Baked pear halves filled with mincemeat make a perfect finish for any meal. For an added touch insert sugar cubes moistened with lemon extract into the mincemeat and light.

Mincemeat Pears Suggested For Low Calorie Dessert

There's no mystery as to what makes this dessert delicious, for it's made with fresh succulent pears. The pears are baked until tender in a rich sauce, filled with spicy mincemeat and served with a warm brandy sauce. You may find the pears are slightly disguised but they are far from incognito.

You need to be a detective to recognize the most wanted fruits in America today are these same fresh pears for it's Bosc and D'Anjou season now. They have literally captured the market from September through April when other sweet fruits are scarce. Creamy smooth, sweet and satisfying, they are good any way, any time.

Low on Calories

The sleuth in charge of calorie catching will be disappointed to find a medium sized fresh pear has only about 65 to 70 calories. To solve the mystery of how such a sweet fruit can be so low in calories, scientists analyzed and found that a small amount of levulose sugar in the pears tastes as sweet as a much larger amount of regular cane or beet sugar.

Ripe pears yield to gentle pressure regardless of color. You can always buy firm pears with confidence—they'll ripen at home in a few days at room temperature, becoming sweet and juicy, the way you like them.

Mincemeat Pears

For Mincemeat Pears heat together 1/2 cup of brown sugar, 1/2 cup of white sugar, 1 1/2 cups water and 4 slices lemon. Cut 4 Bosc or D'Anjou pears into halves, core, place cut side down in baking dish with syrup. Bake at 400 degrees for 30 minutes or until tender. Turn over, fill each cavity with mincemeat, takes about 1/2 cup. Bake a few minutes longer, or until mincemeat is hot. Serve warm with brandy

Xi Mu Chapter Plans Meeting

Mrs. Louis Blomquist will lead the discussion on "How to Get What We Want" at the meeting of Xi Mu chapter of Beta Sigma Phi Wednesday, November 9, at 8 p.m. Mrs. J. Edgar Moir will be hostess to the group at her home, 1105 Shafar lane.

Each member described a person she considered as living or having lived, a good life, at the last meeting. Miss Adabee Selter was in charge of the program at the home of Miss Anna L. May.

Director Advises School Girls

(In the following dispatch, Mrs. Alice K. Leopold, assistant to the secretary of labor and director of the women's bureau, United States Department of Labor, tells the 1960 school girl about planning essential for success.)

By ALICE K. LEOPOLD
Assistant to the Secretary of Labor
Written for United Press International

Washington—(UPI)—We hear so much about "new worlds" opening up these days, that I hesitate to say what I have in mind—even though it's true. New worlds ARE opening up for the young women of America—and fascinating, exciting new worlds they are! Opportunities are beckoning to trained, capable girls in the fields of science, mathematics, technology, and health, to mention a few. Women are beginning to be accepted in these fields new to women, and they are needed!

To make the Brandy sauce blend 1/2 cup of brown sugar, 1 tablespoon cornstarch, and 1/8 teaspoon salt in saucepan. Add 1 cup water, 1 teaspoon lemon juice, 1 tablespoon orange juice, cook until clear and thickened, stirring constantly. Add 2 tablespoons butter, 1/4 teaspoon rum flavoring and 1/4 teaspoon brandy flavoring. Makes 1 cup sauce.

Girl Scout Troop Has New Leaders; Officers Elected

Happy Camp—The Happy Camp fifth grade Girl Scout troop has two new leaders, Mrs. Howard Nevins and her assistant, Mrs. Frank Walden. They held their first meeting recently at the Log Memorial building.

Officers were elected, and named were Carol Jean Gayle, president; Ann Elizabeth Balkcom, vice-president; Barbara Lee Nevins, treasurer; and Ellen Curtis, scribe. The girls made place mats, singing games were played and refreshments were served by the leaders to Joann Coffield, Ann Balkcom, Cheryl Goodwin, Linda Kelley, Cathy Meinert, Carol Gayle, Norma Goodwin, Ellen Curtis, Katherine Walden, Barbara Nevins, and Leonie Dallan.

