Boy Bitten - Willard Earl Riesberg, 1021 Alta st., notified city police Tuesday afternoon that his son, Ronald Earl Riesberg, 6, was bitten on the left arm by a stray dog while playing in the yard at 948 Alta st. Police took the dog to the pound since no owner was located for it.

Interpretations On Expense Filings Differ

(Continued from Page 1) Thompson said in Salem this morning that "filing with the county clerk does not satisfy requirement of the law" for district attorney candidates. He said filings must be made with the state. Thompson added, however, that if Madden forwards Holmes' filing and if it is in order he will accept it. No action planned. No action against Holmes is planned, Thompson said, but he added that he will not send Holmes his certificate of election until the expense filing is received in Salem. "If a candidate is making some effort to file a campaign report, we don't turn this information (lateness) over to the authorities. But if a candidate makes no effort, the law requires the secretary of state to turn the matter over to the appropriate district attorney for action. In the case of an elected district attorney, the information goes to the state attorney general. Circuit court determines if the fine is merited," Thompson said.

The Holmes for district attorney committee filled contributions to a total $1,114. Main contributors included Joe Brooks, $50; Central Republican Committee, $100; Courtesy Chevrolet, $100; Republican Fund raising dinner, $50; Wayne Chase, $100; Republican Women's club $50; Chris Schempp, $100; Jackson County Central committee, $75; Carl Bismark, $134; James Vargo, $100; and Stanley C. Jones Jr., $100. Chief expenditures of this money were: Markel Advertising for bumper stickers, $146.65; KYJC radio, $75.40; KBOY, $78; K.M.E.D., $87; KBES-TV, $184; KWLN, $66; Medford Printing company, $105; Ashland Printing company, $56.10.

Youths Admit Part In Warehouse Fire

Cottage Grove—UPI—Three young boys Tuesday admitted entering the Cottage Grove Manufacturing Co. on the evening of Nov. 29 when the building was destroyed by fire, police said. The fire caused an estimated $50,000 damage. Authorities said the boys were using railroad type flares in a search for discarded pop bottles in the building and that a spark from one of the flares apparently dropped unnoticed into combustible material believed to be sawdust. Representatives of the Cottage Grove fire department and the Oregon State police, who conducted the fire investigation, stressed that the boys did not purposely set fire to the building.

GETS BENTON POST Corvallis—UPI—Dr. W. L. Van Loan, former superintendent of the Corvallis school district, and now professor of education at Oregon State college, has been appointed superintendent of Benton county schools on a part time basis.

White Attendance At New Orleans School Dips to 19

New Orleans—UPI—White attendance at an integrated school slipped to 19 today despite a heavy police guard that muzzled angry housewives. After more than two weeks of screams, curses, and stonings, the silence at William Frantz Elementary School today was startling. Despite the heaviest police precautions since violence broke out in the first week of integration, white attendance dropped from 23 to 19, plus Ruby Nell Bridges, the lone Negro girl in the school. Police kept up their barricades a block away from the school. About 20 white women standing on a lawn across the street from Frantz said police let them stay there only if they didn't yell. Not one white student showed up at McDonogh 19, the other integrated school, where three Negro girls are attending. Patrolmen kept watch through the night over the homes of John Gabrielle, who was harassed out of his job as a meter reader, and the Rev. Andrew Foreman, a Methodist minister, after the homes were damaged in reprisal for their daughters' going to school with a Negro. The FBI was reported called in to investigate a threatening letter sent to the Rev. Mr. Foreman, whose 5-year-old daughter Pamela Lynn attends newly integrated William Frantz School. Foreman's secretary said he took the letter to the FBI, but the bureau's agent in charge said "all I can tell you is we've conducted certain inquiries at the request of the Justice Department."

The envelope was reported to have contained a man's picture with the inscription that the man pictured was out to get Foreman. Angry women stoned the Gabrielle apartment Tuesday night, smashing windows and roughing up a woman reporter who took gifts in to the family. Gabrielle said he quit his $230-a-month job with the city because he was suddenly put on widely differing shifts and "the men at work didn't want anything to do with me." The new upsurge of segregationist bitterness came as the white attendance hit 23 at Frantz Tuesday—highest since the second day of integration when the boycott was called and a mob of teen-agers tried to storm the other integrated school, McDonogh 19. The McDonogh boycott remained complete. Three Negro girls had the building to themselves Tuesday, as they have since the boycott hit its stride weeks ago. Police were on the scene after dark Tuesday night when the Gabrielle apartment was stoned, but were unable to prevent the stoning or the pummeling of Isabella Taves, feature writer for Good Housekeeping. She went into the Gabrielle home with gifts, and when she came out a gang of women kicked her in the skins and manhandled her before she sped away in a cab.
