

Udall, Seaton In Get-Together

Washington—(UPI)—Rep. Stuart Udall, newly named interior secretary in the Kennedy administration, had a friendly get-together Thursday with the man he will succeed—Fred A. Seaton.

Udall, an Arizona Democrat, conferred with Seaton at a private lunch meeting. He then talked with newsmen for 30 minutes but declined to commit himself on any major policy questions at this time.

"The secretary and I are good friends," Udall said. "We discussed a great many things. He gave me a lot of good advice... He was more than generous in offering assistance during the transition period. I do appreciate it."

"At Thanksgiving, we join together to express our thanks as a nation for the divine guidance and bounty that is ours to share and enjoy.

"May your observance of the day in the traditional manner be one of enjoyment and thanksgiving," Henry C. Herzog, Manager.

On each tray, this cheering greeting met the eye, together with roast turkey, sauerkraut dressing - giblet gravy, candied sweet potatoes, buttered frozen succotash, cranberry sauce - ripe olives; celery curls, hot rolls - whipper; pumpkin pie with butter cream; coffee - cream - milk; fruit plate and candies.

On closer inspection, it was found the VFW auxiliary, Department of Oregon, had furnished the Menu Cards, upon which the manager's greeting to the men was inscribed.

The courtesy of the VFW, and thoughtfulness of the manager, brought forth a great deal of pleased comment from members of the domiciliary.

Looking at the big velvet rope, which promises something splendid to those who enter when it is unhooked, your curiosity is aroused about the new addition to the coffee shop.

Here, like Ye Olde London Coffee Houses, men sit, and settle the problems of the world. As you come in you are struck with the atmosphere which is light and gay, built with windows on three sides, like an enormous solarium.

Its soft green walls make a perfect background for the sunshine yellow and green chairs. The booth seats are deep and comfortable, conducive to reminiscing over a cup of coffee, or chattering with a friend.

Charles Reynolds, a tall man with a top coat, came striding in out of the rain. He took one look around. "I think it is the cat's whiskers," Mr. Reynolds said.

"I think it's very nice myself," Robert Stryler said, looking up from a table where he sat. "It makes so much more room - more than we used to have." He wore braces but used to be a builder.

"He thought for a moment. "The new building is nice, the furniture and lighting makes the place gay and cheerful."

Mr. Stryler thought the matter over more carefully, as he looked around. "Every brick in this new structure must have cost not less than 12 cents a piece."

Hyman Zwick, wearing an artificial limb, sat at another table, and made no comment until he was asked. "It's an improvement," he said.

Color-Scheme Contrasts "I like the floor," Ben Gaspin said. "It doesn't hurt your eyes." He further explained how the new addition to the coffee shop had at least six tones of color-scheme contrasts, which made them blend in, and effect a pleasing result.

At this point of the favorable comment, two younger veterans, late of Palo Alto, strode in with pomp and ceremony. They are known as "Damon and Pythias," and usually agree with one another. It was a surprise to see how their opinions clashed on the beautiful new addition to the coffee shop.

Damon spoke first. "I think it's money thrown away," he observed with a critical eye. "Look at the people who come in here!" he urged, "why don't they go somewhere else?"

Pythias asked him what would have been better? "Long tables with stools," Damon replied, without a moment's hesitation.

"Too Many Tables" "You're wrong there," his partner in morning coffee, argued. "You don't know what you are talking about." Pythias finally exploded, "there is too many long tables with stools here now."

The altercation raged. The two friends could not agree. They went out at last together, as firmly fixed as ever, in their separate beliefs. Pythias was for the new coffee shop addition, and Damon was incensed at the money that had been spent - for nothing!

The tables in the center of the room also boast of colorful chairs but these are often pushed aside - to make room for the wheelchair members who like to gather too. The whole place has a dash of modern look like many of the new establishments in the city.

Many men here get away from the domiciliary very seldom. In fact many wheelchair members have not been away for years. And this is one way in which a little bit of the outside world is brought to them, so they too, can feel up to date.

Pickin' Pears News and Notes From Camp White

By WALTER TOWNSEND On the Thanksgiving Menu at the VA Domiciliary, White City, came the following message to nearly a thousand members:

"Thanksgiving Day Greetings 1960. Throughout the year, each of us gives thanks in his own way for special gifts and blessings that may come to us.

"At Thanksgiving, we join together to express our thanks as a nation for the divine guidance and bounty that is ours to share and enjoy.

On So. Oregon's Most Talked About Hilltop

We have just listed Southern Oregon's most talked about hilltop.

There are 10 acres on the hilltop with a comfortable 3 bedroom home that is just 13 years old on the very top of the hill. You can sell off a few building sites lower on the hillside and end up with your home on an acre on the very tip top, almost for free. And if you are a good promoter you could end up with your hilltop home free and a profit besides.

The full price for the 10 acres is surprisingly low, and you can buy it on very reasonable terms.

It is worth a trip up to see the view from this famous hilltop, even if you are satisfied in the home you own now. Come on down and let us show you.

3 BEDROOMS, SEPARATE DINING ROOM 22 FT. FAMILY ROOM

Supersize Lot—Shade Trees

You can buy this large home for a low down payment and assume the existing F.H.A. loan. No long waiting to process a loan. You can be moved in and settled for Christmas.

This 7 year old home is set in the middle of the large lot with wide expanses of green lawn on either side. No close neighbors here. Lots of choice roses and 2 big shade trees.

The lot is a large one (over 1/2 of an acre) and the soil is rich and grows super gardens. Plenty of room here for that family of yours. And plenty of room to park your boat or trailer.

This pleasant home is vacant and you can move in now. Best of all, it is only 2 1/2 blocks to the new Wilson School, with no busy streets to cross.

You can trade in a late model car, or a house trailer (paid for or not) a good boat and motor, or a contract or mortgage as the down payment and closing costs. No cash necessary.

You are sure to like the place and the terms couldn't be more liberal, so come on down right now.

WORKING MAN'S SPECIAL

3 BEDROOMS, GUEST HOUSE $7,250

If your family needs a lot of room and you can't make big monthly payments you should see this 15 year old home.

This home place was built 15 years ago for a parsonage. It is well built and has many nice features about it, that you will like.

It is dirty and needs painting, but it is a handy location for a working man and the monthly payments of only $65.00 per month will help to stretch your budget.

What we wonder is why anyone will pay rent when they can buy a big comfortable home of their own with payments of only $65.00 per month.

Better call us right away before some other Thrifty Buyer beats you to it.

Telephone Almanac Is Now Available

The Telephone Almanac for 1961 is now available without charge in Pacific Telephone Northwest's Medford business office, according to Manager J. H. Creager.

"First in Fast Communication" are featured in the Almanac for 1961. Ancient Persian runners, the Overland Express, messages carried by gas-filled balloons, the undersea telegraph cable in 1866 and today's satellite communication program and proposals are some of the firsts in speeding words and speech described in the new issue.

The 39th edition of the Almanac contains the customary "information for farmers, businessmen, housewives, students and other telephone users" as the title page states.