Mrs. Nevins states the meeting day has been changed to Thursday for this group this year. Any fifth grade girl who would like to join the troop should attend the next meeting, Mrs. Nevins said many interesting activities are planned.

Woman Returns From Mid-West

Jacksonville—Mrs. James W. Grigsby has returned home after a trip to Colorado and Kansas to visit relatives. She was accompanied by her mother, Mrs. J. A. Yantis, Santa Clara, Calif., who met Mrs. Grigsby in San Francisco.

In Limon, Colo., the two women were guests of Mrs. Yantis' brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Rarick. From Colorado she went to Seldon, Kan., to spend some time with friends of Mrs. Yantis, and in Glen Elder, Kan., Mrs. Grigsby was a guest of her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Barnett and Mrs. Yantis was with a niece, Mrs. Richard Alsop. Mrs. Barnett was hostess for a party which honored Mrs. Yantis, and Mrs. Grigsby was honored at a coffee given by friends.

Mrs. Grigsby was also the guest of Mrs. Rufus Lowell, Glen Elder, the two having been classmates in high school.

Apple Scapple Comes With Fruit Harvest

New York—(UPI)—Take advantage of the fall fruit harvest by serving apple scapple for breakfast.

Mix 1 1/4 cups of corn meal and 2 teaspoons of salt with 2 cups of cold water. Pour slowly into 4 cups of boiling water, stirring constantly. Cook until thickened, stirring frequently. Cover and continue cooking over low heat 10 minutes, stirring occasionally.

Stir in 2 medium apples, peeled and chopped. Pour into a 1-pound loaf pan. Cool, cover with wax paper to avoid a dry crust, and chill. Cut cold mush into 1/2-inch slices, dip a corn meal and pan-fry slowly on a greased griddle until golden brown. Serve hot with syrup and fried apple rings.

New York—Nursery school teacher Mary Henderson got sly smirks from her pupils after mysterious fumes caused the evacuation of 45 children.

The fumes came from an overheated pan in which she was boiling water to clean art equipment.

schools recognize that teenagers smoke and set up regulations and provide smoking areas? Eighty-seven per cent of public school administrators polled on the question said—no.

Director Advises School Girls

All young girls want to get married, and that's as it should be, but it is fairly safe to assume that today's daughter will work. She'll probably work before she is married and again when her own children are in school.

Need Direction
Nonetheless, America's young girls need directing toward proper training and education. In addition to assistance from their community, home, and school, they may find the answer through the federal government which is always concerned with human resources.

The government, realizing the significance of this vital matter, offers—in cooperation with the states—free counseling service to job seekers through State Employment Service offices.

There are many bulletins and pamphlets prepared by the United States Department of Labor which are most useful. The publications describe jobs and duties—training and education necessary—and add sound advice on chances for advancement.

Those published by the Women's Bureau are particularly useful to young women and include such publications as "Future Jobs for High School Girls," "Careers for Women in the Physical Sciences," "Is Math in the Stars for You?" and many others which are especially prepared to reveal employment opportunities.

Job Insurance
We might say early education and training is a form of job insurance, and it is insurance for the future in which today's girls should invest, with the help of teachers, parents, leaders.

The demand for unskilled workers is steadily decreasing. It is education and more education, which counts today, liberally sprinkled with practical training and experience.

Optimistically, I should like to state here that I believe today's teenage girl who reaches 35 to 40, or

Book on Aging Topic for Club

Mrs. George R. Carter reviewed, "Man Against Aging," for the Wednesday Study club program recently.

The author, Robert De Ropp, writes of the art of living and the art of growing old. It is old age inexorable, inevitable and inescapable? Can man prolong youth and delay the aging process by scientific thinking and living and balancing our losses by our gains in life?

