

24 Attorneys from County Named on Bar Committees

Portland—Some 24 Jackson county attorneys have been named to serve on committees of the Oregon State Bar for 1960-61, it was announced last week.

Medford attorneys and their committee assignments include Anthony E. Piazza and Otto Frohnmayer, probate law and procedure; John R. Dellenbach and Carl M. Brophy, board of bar examiners; J. V. McGoodwin and Russell W. DeForest, family and juvenile law; McGoodwin, civil rights; Edward Branchfield, lawyer placement and creditors' indemnity fund.

Cliff D. Ouellette, corporation law; Robert Boyer, creditors, rights; William V. Deatherage, criminal law and procedure; Donald Hansen, unauthorized practice and economics of law practice; Kenneth J. Denman, disciplinary rules and procedure; Frank J. Van Dyke, Oregon State Bar and judicial administration; H. Dewey Wilson, law revision; Sam B. Harbison, legal aid.

Others Named
 Manville M. Heisel, legal assistance to servicemen; Robert D. Heffernan, world peace through law, and legal ethics; Robert B. Duncan, committee on legislation; Ronald L. Ricketts, minor courts and traffic courts; Joel B. Reeder, municipal law; George M. Robberis, necrology; William E. Duhaime, Law Day—USA; Philip B. Lowry, standards and admissions.

Ashland attorney Richard C. Cottle was also named to the committee on municipal law.

In addition, G. W. Kellington of Medford, a member of the board of governors, has been assigned the assessments, corporation law, taxation, and the uniform state laws and welfare committees. Each member of the board is assigned responsibility for several committees.

The Oregon State Bar has some 47 standing committees, according to Dean F. Bryson, Portland, president of the organization.

Plans Announced For Cafe Remodeling

Ashland—Charles and Louise Walters, new owners of the Palace Cafe, 171 East Main st., Ashland, last week announced plans for opening a dining room in the adjacent building, occupied for the past five years by McCarley's newsstand and soda fountain.

The Walters bought the Palace from Virgil Jackson two months ago. Work on remodeling is expected to start sometime after Jan. 1.

Walters has been in the restaurant business in Ashland since 1944 when, for several years he was associated with Mrs. Delores (Skip) Guise in the Plaza Cafe. Since 1951 he owned and operated the Top Hat Drive-in on Siskiyou Blvd., across from Southern Oregon college campus.

Last week McCarley moved to 161 East Main st., after installing new fixtures and equipment in the store known by many old time Ashlanders as Chipman's Confectionery. He announced that he will feature one of the largest stocks of paper backs in the state in addition to magazines, newspapers, hobby supplies and candies.

SWORN INTO NAVY

Recently sworn into the Navy at Portland were Stephen Eric Swanson, son of Mrs. Adelaide Spencer, 619 Roan st.; Ashland; Lawrence Carl Rone, son of Mrs. Lucille Allen, Shady Cove; and Larry David Looper, son of Mr. and Mrs. Otha W. Looper, 5885 Crater Lake highway, Medford. The recruits are now undergoing basic recruit training at the Naval training center, San Diego, Calif.

Civil Service Jobs Available in Areas

Civil service commission officials have announced examinations for filling positions such as radio operator, clerk, management analyst, budget analyst or budget officer, internal revenue agent, juvenile officer, engineer, physicist, metallurgist, and medical radiology technician.

The positions are open in Florida, Washington, D.C., and points in Alaska. Deadline for application is mid-December.

Wood Constructed Homes Withstand Donna's Force

Homes constructed of wood withstood the tremendous force of Hurricane Donna, which struck the Florida coast last summer, better than homes built of competing materials.

One report described concrete block and masonry homes, that were in the path of the hurricane as nothing but "piles of strewn rubble." Aluminum siding, also, was battered beyond use as were aluminum doors and windows, the association noted.

But, wood siding in the same area, although damaged, could be restored to use and proper appearance with "a few patches and a paint job," according to the association.

Homes using plywood sheets to cover openings were heavily damaged, however, because the force of the wind tore open the plywood and left the homes exposed to the full force of the hurricane.

But most of the homes boarded with lumber remained securely covered, since the cracks between the boards helped to relieve the pressure of the wind.

Generally, the officials conclude, wood frame houses, well anchored to solid wood foundations, rode out the storm with a minimum of damage.
