

AT NEWS CONFERENCE—President-elect John F. Kennedy and Rep. Stewart L. Udall, right, answer questions at a joint news conference in New York. Kennedy named Udall as Secretary of the Interior and said he would bring "vigor and imagination" to the post.

Udall Receives Nod For Interior Post

New York (UPI)—President-elect John F. Kennedy today named Rep. Stewart L. Udall, 40, of Arizona, as secretary of interior and said he expects to name the important post of secretary of state shortly.

Kennedy said he had not decided yet whether his brother, Robert, who has been reported in line for attorney general, would join the Kennedy administration.

The president-elect said the job of secretary of state, like that of the secretaries of treasury and defense, was an important one and he wanted to "render the best judgment possible."

"I hope that will be shortly," Kennedy said.

Udall met with Kennedy in the Carlyle Hotel before they held a joint news conference to announce Udall's appointment.

Conference with Dag
Earlier, Kennedy had spent 90 minutes in a breakfast conference with U.N. Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold for an extended private discussion of international conditions.

Kennedy called Udall "an authority in the field of conservation and natural resources" and praised his record in Congress as outstanding.

Changes To Keep Hospital Open Planned

(Editor's note: This is the second in a series of three articles on the story of Sacred Heart hospital, Medford - its history, its problem of keeping in operation, and possible solutions to the problem.)

By GREG NOKES
Mail Tribune Staff Writer
The Sacred Heart story is, in part, the story of an aging institution struggling against the elements of time. But it is also the story of 150 hospital employees, each doing his part to provide Medford and the Rogue valley with the best possible hospital services.

The jobs being done by these employees are as different as night and day. Com-

In yesterday's story on Sacred Heart hospital - the first in this series of three - there was a typographical error in the last paragraph which changed the entire meaning of the paragraph. It read, "the people of the valley . . . should not be largely responsible for keeping it (the hospital) here." It should have read, "should now be largely responsible for keeping it here."

pare the nurse and the maintenance man, or the cook and the pathologist. Each is an integral part of the Sacred Heart story.

When Mother Judith, provincial superior of the Sisters of Providence, last month reversed an earlier decision and announced that Sacred Heart hospital would remain open, she said that a number of changes would be made to ensure the hospital's continued operation in the valley.

Determined Effort
Perhaps the most important of these changes was to be a determined effort on the part of the Sisters to make the public aware of the functions of the hospital and some of the problems it faces.

Mother Judith directed Sister John of the Cross, assistant administrator of St. Vincent's hospital in Portland, to come to Medford and coordinate this effort.

Among Sister John's activities while in Medford, was a talk Monday at the Medford Chamber of Commerce roundtable luncheon. She told the group that "we have failed miserably to let the public know exactly what we are doing."

Autopsy Shows Suffocation
An autopsy indicated that Harold Von Stein Jr., 35, died of suffocation yesterday morning in a fire in the one-room residence he occupied at the rear of 36 North Peach st., city firemen reported today.

Smoke was observed coming from the small apartment by William Berheimer. He was making a delivery for Pierce Freight lines to Forbes Brothers storage quarters next door. Berheimer asked a neighbor to turn in the alarm.

Firemen found the door locked and windows closed. They gained entry by forcing the door. Von Stein was found lying on the bed. He was pronounced dead on arrival of the coroner.

Corvallis District Voters Show Apathy
Corvallis - (UPI) - Of some 2000 voters in the Corvallis Rural Fire District, only five turned out this week to elect a new board member.

The five were the president and secretary of the board and the three election board members.

They gave S. E. Gruver a unanimous vote.

Salem - (UPI) - State highway Engineer W. C. Williams has announced that a joint meeting of the legislative highway interim committee and the state highway commission will be held at 10 a.m. Thursday.

Auction Planned by Medford Police
Residents interested in purchasing unclaimed articles which have been turned in to the Medford city police department may view them Thursday afternoon at the police storage building at the municipal airport.

Police Services Lt. Rollie Pean will be at the building from 1 to 4 p.m. Thursday. The auction will be held at the same building Friday, Dec. 9, at 10 a.m.

REMOVE TREE—Linebaugh Brothers Tree Service crews yesterday removed this white oak tree from the roof of the home owned by Gertha Lane, 714 South Oakdale ave., Medford. The tree, estimated by Linebaugh Brothers to be about 400 years old, fell across the house roof, damaging the roof, wall and windows. ## Interpretations Differ on Expense Filing Regulation

District Attorney-elect Alan Holmes has a different interpretation of an Oregon law than some other officials.

He did not file a report of his election expenses with the secretary of state's office in Salem, but filed them with the county elections department instead.

He said today that he has written Jack Thompson, state director of elections, suggesting that if Thompson wants, he can obtain his election expense report from the county elections department.

