

Garden Club To Make Wild Flower Displays

Applegate Valley—Pressing of native wild flower specimens to be displayed at Forest Service lookouts and guard stations has been selected by members of Applegate Valley Garden club as their year's project.

Mrs. Henrietta Le Piniec, a member of Jackson county parks and recreation committee, has interested the group in the work, and spoke at their meeting at the home of Mrs. Kenneth Duncan Wednesday.

Ranger Neil Suttell sanctions the project, Mrs. Le Piniec related, and believes that the display would do much to inform the public of flowers growing in the area. Mrs. Le Piniec also believes the work to be important since wild flowers are disappearing due to destruction of their natural environment by timber harvest. She mentioned that collection of dried specimens could be started in the schools, with children learning the techniques of pressing and drying.

Department Head Here For Rites

Mrs. Gladys Sherman, Cottage Grove, Ore., was in Medford last Thursday to install officers for the Medford chapter of Blue Star Mothers. Mrs. Sherman is Oregon department president for the Blue Star Mothers.

The officers are Mrs. E. P. Kurz, president; Mrs. F. B. Gleaves, first vice president; Mrs. J. E. Gindling, second vice president; Mrs. Helen Watson, secretary; Mrs. William Naylor, treasurer; Mrs. Otto Gaston, historian; Mrs. J. A. Sells, conductress; Mrs. Roy Hewitt, assistant conductress; Mrs. R. Peterson, patriotic instructor; Mrs. Fred Middlebush, chairman for activities at the Veterans Administration domiciliary, White City.

Proceeding the meeting, a number of members had luncheon at North's Check Wagon with Mrs. Sherman.

The group's next party for veterans at the domiciliary will be January 27. January 30 a meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Naylor, New Ray road, to work on afghans for wheel chair members of the domiciliary.

The chapter voted to send $12 to aid Indians of New Mexico.

Mrs. Sherman, who came to Medford Wednesday, returned home following the installation ceremonies.

Hunzaland Topic For Study Group

Mrs. Bjarne Ravn reviewed "Hunzaland" by Dr. Allen E. Bank and Renee Taylor for the January 18 meeting of the Wednesday Study club.

Dr. Bank made a trip to this little known kingdom in 1958. He says that in this fabulous health and youth wonderland of the world, men often live for 120 years and women of 80 look no older than our women of 40.

Hunza lies high in the Himalaya mountains and has had 2000 years of almost complete isolation. The 25,000 inhabitants are Moslems and live by the Golden Rule. They have no crime, no jails, no disease and no medicine. They have exceptionally good eyesight and teeth and have a marvelous health record. They are outstanding engineers and agriculturists.

Mrs. Jerry Smith reviewed "Inside the White House" by Lonelle Aikman.

This article from National Geographic takes one on a tour of the White House describing the various rooms, their decor, and functions and gives many interesting side lights on the presidents and their families who have lived there.

Dinner Given By Yreka Club

Yreka—The first meeting of the new year was held recently by the Wingdingers Couples' club of the Yreka Methodist church. It was a no host dinner served in Montague, Calif., by Adeline's cafe.

Presiding co-jointly as new presidents of the group were Mr. and Mrs. Warren Behnke. Other officers for the year are Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Nelson, vice-presidents; Mr. and Mrs. Hartzel Grey, secretaries and treasurers; Mr. and Mrs. Russell Beckwith, membership chairman, and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Woodruff, devotional chairman.

The February meeting will be a potluck dinner at the church in Yreka, February 11.

Applegate Valley Garden club members plan to gather, classify and press specimens of native flowers of Jackson county and make up exhibits to be placed at fire lookouts. It is believed the displays will be of great interest to persons visiting the lookouts during the spring and summer weeks. Members of the club are pictured here during a meeting last week at which Mrs. A. C. Lewis (right), a past president of the Phoenix Garden club, instructed in the drying and pressing of flowers. Pictured with Mrs. Lewis are Mrs. Dora Krouse (at left) vice-president of the Applegate Valley club, and Mrs. Marcel LePiniec, who heads the move to display the native pressed flowers.

Family Night Program Slated

Gym games and activities led by Don Littman, physical education teacher at Jefferson school, will be the main feature of the family night program at the Medford YMCA Friday, January 27. The program, starting at 7:30 p.m., will be the fifth in a series of special evening features this week highlighting the local YMCA program in observance of National YMCA week.

