

David Douglas, North Salem In A-1 Grid Finale Tonight

United Press International Spunky David Douglas, the team that has already disposed of both of last year's finalists, and the North Salem Vikings clash in Portland tonight for the Oregon high school class A-1 football championship.

The teams-in the A-1 finals for the first time in the history of the schools-meet at Multnomah Stadium at 8 p.m. The class A-2 title will also be decided tonight with Central of Monmouth-Independence and Myrtle Point, both unbeaten and untied in 11 games this year, scheduled to play at Coos Bay. That game also will start at 8 p.m.

Douglas enters its championship contest with 10 wins and a single loss after upsetting defending state champion Medford 20-14 in last week's semifinals.

The Medford win followed an upset by the Scots against Jefferson, 13-6, in the quarterfinals. Jeff lost to Medford in last year's finals.

North Salem defeated Bend 25-0 and Newberg 28-14 on its way to the finals.

The Vikings have eight wins, two losses and a tie this year.

Douglas' starting backfield will be made up of quarterback Terry DeSylvia, halfbacks Dave Hansen and Bill Pierce and fullback Dan Lambert. For the Vikings, the starting backfield will probably include Bill Mickle at quarterback, Dennis Allen and Vern Smith at halfbacks and Jim Dimit at fullback.

St. Mary's of Medford and Siletz meet at Newport Saturday night for the class B 11-man prep crown.

Woods, Water, Wildlife

By Hank DeVoss

With more and more people with more and more leisure time looking to public lands as the place to do, officials in charge of the public domain are finding it increasingly difficult to provide room and facilities for the constant swarm of recreationists. Now that the concept of multiple-use has penetrated into the functioning policies of most public land agencies, we find that our public lands are threatened with the biggest land grab of them all. And the last, let us hope, VESTED INTERESTS.

about 80 per cent of the fall run of salmon. Opening the river to fishing for the chinook doesn't seem to be doing any harm, they aren't too easy to take in clear water.

APPLAGATE RUN

This will be the first time in four years that the salmon will get up into the river at the time they used to be accustomed to. The Applagate has been rising steadily and should be throwing some mud by now.

THE OPTIMIST'S CORNER

Now that all the local rivers are up and out of shape for any fishing this week end, with the possible exception of the Klamath, all fishermen who have been holding rain dances are asked to please stop the tom-toms. Enough is enough! There is such a thing as overdoing it. Just don't forget the beat or the dance pattern.

GOOD LUCK!

SENATOR GOLDWATER OF ARIZONA, with the support of mining, timber, and livestock interests in the western states, is proposing to push for legislation that will turn over all federal lands to the states that contain them. Conservationists, sportsmen, and recreationists had better beware, because the ultimate purpose of such legislation will be to turn the land over to the vested interests that are supporting the proposed legislation.

NARCE Meeting in Grants Pass Monday

Grants Pass—Local chapters of the National Association of Retired Civil Employees will converge here for a district meeting Tuesday, Nov. 29, beginning at 2 p.m.

Meetings will be held in the old public library building auditorium, between B and C sts., on Fifth st.

Besides the Grants Pass chapter, southern Oregon Chapter 134, and Roseburg Chapter 138, other organizations of federal employees and all retirees have been invited to attend.

The Retired Employees Health Benefits Act of 1960 will be discussed. Discussion will center around types of health plans available, eligibility requirements, government contributions, the time schedule for implementation, and the government-wide health plan, regulations, registration and certification procedures.

Officials of the NARCE and the Bureau of Retirement and Insurance of the Civil Service commission have requested the cooperation of the individual chapters in the implementation of this health benefit act.

CONVENTION TIME

The annual convention held by the Oregon division of the Izaak Walton League of America will open in Salem today. As in past years, the Young Outdoor Oregonians conference will be held in conjunction with the League meeting, with high school youths attending from all over the state. These young men and women are sponsored by the local chapters, and brought to the conference for an interesting two days with all expenses paid.

