiting to be cut and polished. Mrs. Ross helps collect the rocks and has her favorite pieces. In her letter Mrs. Sullivan described how Mr. and Mrs. Ross had stood on the porch, their arms linked together, and waved good-bye to the visitors. "It was a sight one just can't forget," she said. So Potpourri looked back as Photographer Bob backed his car out of the driveway and turned it to leave, and there the pleasant-faced couple stood, arm in arm, to wave good-bye. You were right, Mrs. Sullivan.

As a matter of fact, the entire project of photographing today's picture-page subjects proved very stimulating. At Mrs. William Gray's home we not only looked at Mrs. Gray's interesting water color paintings, but at her birthday cards. Mrs. Gray was born on Halloween, and this year celebrated her 76th birthday anniversary. When we inquired if she minded being born on a day dedicated to witches and goblins and other weird creatures, Mrs. Gray said not at all, because the day is festive and that as a girl, her brother had planned a party for her every year.

Now it is Mrs. Gray's daughter, Mrs. A. L. Sams, who gives the parties, and she was hostess for one last Monday.

Voting in a mock election on the Dartmouth college campus was very similar to that reported at other universities and colleges recently, according to a letter from Robert Hamilton, freshman at the school. The young man said that the students voted for Nixon at the school last week and the faculty for Kennedy, by a large margin. Nixon's win, however, according to Robert, was by the smallest margin ever given a Republican candidate by the Dartmouth student body.

Young Hamilton, son of Postmaster and Mrs. Moore Hamilton, is receiving the Mail Tribune at Hanover, N.H. He commented that, in reading about the "local campaigns," he was "most happy" that none of his family was "mixed up in the mess".

Everyone is breaking out with campaign stories and anecdotes, and we liked these reported in the New York Times from Washington, D.C. The story said that volunteers for Nixon-Lodge reported that they had won support from a woman in Georgia because of what "that man Kelly said" about the South. She was, of course, speaking about Senator John F. Kennedy, the Democratic presidential nominee.

The article continues: "Senator Kennedy sprinkles his speeches with lofty quotes from the literati—so lofty that when he quoted 'the immortal Dante' in Indiana, a local newspaper attributed it to 'Myrtle Dante'."—O.S.

Reports Heard By Bethel 14

Miss Carla Borough, honored queen of Bethel 14, International Order of Job's Daughters, presided over a meeting Wednesday, November 2, which honored members of Masonic organizations in the valley.

Escorted and introduced were Mrs. Roy Nordwick, worthy matron of Reames chapter, Order of Eastern Star; William Randolph, worthy patron of Reames chapter; John Eddy, worshipful master of Medford Blue lodge; and Ross Gilkison, high priest of Royal Arch chapter, and master of Table Rock council.

Miss Pat Ellis, guide, reported on the Bethel's "Go to Church" Sunday, October 23, held at the First Presbyterian church. Miss Kathie Sanborn described the hayride, theater party, and lumber party which the Bethel had on October 29.

Miss Diane Everham, junior princess, explained plans for the rummage sale held Saturday, November 5. Miss Barbara Morton, senior princess, announced the baked food sale November 5.

Awards were presented to winners in the candy sale, the Misses Penny Forbes, Vicki Ingram and Cindy Anderson.

The next Bethel meeting will be a formal initiation on Wednesday, November 16. A practice session prior to the meeting will be announced. The guardian council will meet for a potluck dinner in the Masonic hall on Wednesday, November 30.

Iraq, Lebanon Topics for Guild

Mrs. Richard Cochran will speak concerning Iraq and Lebanon at a meeting of Westminster guild at 7:45 p.m. Monday at the church. Mrs. Cochran and her family lived in the Middle East for some time.

Mrs. C. A. Thatcher and Mrs. R. A. Brewer are in charge of the program. Hostesses will be Mrs. O. A. Martolin, Mrs. Frank Hussong and Mrs. Georgiana Beier.

New York—UPI—Children should be taught to cross only at the crosswalks on the way to school—and then only after they have stopped, looked and listened, making sure it's safe to cross.

Mrs. Ruth Cox, (center) Santa Barbara, Calif., was among the guests who attended a reception held at Rogue gallery last Sunday to focus attention on an exhibit of Japanese prints now being shown there. Mrs. Cox was accompanied by her daughter, Mrs. Carl Wimberly Jr., (at left) and is pictured with Mrs. William Thorndike (at right) who is serving as social chairman for the gallery social functions at present. Mrs. Cox left Tuesday for her home. Art authorities in the valley, both professional and amateur, declare that the prints, loaned for the exhibit by Miss Anna P. Livingstone, Old Stage road, make up a most outstanding collection comparable in artistic value to anything which might be exhibited in the nation's largest cities. (Knexkated photo)

Society Members Sing at Meeting

Hornbrook—Mrs. Ruth Cummins and Mrs. Alice Rutledge, local members of Siskiyou county Gamma Nu chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma, educational society, assisted with the regional conference held October 29 in Yreka. The Siskiyou chapter was hostess to six other DKG chapters at the conference.

The two Hornbrook women were members of an octet which provided special music in keeping with the theme "Indian Lore." "Understanding Unfamiliar Culture" is the society's international theme.

Mrs. Cummins teaches in the Hornbrook Grammar school, and Mrs. Rutledge teaches at Hills.

Central Point Bethel Lists Coming Activities

Junior Bethel night was held in the Masonic hall in Central Point last week by Bethel 38, International Order of Job's Daughters.

Among the younger daughters participating at the direction of Queen Rebecca Ferrell were the Misses Rena Offutt, recorder; Tanya Johnson, treasurer; Janice Ayers, chaplain; Pamela Burgoyne, first messenger; Patricia Knapp, second messenger; Carol Millard, third messenger; Nancy Johnson, fourth messenger; Elin Livingston, senior custodian; Sharon Thompson, junior custodian, and Linda Snyder, inner guard.

Those introduced and honored were Mrs. William Askwith, past Bethel guardian, and Miss June Hopkins, representative to Wisconsin. Mrs. Askwith complimented the junior officers on their performance at the close of the secret rites.

Miss Janet Hobbs, junior princess, gave a report on the friendship night held by Bethel 14 in Medford and arrangements were made for a number of the girls to attend friendship nights of Shady Cove's Bethel and the Grants Pass Bethel.

Plaque To Be Hung The Bethel unanimously adopted the motion that a plaque bearing the name of the most outstanding girl during each year's activities be placed on the wall in the ante-room of the Masonic hall. The plaque to bear the simple inscription "Bethel 38 holds in high esteem."

It was stated that November 13 would be "Go to Church Sunday." All members of the Bethel will attend 11 a.m. services at the First Presbyterian church, Medford, and have been invited to take their fathers with them.

Miss Cathleen Harsh passed the proficiency test required by the grand guardian council and a number of the members plan to take their tests at the next meeting.

Members of the Bethel voted to have a line party Thursday, November 10, at which time they plan to attend the Craterian theater. Members taking part in the evening's festivities are to meet at the Masonic hall in Central Point at least one-half hour before show time.
