

National Leaguers Reject Interloop Play Proposition

Louisville, Ky. — (UPI) — The American league is stuck. And there were no more sorry spectacle than the grim group of American leaguers who stood around hotel headquarters of the baseball meetings today vainly trying to work their way out of the expansion pickle they now are in.

National league in their compromise nine-team, inter-league play proposal, AL officials conceded in blunt but scrubbed-up language that they must now fish or cut bait. "You might say several possibilities are open to us," said one disgruntled American leaguer. "And you can also say that which ever possibility turns out to be the most reasonable will be the one we won't follow." Ridiculed and poked fun at from all sides because of their fumbling efforts to put a 10-club structure into operation by 1961, some American league officials even were going so far as to say they deserved the public humiliation they are suffering.

Waltonians Recommend More Escapes for Deer On Howard Prairie Canal

Salem — (UPI) — The Oregon Division of the Izaak Walton League of America Saturday approved 18 resolutions including one calling for a longer closure of the commercial salmon fishing season on the Columbia river next summer to allow more fish to escape to spawning beds upstream.

A resolution backing merger of the state fish and game commissions was voted down. But the league earlier went on record favoring the move so its position is no changed. Other recommendations: —More federal money for sewage treatment to "assure a constructive pollution abatement program" in Oregon.

The league recommended a closure in 1961 from 6 p.m. Friday, July 7, to 12 noon on Aug. 7.

—State and federal laws putting responsibility for full determination of safety of pesticides on the manufacturer and liability for proper application on the user.

The league estimates this would permit another 50,000 steelhead to escape above Bonneville Dam. The recommended closure amounts to about 18 days longer than in 1960. Dates for the closure will be determined in mid-January at a joint public hearing by the Oregon Fish Commission and Washington Fisheries department. Tentatively, the meeting has been set for Vancouver, Wash.

—Accelerated action by state fish or game officials to control seals in coastal streams due to loss of fish. —A state law to require minimum safety requirements for those 18 and under before they can get a hunting license.

—More escape devices for deer on the Howard Prairie delivery canal on the Talent irrigation project.

—A resolution urging the president, congress, and secretaries of interior and agriculture to assure that their subordinate officials not appointed under civil service are named on the basis of "proven professional competence in scientific natural resources management as well as administrative ability without reference to party affiliation." The resolution asks the same for appointments to department heads.

Support of recommendations of the Legislative Interim committee on Natural Resources include one calling for creation of a state recreation department and consolidation of the hydroelectric commission and state engineer with the State Water Resources board.

General Manager Frank Lane of the Cleveland Indians, however, feels the AL will go through with its announced intention of having or placing a team in Los Angeles next season despite the objection of Dodger owner Walter O'Malley and other NL officials.

Lane thinks this will be accomplished by changing rule 1, which covers expansion procedure. Commissioner Ford Frick already has called a meeting in New York Wednesday with league presidents Warren Giles and Joe Cronin for the purpose of drawing up a rule.

Stilt Sparkles In Tussle at LA

United Press International Big Wilt Chamberlain made his first appearance for the National Basketball association season Sunday night in Los Angeles and gave a patient crowd of 10,706 something to be happy — and sad.

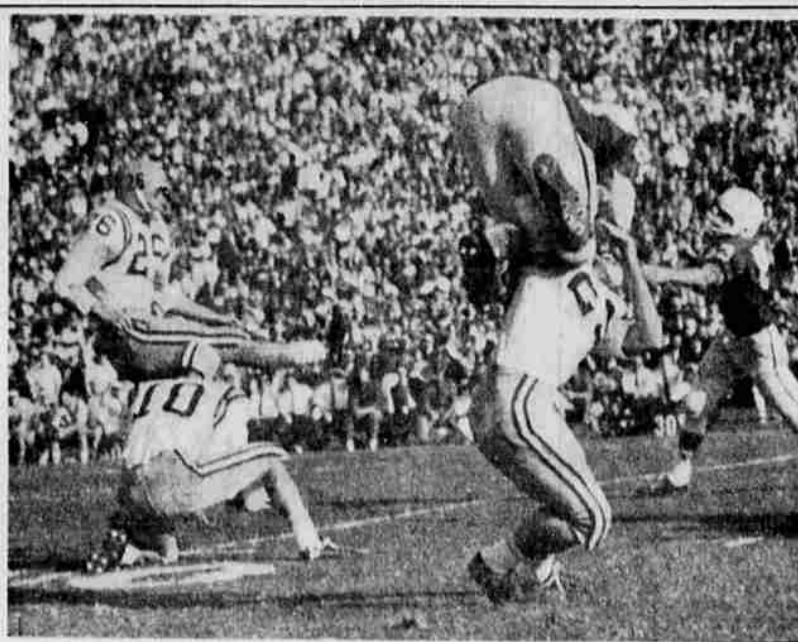

The Philadelphia Warriors star turned in a dazzling performance by scoring 41 points and snagging 27 rebounds that had the partisan Los Angeles Lakers fans spellbound.

The only rub for Lakers fans was that Chamberlain's high-scoring performance led the visitors to a 113-106 victory over the home team — after fans had waited an hour and a half for the game to start because the Warriors had transportation troubles and were late in arriving from Philadelphia.

The 35 famous coaches comprising the UPI board gave Ohio State 347 points out of a possible 350 in their pre-season ratings.

That cracked the previous pre-season record of 345 points set by Kentucky in the advance ratings for the 1951-52 season. And it was only one point shy of the all-time record for any weekly ratings since the board began ranking the

In the only other NBA game Sunday night, the New York Knickerbockers beat the Cincinnati Royals 122-118 in overtime in Cincinnati despite a 42-point performance by the Royals' Oscar Robertson.

Arnold Palmer Shatters Mark

Mobile, Ala. — (UPI) — Top prize money in the Mobile-Sertoma PGA Open boosted Arnold Palmer's 1960 earnings today to a record yield for a year's play on the professional golfing circuit.

The 31-year-old fireball from Ligonier, Pa., in one of his characteristic blazing finishes, won the $15,000 Mobile Open Sunday and took the champion's share of $2,000. This brought his earnings for the year to $73,718.19, nearly $900 above the PGA money-winning record set in 1956 by Ted Kroll.

Fixed 7 Under Par
Palmer, recently voted golf's man of the year, fired a seven-under-par 65 in the closing round for a 72-hole total of 274, two strokes better than Johnny Pott of Shreveport, La., a co-leader in the second and third rounds with Freddy Haas of New Orleans. Palmer's total was 14 under par.