LOCAL VARIETY

The Jackson county chapter will sponsor three young Oregonians from this area. They are Sharon Terry from Crater high, Sam Oelinger from Medford high, and John Kerns from Phoenix high. Their expenses have been underwritten by Elk Lumber company, Medford Blowpipe company, and the lumbermen's Rogue Valley Hoo-Hoo club No. 94.

PROGRESS

The latest word from the game commission is that Salem Sand and Gravel is hard at work on the outlet facilities at Medco pond. It expects to be finished in a week, but from the looks of the weather, this may be in the nature of overoptimism.

CHASED OUT

The contractor at Illinois falls has already been chased out by high water with the ladder only partially completed. Reports say that it is operating satisfactorily even at that—the salmon look to it like they know what it was for all along. When completed, the ladder will go into operation whenever the river flow exceeds 50 cfs per second, something that may change the fishing migrations into that area.

THE ANGLER'S LOG

The word is that the Rogue is rising slowly, but that word came out before last night's storm. Needless to say, the river will not be fishable for a couple of days, if the sound of the rain meant what I thought it meant. And that goes for the Illinois too. As a matter of fact, most fishermen are going to be picking turkey bones on this week end.

FISH RATIO

The question has been raised as to the number of chinook in the Illinois as compared to the number of silvers. According to the man who knows, up to about ten years ago the silvers outnumbered the chinook, but now the situation is reversed and the chinook in the Illinois comprise

No Intention Of Offending

Minneapolis, Minn.—(UPI)—President O. Meredith Wilson of the University of Minnesota said today the university had no intention of offending anyone by de-affirming its stand against post season football games while accepting an invitation to the Rose Bowl.

The university was one of the Big Ten schools which voted last spring against renewing the Rose Bowl pact. In accepting the bid to play in the Rose Bowl Jan. 2 the university senate reaffirmed its intention to continue to strive for removal of the clause in Big Ten conference regulations permitting schools to play in post-season games.

Wilson, formerly president of the University of Oregon, issued a statement on the matter following reports that the University of Minnesota stand on post-season games was an "offense to Washington and the Athletic Association of Western Universities and to the Rose Bowl officials."

Local Residents To Participate in Eugene Assembly

Eugene—Eric W. Allen Jr., and Frank J. Van Dyke, both of Medford, are scheduled to participate in a four-day session of the Pacific Northwest assembly here beginning Dec. 1.

The assembly is sponsored by the University of Oregon in cooperation with the American assembly at Columbia university, New York. Some 69 prominent leaders in business, communications, education, religion, industry, and labor will meet for discussion of "The Federal Government and Higher Education."

Participants from Oregon, Washington, Idaho, Montana, Utah and Wyoming are to meet in small panel-discussion groups of 20 during the meet. They will exchange ideas on the role of government in education, then gather for a plenary session on fourth day.

President Dwight D. Eisenhower founded the American assembly, of which the Pacific Northwest assembly is a regional branch, in 1950. It is a national, nonpartisan, educational organization which regularly holds national, regional, state, and local meetings.

Cifford C. Nelson, executive vice president of the American assembly, will give the opening address, and Dr. Kenneth Scott Wood, member of the University of Oregon faculty, has been named director for the northwest meet.

Acting President William C. Jones of the UO is chairman for the meeting.

3 New Coaches On Rating Board

New York—(UPI)—Three new coaches will serve on the 1960-61 United Press International basketball coaches rating board, which will begin rating the nation's major collegiate teams weekly for UPI clients after games of Saturday, Dec. 3.

As in the past, five outstanding coaches from each of the seven geographical sections of the country will make up the board. Their weekly ratings have become recognized generally as the most authoritative in college basketball.

The new board members are George King of West Virginia; Howard Dallmar of Stanford, and Bob Feerick of Santa Clara.

King succeeds Fred Schaus, who left West Virginia to coach the Los Angeles Lakers of the National Basketball Association; Dallmar and Feerick take the places on the board formerly occupied by Pete Newell of California and Phil Woolpert of San Francisco.

Humboldt Receives NAIA Bid

Eureka, Calif.—(UPI)—Humboldt State College won its 19th consecutive football game Thursday—and a bid to host the Western playoffs of the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics.

