

'Sharply Rising Stages' Forecast for Willamette

YOUNGSTER RESCUED—An unidentified rescue worker, right, is shown as he brings little Tod Duncan, 2, of Gardena, Calif., to the top of the 10-foot hole into which the youngster had fallen while playing Thursday. The Duncan family was in Gilroy, Calif., for Thanksgiving dinner with Duncan's grandmother when Tod and his brother, Glenn, 4, were playing near the hole which had been dug for a concrete fill to reinforce the foundation of a building. Glenn called his father when Tod fell into the hole, and police and firemen, along with a crew operating a power digger, got Tod out three hours later. Doctors said he appeared to be in good shape. ## Santiam River At Jefferson Hits 21.9 Feet

Portland—UPI—The Weather Bureau's river forecast center today forecast "sharply rising stages" in the main stem of the Willamette from Albany to Oregon City through Saturday.

It also forecast a flow rise of the more sluggish Willamette tributaries heading in the Coast Range during the day today and in the Willamette below Oregon City through Saturday.

Falling stages were forecast for Willamette tributaries heading in the west slopes of the Cascades.

At 9 a.m. today the Willamette at Corvallis was 16.4 feet, a raise of 9.3 feet. Flood stage there is 20 feet. At Albany it was 16.7 feet, a raise of 11 feet.

The Santiam at Jefferson was 21.9 feet today. Flood stage there is 15 feet. At Portland the Willamette was well below the flood stage of 12 feet with a reading of 13.3 feet. The Columbia at Vancouver was 12.7 feet, well under flood stage.

Salem—UPI—Mid-Willamette valley points were bailing water today following heavy rains.

The community of Turner was reported under 2 1/2 feet of water in some places with traffic getting into the town through two routes only. The Stayton-Turner road was under water this morning.

Highway 20 near Cascadia was washed out and police said it could be three or four days before the route is opened.

In Salem, water was being pumped out of the basement at Salem Memorial Hospital.

East of Silverton, logs washed down Silver creek, knocking down trees.

A bridge was knocked out at Silverton on South Water st.

An unconfirmed report at Scio said a car with two girls in it floated off a road. No injuries were reported.

State Highway 51 between Salem and Independence was closed and a number of county roads in Linn county were flooded.

At the Roaring River fish hatchery east of Scio, a log jam and slide above the hatchery cut off fresh water to fish pens for 1 1/2 hours Thursday night, threatening three million fish eggs.

Estacada, Ore.—UPI—About 100 families in this area were to be without their regular water supply sometime today as a result of the main line being washed out early today by flood.

The line, south of the PGE dam, is the old pipe used for the entire area before installation of the new Oregon City pipe. The supply to the families was to be cut off when water already in lines was used.

The break was not to affect Oregon City. The broken line is fed directly from mountain streams. It was not known when the break would be repaired.

Coquille, Ore.—UPI—High water in this area covered Highway 42 between Coquille and Myrtle Point in places today and also blocked the secondary highway to Powers.

No evacuations were reported in this area. The Coquille river was at the 20-foot stage along Highway 42, but it does not cover Highway 101 until it reaches 22 feet.

'Save the Dollar' Mission Will Plead Case in London

British Expected To Turn Down Financial Pleas

London—UPI—U.S. Treasury Secretary Robert Anderson and State Department Undersecretary C. Douglas Dillon arrived here today on the last lap of their thus-far fruitless mission to Europe to "save the dollar."

France and Germany have both rejected U.S. pleas for greater financial support to NATO and help pay the costs to maintain American soldiers in Europe. And Britain is expected to do likewise.

To Cut Down Costs
The purpose of Anderson's mission with other top American officials is to cut down U.S. costs overseas and keep Washington's gold reserve from slipping away.

Informed sources said the French refused to contribute to the costs of maintaining American troops on French soil. The French also turned down an appeal to take over a bigger share of the burden of aid to underdeveloped countries.

Anderson and Dillon arranged to meet today with Chancellor of the Exchequer Selwyn Lloyd at the treasury.

But there were indications that Britain would follow France and Germany in rejecting U.S. pleas for more financial support. The British were expected to argue that this country has gone to the limit of its capabilities in defense contributions.

Next to the United States, Britain claims to carry the largest per-head share in the Western alliance. British officials also maintain they have already extended considerable aid to underdeveloped nations.

However, Britain was likely to back American demands in NATO for a fairer share of the burden by nations which have thus far remained far behind the United States and Britain—notably West Germany.

Highway Crashes Take 147 Lives On Thanksgiving

Chicago—UPI—Accidents on the nation's highways claimed almost 150 lives on Thanksgiving Day and the eve of the holiday.

A United Press International count showed this violent death toll between 6 p.m. Wednesday and midnight Thursday:

Traffic 147.
Fire 25.
Miscellaneous 33.
Total 205.

California reported 16 deaths on the highways during the 30-hour period. Pennsylvania recorded 11, Missouri 9, and New York and Indiana 8 each.

Thirteen states and the District of Columbia reported no traffic fatalities.

No predictions are made by the National Safety Council for highway fatalities during the Thanksgiving holiday, which amounts to a four-day vacation for many persons.

However, the council had said the average toll for a 30-hour Wednesday-Thursday period was 90 dead in traffic.

Several accidents resulted in multiple tragedy. Three hitchhiking soldiers were killed Thursday near Allentown, Pa., when a heavy tractor-trailer overran a car in which the men were riding. Three students from Cornell college, Mount Vernon, Iowa, were killed Wednesday in an auto accident near Dixon, Ill., on the way to their Chicago area homes.