President Orders Peace Patrol Halt
Washington - (UPI) - President Eisenhower today ordered U.S. warships and planes withdrawn from a peace patrol designed to protect Guatemala and Nicaragua from possible invasion.

The President acted after the governments of the two Central American republics informed him the "emergency" had passed. They originally requested the patrol.

Eisenhower reacted Nov. 17 by instructing the Navy to protect Guatemala and Nicaragua from any Communist-directed attack. The move amounted to a blunt warning to Cuban Premier Fidel Castro to keep hands off his Caribbean neighbors.

File Expenses
"Mr. Holmes filed his primary election expenses with the secretary of state. I don't see how the general election would be any different," Madden said. "However, we will mail Mr. Holmes' election expenses to the secretary of state's office for him."

Holmes' election opponent, Democrat Gerald Scanell, filed his expense report with the secretary of state. Holmes was the Republican candidate. His expense report to the county clerk listed expenses of $28.60, including $20.45 to the Monarch Match company, $3.65 to the Oregon, Nevada, California Freight lines, and $4.50 to the Mail Tribune.

The law covering election expense filings states:
Sworn Statement
"Every candidate shall file with the secretary of state, within 15 days after the election at which he was a candidate, an itemized sworn statement, or, in the case of candidates for the county and district or precinct offices with-

Zorin Chooses To Preside Over Debate on Congo

Resolution To Ask Red Cross Interview
United Nations, N.Y. - (UPI) - Soviet Ambassador Valerian A. Zorin today rejected a U.S. proposal that he step down as president of the Security Council while it debates Russia's demand for the restoration of ousted leftist Premier Patrice Lumumba in the Congo.

U.S. Ambassador James J. Wadsworth proposed, at the start of a council meeting called by Russia as an aftermath of Lumumba's arrest by troops of Congolese strongman Col. Joseph Mobutu, that Zorin relinquish the chair.

Zorin declared that the rules of procedure left it to the council president to decide whether he should preside.

Resolution Planned
As the Security Council met to hear Soviet charges that the United States was stirring up trouble in the Congo, it was learned that the United States, Britain, Italy, and Argentina planned to introduce a resolution asking that the Red Cross be permitted to interview prisoners in the new African nation.

The resolution also will declare that any violation of human rights in the Congo is inconsistent with the principles of the U.N. The measure is worded to counter charges that Lumumba has been tortured.

Wadsworth said Zorin had taken part in Soviet efforts to wreck the U.N. program in the Congo.

Wadsworth recalled a Soviet statement issued by Zorin Tuesday in which he branded Western President Joseph Kasavubu as a traitor, accused the United States of seeking to "liquidate" the pro-Lumumba Congolese parliament and called Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold a "tool of aggressors and colonialists."

Contribution Refused
The Soviet Union, Wadsworth said, had tried to destroy the U.N. Congo effort by sending military supplies to the country in violation of Security Council orders. It had refused to contribute to the upkeep of the U.N. Congo force just as it has also refused to pay any of the costs of the U.N. emergency force on duty in the Middle East.

Zorin broke in to tell Wadsworth he was out of order. But the U.S. ambassador continued with his argument.

Hammarskjold planned to go before the council for a defense of his Congo policy which has been under attack by the Soviet Union since the U.N. intervened in the troubled African country.

World Gets First Photographic Look At Atom Bombs Dropped Over Japan
Washington - (UPI) - At 8:14 a.m. on Aug. 6, 1945, a lone American B29, the "Enola Gay," dropped on Hiroshima, Japan, a single black bomb 120 inches long, 28 inches in diameter, weighing 9,000 pounds.

It was nicknamed "Fat Man."
It killed 70,000 Japanese and maimed 70,000 others.

For the next 15 years the world did not know what that first atomic bomb dropped in war looked like—the bomb that hastened the end of World War II and opened a new era of hope and horror.

Model T Types
But now the Hiroshima bomb and the slightly different "Fat Man" bomb that killed 36,000 persons in Nagasaki three days later are "Model T" types compared to the later nuclear death weapons.

So, Tuesday—the eve of the 19th anniversary of the sneak Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor—the defense Department and Atomic Energy Commission, with reluctant State Department agreement, released the first photographs of the type of bombs dropped on Japan.

The pictures disclosed that the awesome weapons were not elaborate constructions from the pages of science fiction. Rather, they looked much like ordinary fin-tailed bombs.

Weigh Fifth as Much
The statistics revealed that modern American nuclear missile warheads weigh only one-fifth as much but release 150 times the explosive power of the Hiroshima-Nagasaki bombs.

Officials said the photos of the Hiroshima and Nagasaki bombs had been kept secret for the past 15 years because of fears of possible diplomatic repercussions, particularly in Japan, now a U.S. ally.

A Pentagon source said the pictures have had no military value for years.