This is said to be the first authoritative book for the general reader of man's struggle against the aging process from the earliest times to the latest scientific discoveries.

The author states the New York Life Insurance company estimates man's life expectancy has increased from 57 to 67 years since the turn of the century.

Mrs. Otto Ewaldson demonstrated gift wrapping and fashioning gift decorations to give Christmas packages "that gala look."

Christmas Show Set By Gardeners

Medford Garden club will hold a standard Christmas show and sale of holiday articles on Friday, December 9, from 2 to 8 p.m., and Saturday December 10 from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. in the U. S. Army Reserve building, 701 North Columbus ave.

Mrs. William Naylor is show chairman and Mrs. Ira Fitzgerald, co-chairman. Plans for the event were made at the recent meeting of the Medford Garden club in the courthouse.

J. Vernon Marshall of the Marshall nursery addressed the club on the topic of pruning and caring of evergreens. He demonstrated how these cuttings may be rooted. He also gave information on the spraying and feeding of house and garden plants and shrubs.

For the horticulture program, Mrs. Charles Stearns talked on the large leaf barberry.

Mrs. Helen Arnsperger and Mrs. LeRoy Cline won the prizes. Guests introduced at the meeting were Mrs. Allen Laine, Mrs. Hildred Hughes, Mrs. Amy Burgers of Salem and Mrs. Charles Padlock.

During the business session Mrs. Dayton Dupue, president reported on the "show and see" conservation trip she had attended on October 26. About 40 interested persons met at Ashland to take this trip through the burned-out areas.

Mrs. Herbert A. Sims, tea chairman for the Christmas show, requested all members to bring or send cookies for the silver tea which is to be held during the show.

Mrs. Fitzgerald, tea chairman for the Thursday meeting, introduced her helpers, Mrs. Ray Cvr, Mrs. Boyd Flanders, and Mrs. A. J. Carroll. Mrs. Harry Bryant and Mrs. E. M. Wallin poured at the lace covered table which was centered with an arrangement of colorful goods, vegetables and chrysantheums.

Yreka Women To Hold Bazaar

Yreka - Christmas bazaar plans were announced at a meeting of the Woman's Society of Christian Service of Yreka Methodist church held at the church November 1.

The president Mrs. James Sullivan, presided for the business session and Mrs. James Elsea had charge of the devotions.

Mrs. Sullivan announced that the annual bazaar will be held at the church November 18. A merchants lunch will be served at noon.

Mary-Martha circle is making table mats for the David Margaret Home at Lavern, Calif. This institution is for children from broken homes and for maladjusted children.

An invitation was read from the Montague Methodist WSCS to join with them Jan. 13 to hear a missionary from South America speak at the church.

Mrs. Tom Deter, missionary chairman, had charge of the program after the noon luncheon and showed pictures of churches around the world which go to make up the World Council of Churches. The name of the film was "Assignment in Unity."

Mrs. Robert DeLorme will be co-hostess for the evening, and a social hour will follow the business meetings.

Women of Rotary Schedule Session

Mrs. Leonard Mayfield will be hostess for a meeting of Women of Rotary at her home, 1 Black Oak drive, Wednesday, November 9, at 12:30 p.m.

Members attending are asked to take their place settings. Reservations are to be made by calling Mrs. Harvey Fields, Normandy 4-2204.

Groups Shown Veterans' Film; Plan Breakfast

A film, "The Gift You Bring Is You," was shown at the last meeting of Crater Lake post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, and the auxiliary.

Frank Glonning, assistant medical officer at the Veterans Administration domiciliary at Camp White, showed the film for the groups, assisted by Don Anderson and Michael Prevost.

The film shows how volunteers may help the patients at the veteran hospitals by reading to them, writing for them or visiting them. It shows how wheel chair patients may be helped and how entertainment of music and dancing, particularly when staged by young people, is enjoyed by the men at the domiciliary and hospitals.