The Lumberjacks made it 10 straight this season by walling Lewis & Clark college, 34-0. Their last defeat was in the 1959 opener to San Francisco State, and they avenged that this season by handling the Gators their only defeat.

NAIA officials in Kansas City announced Thursday night that Humboldt State was asked to host the western playoffs. Coach Phil Sarboe's team will face an opponent yet to be named on Dec. 3.

The winner will advance to the NAIA championship in the Holiday Bowl, St. Petersburg, Fla., on Dec. 10.

Humboldt was the No. 2 team in the final NAIA football poll of the season with impressive victories over all opponents.

By OSCAR FRALEY
United Press International

New York—(UPI)—The avarice of three men with a Midas touch has destroyed forever the myth that baseball is a sport.

They are Del Webb and Dan Topping of the New York Yankees and Walter O'Malley of the Los Angeles Dodgers. They are the "whips" in a tradition-shattering setup under which the game seems certain to function next season.

A setup which makes a mockery of what were thought to be hallowed records and creates a mortuary for baseball as we have known it.

The reasons for this destruction are cold cash and intent to preserve a monopoly.

The Yankees want no opposition in New York, O'Malley wants no opposition in Los Angeles. There, basically, is the reason why the other owners apparently have been whipped into line in a move which makes a mockery of the records and precludes the necessity for such storied by-products as the World Series and the All-Star Game.

Under a proposal submitted by the American league—meaning Webb and Topping—the leagues will operate with nine teams next season. It calls for inter-league play with each team playing 14 games against each league rival and six games against each of the nine teams in the rival league. That's a 168-game schedule in a smashing departure from the traditional 154-game state on which all of baseball's records are founded.

All of this expansion talk evolved from anti-monopoly movements in Congress. They prompted each league to accept two new cities in an "expansion" move which killed the proposed Continental league. The National league planned to move in orderly fashion and accept New York and Houston in 1962.

Then the maneuvering began and you can draw your own conclusions as to whether it was all designed to protect New York for Webb-Topping and Los Angeles for O'Malley.

The American jumped the gun and announced it would go with 10 teams next season, moving Washington to Minneapolis-St. Paul and granting a new franchise in Washington. The second new city, it announced, would be Los Angeles.

Now it had a real club to field against O'Malley, the National League whip.

So the American cogly suggested a nine-team league and inter-league play, with traditional baseball records and formats tossed scornfully out the window.

It would hold off on Los Angeles until 1962, it said, waving a promising year in which anything can happen as a lure in front of O'Malley. But, under the nine-team setup, only Houston or New York could be taken into the National league.

The betting is that it will be Houston—naturally leaving the Yankees uncontested in New York.

The National league has until Dec. 5 to accept it will.

The competition has been killed off. The monopoly stands.

National Title Goes To Bobcats

New York—(UPI)—The Ohio university Bobcats, with a perfect 10-0 record that included a key victory over last year's champions, today were hailed as the 1950 national small college football champions by the United Press International board of coaches.

The board, composed of 47 small-college coaches throughout the nation, rated Bowling Green of Ohio, the defending national champion which lost a 14-7 decision to the Bobcats, No. 2 in the country and unbeaten Lenoir-Rhyne of North Carolina a close No. 3.

Wife, 44, Held for Mate Delinquency

San Diego, Calif.—(UPI)—Sheriff's deputies today held a 44-year-old mother of 10 on charges she contributed to the delinquency of her 16-year-old husband.

Sheriff's Sgt. Robert Majors said Mrs. Elizabeth Young and her husband, Robert Buchanan, insisted their Oct. 28 marriage in Tijuana, Mexico, was based on "true love."

Majors said the woman, married twice before, was expecting a child by Buchanan. The baby will be her 11th child. The teenage husband was taken to Juvenile Hall pending further proceedings.

Officers said Mrs. Young told them the marriage license was to be mailed from Tijuana, but had not arrived yet. She thus was booked under the name Young rather than Buchanan.

The couple was taken into custody Thursday by officers who acted on an anonymous telephone tip.
