

EP Tussles Redmond, Prineville

Eagle Point - Three Eagle Point high-basketball regulars and one player who has just joined the squad likely will see just limited action tonight and Saturday on the central Oregon jaunt of the Eagles.

EP will be at Prineville this evening and at Redmond on Saturday.

Alling regulars are Ron Greb, sidelined by flu for two practice days, Mike Palm, who missed one workout because of a cold and Tom Perdue who ruptured a blood vessel in his leg.

Coach Dale Bates reported that Ron Weidman, who suffered a hip fracture in football now has doctor's okay to play basketball and is making the trip. He has been working out lightly.

Ball Handling
Bates said that the Eagles have emphasized ball handling, since they have lost the ball too much in games so far. He expressed hope that the club will be able to find the hoop better than in its previous three contests.

The mentor named Palm, Dick Wilson, Charles Pomeroy, Steve Geren and Perdue as possible starters. In addition to players who have been named, Wally West, Bill Morgan, Elvin Hawkins and Denny Chamberlain.

Slated for first action along with Weidman is Morgan, a senior guard, who has been sidelined by a broken toe.

Rams Face GB Packers

Los Angeles - (UPI) - Coach Bob Waterfield hoped today to be able to patch up his injury-ridden squad to present a strong defense to the Green Bay Packers Saturday in a game which means practically nothing to the Rams but everything to the Packers.

With a victory, the Packers (7-4) will have a clear title to first place in the Western conference of the National Football league and a championship playoff with the Philadelphia Eagles.

The Rams (4-6-1) upset the Baltimore Colts 10-3 last Sunday mainly with a great defensive effort but they had half a dozen men racked up.

Defense may be the key to victory or defeat in Saturday's game since the Packers have two of the top running backs in the NFL. Left halfback Paul Hornung, the leading point-maker, and fullback Jim Taylor, are among the league's top six ground-gainers.

Injured Rams
Injured Rams who, though ailing, may play include fullback Joe Marconi, defensive tackle John Baker, linebacker Jack Pardee, and Gene Brito, defensive end, Lou Michaels, who can fill in at defensive end or tackle, also has a bad foot.

Definitely out of the Packers game are offensive end Del Shofner; quarterback Frank Ryan; and tackle John Kenerson.

Shoot Set For Sunday

Hams and bacon, as well as turkeys, will be among the prizes Sunday, Dec. 18, in the pre-Christmas turkey shoot at Medford Gun club.

The club and Medford Elks lodge, sponsors said that visitors are welcome to participate.

Traps will open at 9 a.m. and competition is planned rain or shine. Lunch can be obtained on the grounds.

Proceeds from the shoot will go toward sending a trap-shooting team from the lodge to the Elks state convention.

Braves Get McMillan

By RAY W. DOHERTY

Milwaukee - (UPI) - The Milwaukee Braves today advertised the "best infield in baseball" following their second major trade within 10 days in which they obtained slick fielding shortstop Roy McMillan of the Cincinnati Reds in a three-team deal.

To get McMillan, the National league's top defensive shortstop of the past few seasons, the Braves let loose pitchers Joey Jay and Juan Pizarro, who promised much and never delivered.

The Reds then shuffled Pizarro and Cal McLish to the Chicago White Sox for third baseman Gene Freese. The Braves also got a minor league player from Cincinnati, to be named later.

All Happy
Everyone seemed happy, particularly McMillan, which is in its highest trading mood since moving here from Boston in 1935. A week ago Monday in St. Louis, the Braves gave up four players, including outfielder Billy Brunton, for second baseman Frank Bolling of the Detroit Tigers.

This gives them an infield of Joe Adcock at first, Bolling and McMillan and Eddie Mathews at third.

"We didn't feel we could win a pennant without a better shortstop," said a jubilant John McHale, general manager of the Braves. This meant the shelving of Johnny Logan after nine seasons for use as a utility infielder or as bait in negotiations for a relief pitcher.

Duke's Devils Starting Fast
By DICK JOYCE
United Press International
The Duke Blue Devils, strong finishers last season, are wasting no time getting started this year for the Atlantic Coast conference basketball crown.