It was pointed out that there is a need for instructors in sports, games and in arts and crafts. Anyone able to instruct in these is asked to contact Mr. Glonning at the domiciliary.

The film is produced nationally, and is available for showing to groups interested in understanding the problems of the veterans.

The program was arranged by Mrs. Richard Schulz of the auxiliary.

Auxiliary members headed by Mrs. Louis Kula, will prepare and serve breakfast at the VFW hall November 11, Veterans day. Serving will be from 7 to 11 a.m. in the upstairs rooms at the hall. A charge will be made. The breakfast will be open to veterans, their friends and other interested persons.

Mrs. E. G. Heim asked auxiliary women to meet at the hall November 10 to help prepare the hall for the breakfast. The women will also assemble several hundred nut cups to be used at the Camp White domiciliary for Thanksgiving dinner.

Auxiliary women will also hold a bazaar at the Home Appliance store December 2.

Mrs. Mary Weber, membership chairman for the auxiliary and the post membership chairman are conducting a membership drive which will end in January.

School Librarian Attends Meeting
Mrs. Mildred Schwendenner, Lone Pine school librarian, was in Grants Pass yesterday to attend a meeting of school librarians held there.

Society of Artists Holds Annual Dinner; Events Noted

SOC-nrl RKK A ETA Southern Oregon Society of Artists, at the annual dinner Friday night at Kim's restaurant, looked back on nine years of activity and forward to the tenth year.

Clifford Platz, one of the charter members of the group and the first president, was master of ceremonies and said the tenth year of the society would be one of "more work and more responsibility."

Mr. Platz listed the past presidents of the society and said that each had left a mark on the group. He mentioned Eugene Ferrell, Frank Dietz, Hal Bishop, Dr. E. O. Mehus, Clarence Henderson, Luther Wrightsworth, Mrs. Ada Andrews of Gold Hill and Mrs. Ethyl (Ralph) Hixson, Central Point, the retiring president.

George Johnson, a newly elected president of the society, said an active year is planned and announced a sale of pictures by society members December 3-4. Proceeds will go to the permanent gallery fund.

Society members now have a show at the Britt Memorial Student union building on the Southern Oregon college campus, and will display some works in connection with the annual benefit style show of Medford Junior Women's club November 18.

Men Urged To Join PTA Unit

Eagle Point—"Let's make use of our right to vote," is the plea of James Trimble, membership chairman for Eagle Point Elementary Parent-Teacher association, to men of the district.

"I accepted the chairmanship of the membership committee because I am an interested father," comments Mr. Trimble, "but I find that the male membership among parents and teachers is amazingly low."

Mrs. Darrel Stanley reminds members that in order to vote on any issue before the organization, they must be registered for this year. Membership dues are but 50 cents per year; the guidance and suggestions of the men in the community are needed, she emphasized.

Open house will be the program for a meeting Thursday, November 10. All classrooms will be open with teachers in their rooms that night from 7 to 8 o'clock. There will be a short business meeting in the cafeteria immediately following. Membership cards will be on hand. Any further information regarding membership may be had by contacting Mr. Trimble at TALbot 6-9261, or the co-chairman, Mrs. Vera Selby, at Hillcrest 6-3315.

Mrs. Raymond Palm, ways and means chairman, states that tentative casts have been selected for two one-act plays to be given in January. Glenn Foster, speech instructor on the high school faculty will direct the productions, and Mrs. Doreen Vaughan will act as co-director. Mrs. Palm also renews her request for small "stocking-stuffer" type gifts to be donated to the gift table.

There have been some interesting, inexpensive gifts on the table for purchasing, she states, and invites everyone to do some Christmas shopping at the PTA meetings.

Use a cleaning solvent to remove road tar from shoe soles. For small amounts of tar, a lighter fluid or spot cleaning fluid will do the job.
