

Classrooms Visited At Open House

Eagle Point—Autumn leaves, turkey gobblers, and miniature Pilgrim villages lent an atmosphere of Thanksgiving to the open house in the Eagle Point Elementary school November 10. All rooms were decorated and open to the public.

Classroom work of each student was on hand for the inspection of his parents, and teachers were in their own rooms for conferences, questioning and consultation. This visitation night was held in conjunction with Education Week, for the purpose of familiarizing the parents with school procedure, accomplishments, goals, methods of teaching and to acquaint them with the child's teaching staff.

Refreshments were prepared by the teachers and served by mothers of students in the sixth grade, while a short business meeting of the Eagle Point Elementary Parent-Teacher association was in session in the cafeteria. Children were entertained in the gymnasium with games, music and refreshments, under the supervision of parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Peck; and two teachers, Richard Wolgamott and David Harbison.

An idea new to the community, as a fund-raiser, was presented by Mrs. Raymond Palm, ways and means chairman. Free time is precious, Mrs. Palm says she has discovered. Her committee has a date on the community calendar for December 3. Tickets are being sold for a "stay-at-home" night. One 50 cent ticket entitles the holder to spend a night at home with his family. Children are free.

Immediate purchasers of tickets were Glenn Hale, superintendent of local schools, and Darrel Stanley, school board member and husband of the PTA president. Tickets may be purchased by parents or their children at the school office.

Cakes decorated by teachers were auctioned by Donald Pulley, to help finance a child-care program for the meetings.

Purchasing a tape recorder to be used in a classroom aid, was the yearly project chosen by the membership. Teachers verified the practical use of this device from the first grade level through the eighth.

Thanks were extended to all who helped make the "stocking stuffer" gift table a success.

James Trimble, membership chairman, announced that due to the help of committee members in the final contacts, the goal set for this year has been surpassed. He stressed that memberships were always available for anyone still wishing to purchase them.

The invocation was given by the Rev. Warren Christensen.

Mineral Club Tours Museum; Dinner Slated

More than 50 members and guests of Roxy Ann Gem and Mineral club visited the Crater Rock Museum at Central Point recently to see exhibits of minerals, fossils, and Indian artifacts. Delmar Smith, owner of the museum, was kept busy answering the many questions about the collection. Mr. Smith announced that the museum has recently been incorporated. Plans are under way to use the museum as a geological and archeological visual aids center for the schools and colleges of Southern Oregon and Northern California.

Mrs. John Dodge announced the exhibit this month in the U.S. National bank, Medford, belongs to Mr. and Mrs. Dodge. It is a display of Brazilian agate, Mexican agate, local petrified wood, and geodes from Dugway, Utah.

Plans were made for a Christmas dinner at the December meeting. Mrs. Kenneth Paine is in charge of organizing this affair. Turkey is provided by the club will be roasted by Mrs. Frank Otis and Mrs. Dodge, with the remainder of the meal to be potluck. Gifts will be exchanged, and games will be played for prizes donated by the members.

In addition the nominating committee composed of Lawrence Crocker, William Davenport and Mrs. Delmar Smith will present a slate of officers for 1961, and the election, previously announced for the November meeting, will be held.

Dr. Edwin Brown, president of the Ashland Gem and Mineral club, was a guest and his group was invited to participate in this Christmas program.

Designer Says Offices Should Have Personality

By GAY PAULEY
UPI Women's Editor

New York—Each individual is born with some sort of personality. Corporations have to grow their own.

This is where Barbara Dorn comes in. She is one of the nation's most successful decorators for commercial enterprises.

After World War II, she organized Barbara Dorn associates and now has a regular staff of 14 draftsmen, designers and decorators in her New York headquarters.

These, she supplements with help "in the field" when she takes on a large out-of-town project.

The interior designer did not want to go into precise amounts on cost of some of the projects she has done. But many of them have run into the million dollar and more category.

Undoubtedly the two-story salon-shop she's doing on Fifth avenue will cost Revlon a pretty penny.

Miss Dorn even made a trip to Pompeii to research the luxury baths of ancient Roman Empire days.