Four Pairs of National Champions Announced by 4-H

Chicago—UPI—Four pairs of national champions were announced today on the eve of the 39th national 4-H Club Congress here.

The winners, all college students, will receive $400 scholarships and silver trays.

About 1,300 4-H members plus hundreds of advisors were expected to compete for a total of $113,000 in prizes during the seven-day event opening Sunday.

The winners included two from Indiana, two from California and one each from Virginia, Kentucky, Missouri and Oklahoma.

Champions Listen
These champions were announced today:

—Leadership: Keith E. Axteel, 18, Bakersfield, Calif., a University of California freshman and previous winner of the state leadership award, and Frances McQueen, 18, Craig, Mo., a University of Missouri freshman and 1959 Missouri home economics winner.

—Public speaking: J. D. "Buddy" Stout, 18, Piedmont, Okla., an Oklahoma State University freshman and 1959 first alternate national winner, and Carolyn Wilkinson, 19, Abingdon, Va., a Madison College sophomore 1959 state all-star member.

—Citizenship: Linda Lou Lukens, 18, Rochester, Ind., an Indiana University sophomore and 1959 national winner in the community relations program, and Parker Ray Blevins, 19, Monticello, Ky., a Berea College sophomore, president of the Kentucky 4-H organization and 1959 state 4-H achievement champion.

—Community relations: John Van Horn, 19, Bakersfield, Calif., a freshman at Bakersfield College who has his own radio show, and Nancy Sue Berkheiser, 18, Rochester, Ind., a college freshman who has had a prize-winning speech recorded in the official proceedings of the United Nations.

Stocks Narrowly Mixed in Routine Early Dealings

New York—UPI—Stocks were narrowly mixed in generally routine first-hour dealings today.

The wider gains were registered by stocks outside those used to compile the averages. Office equipments, some chemicals and aircrafts were in good demand.

Trading dwindled noticeably after the opening. The holiday and the fact that Friday normally is a day of caution were seen as cutting into Street attendance.

Union Carbide Up
Du Pont rose more than a half in the chemicals where Union Carbide added a smaller fraction and Allied around a half.

Seels edged off with Republic among the few steels to register a small advance.

Revol added more than a point and Haveg around 1/2. Addressograph a large fraction. General Dynamics picked up more than 1 in the aircrafts, while Texas Instruments rose around 2 and Shell Oil around a point.

FARMING ERROR
Kansas City—Development of America's great plains was delayed for years by the mistaken idea land without trees would also be worthless for the growing of farm crops.

NEW SALT
New Glasgow, N.S.—A new salt field in Nova Scotia may yield a bacteria-free salt which can be used in Canada's extensive fishing industries.

ONCE WASTED
Dallas—Now a major product, liquefied petroleum gas was considered a waste product by refineries 30 or 40 years ago.

Quotes From the News

BY UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL
Washington—Mrs. J. F. Robinson, night supervisor of Georgetown Hospital, stating the first thing Mrs. John F. Kennedy asked when she awoke from sedation was whether her new baby was well.

"She was real happy (when told the baby was fine), she just smiled and didn't say anything."

Dallas, Tex.—Geron Warren Endsley, 24, who became the father of a boy at the same moment that the Kennedy baby was born, announcing he will name his son John Fitzgerald Endsley.

"I guess we have quite a bit in common, Mr. Kennedy and myself. Boy, I voted for Kennedy, I sure did. Isn't that something!"

New York—Eileen Weiss, 29, a jobless secretary who had been cut off from city relief, explaining she abandoned her two young children in the toy department of Gimbel's because she had no money to care for them.

"My children were the only thing I really had. They were my whole life."

Beverly Hills, Calif.—Actress Joan Caulfield, who was married Thursday to Dr. Robert H. Peterson, disclosing that she and Peterson decided to get married only three days ago.

"I didn't have time to get out the announcements."

Federal Panel To Decide on Negro Students

New Orleans—UPI—A defiant Louisiana Legislature and an uneasy New Orleans citizenry today waited impatiently for a three-judge federal panel to rule on whether the city's public schools could return to racial segregation.

The three-judge court, which includes Judge J. Skelly Wright, the man who ordered integration, has been pondering the case since Monday when the harried school board pleaded for the return to segregation.

Wants To De-Integrate
The board, caught in the middle of a state declaration of interposition, and the adamant Judge Wright, wants to de-integrate until it is determined if the state or federal government will call the shots regarding operation of the schools.

Louisiana's segregationist Legislature has addressed out of office the members of the school board and fired the New Orleans school superintendent. They remain in office because of a federal injunction halting the Legislature from interfering with integration.

Empty Classrooms
Four 6-year-old Negro girls enrolled in two previously all-white schools—William Frantz and McDonogh 19—apparently will return to empty classrooms Monday when school resumes after a week-long Thanksgiving and teacher convention holiday.

Only five white students out of an enrollment of more than 1,000 have been attending the two integrated schools. Irate parents who refuse to permit their children to go to school with Negroes are enrolling them in neighboring St. Bernard Parish county, which is not affected by the federal integration order.

Didn't Have Book
The parents of Ruby Nell Bridges, the lone Negro girl attending the Frantz school, said she did not have a book at the Negro school she attended before transferring.

Her 26-year-old mother, who got only an eighth grade education, said Ruby will remain at Frantz "come what may." She said, "colored schools may be separate but they ain't necessarily equal."

Ruby's father, Abon, 29, was fired from his service station job for sending his daughter to a "white school." He was a corporal in the 45th Infantry Division in Korea and won a Purple Heart when he was wounded "trying to tote a wounded white man out."