Tossing a zone defense at conference rival Clemson and utilizing its superior height along with the shooting of sophomore Art Heyman and Carroll Youngkin, 13th-ranked Duke scored its fifth straight triumph of the campaign, downing the Tigers, 75-58, Thursday night.

It was the second league victory for the Blue Devils, who defeated South Carolina Tuesday.

The Durham, N.C., eagles, who finished fourth in conference play last season - but got hot to win the league's three-day tournament, picked up where they left off last March by tripping Clemson.

Only this time, Coach Vic Bubbas had a pleasant addition in the 6-5 Heyman, who scored 25 points, to his veteran quintet. Youngkin tossed in 22.

VOTE FOR STRIKE
Birmingham, England - (UPI) - The Midland group of English League soccer players voted, 188-12, on Thursday to support a total strike of professional soccer next month.

The southern and northern area players already voted in favor of the walkout unless their demands for removal of the present maximum wage and for more freedom in negotiating contracts are met.

Grapplers Travel To Clackamas

Medford varsity wrestlers will contend Saturday in the Clackamas Invitational tournament at Clackamas high, Milwaukie.

There will be five participating schools with Oregon City and Tillamook competing in addition to Medford, Milwaukie and the host school.

Each school may enter two men in each weight class. Ribbons will go to the first three placers in each weight and a trophy will go to the titular school. The meet will be conducted in sessions starting at 1 p.m. and 6 p.m.

Wrestling for Medford will be Mike Horton, Max Christanson, Jim Spitz, Jerry Pitts, Dennis Brumback, Doug Robertson, Jim Berg, Dan Eddy, Bill Owens, John dePlace, Don Weter, Wayne Field, Steve Minneck, Tim White, Larry Gunn, Bob Rix, Ron Gandee, Al Funston, Chuck Holt and Chuck Shaw with the unlimited choices among Stan Hobbs, Monte Jones and Terry O'Sullivan.

Medford defeated Crater 21 to 13 last night in a jayvee match. Results were:

106-Martin Sharp (M) pinned Dave Stevens (C) 2nd; 115-Tom Richardson (C) dec. Dennis Brumback (M) 6-4; 123-Ray French (M) pinned Bob Garrison (C) 2nd; 136-Bill Owens (M) pinned Charles Shestrene (C) 1st; 156-Dave LaFeve (C) pinned Brad Young (M) 1st; 148-Dan Everham (M) dec. Gary Rosenberger (C) 7-6; unlimited-Ronnie Jones (M) dec. Dave Nally (C) 8-0; unlimited-Howard Manner (C) pinned Larry McCammon (M) 2nd.

A MINIMUM FLOW
The only basis for any optimism felt by a conservationist regarding a water storage project would be that a minimum flow of water be guaranteed to the fishery. The adequacy of this minimum flow determines whether or not this project is desirable. This is yet to be determined on the main stem of the Rogue River. Enough water must be stored to provide a cooling effect which would bring the temperature down below the critical temperatures found in slow, shallow stretches of the Rogue during the summer months. A temperature of 83 degrees is not conducive to a trout or salmon's good health. This is how hot the water of the Rogue gets in the summer-time.

Maris Top AL Slugger

Boston - (UPI) - Roger Maris, who blasted his way to the American league's runs batted in title and Most Valuable Player award, added a third laurel today when he was officially certified as the circuit's leading slugger in 1960.

AL figures announced by President Joe Cronin revealed that the New York Yankee slugger today won his first slugging title with a .581 percentage. Teammate Mickey Mantle ranked second with .558, Roy Sievers of the Chicago White Sox and Harmon Killebrew of the Washington Senators tied for third at .534 and Bill Skowron of the Yankees was fifth with .528.

Maris, acquired from Kansas City in the Yankees' big winter trade, had 499 official at bats and 290 total bases which included 77 singles, 18 doubles, seven triples and 39 homers. Slugging percentages are computed by dividing official at bats into total bases.

Mantle, who beat out Maris for the home run title by one homer, had 527 official at bats and 294 total bases. The total of 79 homers by the pair paced the Yankees to a new AL club record of 193 homers in a season.