Roman-Style Luxury

Every piece of equipment in the salon is Dorn-designed, and there are none of the conventional basins and dryers. A woman's hair will be washed in a golden sea-shell basin, dryers will drop from the ceiling at the push of a button, the customer will recline on a chaise longue while she gets a manicure, soothe her feet on a therapeutic pool fed by a cascading fountain, bathe in a sunken Roman tub eight feet long and four feet wide, and be served food and beverages from rolling carts.

"Interior design is one of the tools for making money," said Miss Dorn. She cited one doctor client in Florida whose offices she re-did at a cost to him of around $25,000. "I promised him his practice would double," she said. "It tripled."

The designer believes here is where a wife can be of infinite help to a husband in the professions or operating his own small business. Make the offices more than a cell with pictures of the missus and kids on his desk. Work out a color scheme and furnishings to brighten his working hours.

Miss Dorn did not say what a wife should do if husband turns thumbs down on any such project.

Quick Trick

Shirt buttons sometimes become slightly discolored in laundering. You can rub them clean with an ink eraser. Add a few drops of olive oil to the water when you are washing chambray leather gloves. It will keep them from becoming stiff.

Even if your new hat has your initials, slip a business card under the inside band so it can be returned to you if someone takes it by mistake.

Soup spots, and others of a greasy nature, can often be removed from ties if plain talcum powder is rubbed on and left overnight. Brush the powder away and the spot usually goes.

Bridge Club Schedules Two Events

Ten tables of players competed in Wednesday's duplicate game at the Riverside Bridge club.

High score for north-south were won by Mrs. M. M. Herman and Mrs. Paul Hatton first; Mrs. Berg Marten and Mrs. R. W. Gordon tied with William H. West, Seattle, and John Shortridge, second and third; Mrs. J. J. Finegan and Mrs. F. E. Bowman, fourth.

East-west winners were Mrs. John Dougherty and Mrs. Sam Van Dyke, first; Mrs. W. W. Stevenson and Mrs. Sam Richardson, second; Walter Grow and John Solheim, third; Mrs. Marris Gibbons and Mrs. Robert F. King, fourth.

Winners for regular play at Camp White Veterans Bridge club November 11 were Mrs. Paul Hatton and Mrs. Berg Marten, first 84½ points; Mrs. Frank Baker and Mrs. J. J. Finegan, second, 83; Paul Hatton and Berg Marten, third, 80; Mrs. Fred Burich and Walter Humes, fourth, 79.

Investiture Held For New Troop

Nine young second graders became Brownie Scouts last week during investiture ceremonies, according to Mrs. Paul Leaverton, leader of the new Brownie Troop 35.

The new Brownie Girl Scouts are Carol Bradford, Cindy Fennell, Teresa Grear, Janine Grigsby, Pamela Kurovsky, Cheryl Leaverton, Lorie Mattson, Katherine Rix, and Susan Tweddle.

Mrs. Paul Kurovsky is assistant leader of the troop.

Accompanied by Mrs. William Tyer and Mr. and Mrs. Leaverton, the Brownies toured the gift-wrapping rooms at Bear Creek orchards where they were each given a Christmas lollipop. Future activities of the troop include a visit to the fire station to leave toys to be repaired and a visit some time before Easter to the Rogue Valley hospital to deliver Easter favors for the patients.

The Rogue Valley Girl Scout council is a member agency of the United Medford Crusade, the Ashland-Talent United Fund and the Josephine County United Fund; the West Siskiyou district conducts a Girl Scout Drive.

A plastic kitchen-utensil divider in a bureau drawer, will make order out of chaos, keeping jewelry, collar stays etc. in their own compartments.

Resolutions Discussed

Resolutions which were adopted at the recent meeting of the Department of Classroom Teachers, Oregon Education association, were discussed at the last meeting of the Jackson County Department of Classroom Teachers. The meeting was held Monday night at the Rogue River Elementary school.

Seven teachers who had attended the meeting participated in the discussion, with Bruce Matheny, president of the county department, as moderator. Local groups were advised to further discuss the resolutions in order that representatives will be prepared to vote on them when the Representative council meets.

Mrs. Maxine Smith, a past president of Oregon Education association, spoke concerning professional standards and the pride which individuals should have in the teaching profession. Mrs. Smith is one of six candidates for the office of national director of OEA.

Prospect PTA

Prospect—Prospect Parent-Teacher association will have a program on mental health at a meeting set for Monday, November 21, at 8 p.m. in the school gymnasium.