Joint Operation Of Team Slated
Honolulu - (UPI) - Dewey Soriano, president of the Pacific Coast Baseball league, Thursday night confirmed a report that Walter E. Cosgriff and Nick Morgan Jr., both of Salt Lake City, will jointly operate the Honolulu franchise next year.

Soriano, who arrived here Thursday with several PCL officials, made the announcement following a press conference at the Hawaiian Village Hotel.

Cosgriff, a banker, is president of the Salt Lake City Bees of the PCL. Morgan is treasurer of the Utah team. It was reported earlier that each man was bidding individually for the now-defunct Sacramento franchise.

With the acquisition of the Honolulu team, Cosgriff and Morgan must sell their holdings in the Salt Lake City team.

Woods, Water, Wildlife

By Hank DeVoss

Local Waltonians and guests were given an up to date picture of the progress of the basin studies last Monday evening in the Red Cross building. The spellbinders were Henry Stewart and Travis Roberts, two gentlemen who believe that the Rogue Basin project will be the turning point in the planning of projects involving the multiple uses of water. Although they did not say this in so many words, one is led to feel optimistic regarding the success of the project. The Rogue will be the first major stream in the country where a storage project will be built with water set aside for use by a fishery in the streams below the project dams.

COPPER SITE
The only part of the project on which the gentlemen could speak with assurance was the Copper site on the Applegate. This reservoir will provide a minimum of 50 to 125 second feet of water to the mouth of the river during the driest months of the year. Since the irrigation water stored behind Copper will be used by farmers in the lower reaches of the river, a greater portion of the Applegate will have an amount of water far in excess of the minimum flow during the summer months. Under proper management, this could be the beginning of a tremendous year-round fishery on this stream.

A MINIMUM FLOW
The only basis for any optimism felt by a conservationist regarding a water storage project would be that a minimum flow of water be guaranteed to the fishery. The adequacy of this minimum flow determines whether or not this project is desirable. This is yet to be determined on the main stem of the Rogue River. Enough water must be stored to provide a cooling effect which would bring the temperature down below the critical temperatures found in slow, shallow stretches of the Rogue during the summer months. A temperature of 83 degrees is not conducive to a trout or salmon's good health. This is how hot the water of the Rogue gets in the summer-time.

GUARANTEED?
One of the biggest and hardest jobs to be done will be that of convincing the farmers, and others, that water stored for a fishery must be left in the stream to be used by that fishery. When people realize that fish and water in combination in a stream are worth a great deal of money, then there will be no problem of a guarantee. But until that time there will be a great danger that people will try to appropriate for their own use, that water, cool and clear, which is for the exclusive use of the fish. It will come, but there will be those who will never recognize it.

A FIASCO
Those who were interested in the 28 deer carcasses under a load of Christmas trees will be interested in a sequel to the story. After the fine was imposed, the deer, trees and truck were returned to the driver and he returned to the residence of the Indian who supposedly had shot the deer. Sometime later they started out for the packing plant in San Francisco where the deer supposedly were to be sugar cured. The Oregon State Police kept track of them to the California line and then turned the watch over to the California Highway Patrol who followed them down to San Francisco.

The plan was to catch the packer and the poachers when the deer were brought to the packing plant. The plan backfired when someone got eager and went in to search the plant before the culprits arrived with the deer. The packer got wise and would not accept the deer when they finally arrived. Undoubtedly the packer supplies venison to some very fancy eating places in San Francisco, but in this case his complicity with the poachers was not established. Too bad!

A CALAMITY
One to top them all is the case of the guilty poacher in Grants Pass. The man was stopped and his pickup was found to contain a rifle together with blood and deer hair on the floor. Investigation revealed that in a freezer in his father-in-law's home there was between 400 and 500 pounds of fresh venison. The man's story was that he had shot the deer in Idaho but his unused Idaho deer tags made him a liar. He pleaded guilty and was fined $15. Then he was told to give away all but 40 pounds of the meat. One might wonder just what the judge was thinking of. It certainly wasn't law! And you can bet that interested groups and individuals are going to make inquiry as to this particular brand of justice.

THE ANGLER'S LOG
According to the weatherman, there is some rain headed our way that may be just what we need to get the winter fish started up the rivers. The change to warmer won't last, but it may be enough to really start the fish moving. The water temperature of 37 degrees last week end wasn't conducive to red-hot fishing. Some fish were caught, but it took a fine touch to know a fish from a rock.

Rogue River - Has been slowing up. The fish haven't been moving. One might wonder just what the judge was thinking of. It certainly wasn't law! And you can bet that interested groups and individuals are going to make inquiry as to this particular brand of justice.

CHEROKEE RIVER - Has been slow. An occasional fish for the persistent angler. The Christmas run is down at the mouth and may make it on time.

SMITH RIVER - Has yielded fish through the week. People still are catching salmon and keeping them. It's time for the Christmas rush and the rains may bring it.

CHEROKEE RIVER - Reports of some hot fishing in this river. Steelhead are moving in and are available. Fish the bottom and make it on time.

Syracuse Coach Will Protest
United Press International
It was Bob Cousy who was scoring all those points but it's Mendy Rudolph who's feeling the wrath of Coach Alex Hannum of the Syracuse Nationals.

Cousy sparked the Boston Celtics to a 58-point second half that produced a 115-105 victory over the Nationals Thursday night and lifted them within a half game of the idle Philadelphia Warriors in the Eastern division of the National Basketball association.

But Hannum had eyes only for the little referee, who called three technical fouls on Syracuse - one each on Hannum, Larry Costello and Al Bianchi. Finally, with the Celtics leading, 82-74, at 9:50 of the third period, Hannum announced that he is protesting the game to league President Maurice Podoloff.

Both Costello and Bianchi also were thrown out of the game apparently for using abusive language in their "discussions" with Rudolph.

Cousy connected on 11 field goals and six free throws for 28 points and Frank Ramsey added 21 for the Celtics. Dolph Schayes scored 26 for the Nationals.

John Marshall appointed Chief Justice of the United States Supreme Court in 1801, also wrote a five-volume biography of George Washington.

Gov. Hatfield, Mrs. Neuberger Bury Hatchet

By Hank DeVoss

Salem - (UPI) - Republican Gov. Mark Hatfield and Sen. Maurine Neuberger, (D-Ore.), met for two hours here Thursday, buried the hatchet over the November election and announced that their goals for Oregon generally "are the same."

It was their first meeting since Mrs. Neuberger defeated Elmo Smith Nov. 8. Hatfield was honorary chairman of Smith's campaign.

Range of their talks covered an Oregon dunes park, the sagging lumber industry, federal aid to education, defense contracts for Oregon, government reorganization and industrial development - including the state's offshore lands and the Boardman development.

Seasonal Factor Concern
Hatfield said both he and Sen. Neuberger are concerned about the seasonal factor in Oregon's economy, especially lumber. They agreed that stimulation of housing would help and the senator has asked that Oregon be included in a national study of depressed areas.

Mrs. Neuberger said she will have to take a fresh look at the Oregon dunes park proposal because of the new administration. Both she and Hatfield emphasized they favor such a national park.

Durno Interest Seen
Asked to comment on the stand of Rep.-elect Edwin Durno, (R-Ore.), against the park, Mrs. Neuberger said Durno may be set against the old proposal but "I am sure he would be interested in seeing a new bill." The park would be located in Durno's district.

Hatfield and Mrs. Neuberger differed somewhat on federal aid to education. Hatfield said he is primarily interested in such aid for school construction but Mrs. Neuberger believes it should go beyond that, even to teacher's salaries.

FINE LOVELLETTE
Los Angeles - (UPI) - Coach Paul Seymour of the St. Louis Hawks has fined center Clyde Lovellette $75 for a lackadaisical performance against Los Angeles Wednesday night. Lovellette was fined $25 for each of three times he failed to go back down the court after his team had lost possession of the ball in the National Basketball association contest won by the Lakers.

BEARS GET KONOVSKY
Chicago - (UPI) - The Chicago Bears of the National Football league have added lineman Bob Konovsky to their roster for their final game of the season against Detroit on Sunday. Konovsky, formerly with the Chicago Cardinals, replaces Earl Leggett who is out of action with an injured knee.