Guest families are particularly invited to visit the Y programs during this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Scannell Jr., are arranging the evening's program. Families attending are asked to bring cookies or punch for refreshments.

As usual on Friday nights the swimming pool will be open only for family swimming.

President Talks For Gardeners

Jacksonville—The last business meeting of Jacksonville Garden club opened with roll call on "native plants from Australia."

Three speakers were on the program that followed the meeting. Dr. Elmo Stevenson, president of Southern Oregon college, was the guest speaker and gave an informative talk on birds of the Southern Oregon region. He told of their home life, nesting and feeding habits.

A talk on climbing and trailing roses was given by Mrs. Paul Godward and Mrs. Leonard McKee gave a short talk on horticulture.

Mrs. LeRoy Cline and Mrs. Lester Dufek, both of Medford were guests. Tea hostesses for the meeting were Miss Claire Hanley and Mrs. C. P. Smets, with Mrs. Paul Godward pouring. Flower arrangements of "green" and African violets in bloom were used to decorate the hall.

Golden Link Class Schedules Session

Golden Link class of First Baptist Sunday school will meet Thursday, January 26, at the home of N. A. Mead, 3471 Oak Pine street, Central Point.

Desert at 1 p.m. will be followed by a business meeting.

Instructions Should Be Read on Washable Fabrics

The word "washable" means much more today than it has in the past, according to Mrs. Lee Sheehan, extension home economist. There was a time when only sturdy household materials went into the regular wash, Mrs. Sheehan points out. Anything the least bit delicate was painstakingly hand washed.

Today you don't have to mollycoddle piece after piece this way. New fibers and new finishes are making more and more items washable. With new washers and new suds the lion's share of these can be laundered in a washer.

"Washability is no longer a question of will-it-or-won't-it—a question of method. One dress or blouse may go into the very hottest water with no fear of damage. Another of a different fabric or color may demand a much milder temperature. Some curtains take kindly to bleach-others with a different finish turn lemon yellow.

"Obviously the mere word 'washable' on a label means very little unless it's bolstered with specific washing instructions."

Remove Gray Look

By a processing called "stripping" you can remove that grayed look that sometimes happens to clothes, the home economist says. Old soap curd sometimes accumulates in clothes and causes a gray wash. Use warm water and one tablespoon of water softener for each gallon of water. Agitate the clothes for 8 to 10 minutes and rinse as for regular wash. This will help to restore your clothes to their original whiteness.

Even if you do not have an automatic washer which reduces the speed of the agitator for more delicate fabrics, you can use it for your nylons.

The secret? Invest in some knitted nylon bags that have heavy snap fasteners at the top. Let your nylon lingerie soak in these bags in your washer for 5 to 10 minutes. Then set the agitator for a 3-minute cycle.

The thorough rinsing action of the automatic washers does get soap suds out, which means your things will stay white longer. A soak in a sodium perborate solution before washing will protect that whiteness also.

Washable leather gloves will dry softer if rolled for a minute in a slightly moist terry towel after they have been washed.

New Brushes

A new line of brushes for fur-coats, stoles and scarves is handcrafted of long-haired, soft, natural black bristle. The back is of natural hand-polished satin-wood and has a looped cord for easy hanging. The standard model costs $10.50. A $500 version, made on special order, has a gold, engine-turned back.

Most predominant colors were pink, orange, yellow and white. Varying tones of pink and orange often were used together in a combination which is fast becoming a summer tradition with Italian designers.

Knits were prevalent. They were made in blouses, jackets, sheath dresses and full-length summer coats.

There were many ribbon knits. Nucci made some play clothes Turkish in mood—bright blue or pink pullover shirts worn with a matching fez squashed in the front.

Burlap was used by Valdivere of Florence to make fringed Bermuda shorts with a matching jerkin-top.

De Simone of Naples showed one sarong, made in a white cotton splashed with black. He also designed some unusual dresses in white cotton with large green, pink or blue checks. These were made like old-time bakers' smocks and the models carried outside briefcases in matching materials. The effect was eye-catching.

The Bikinis were brief but no briefer than last season's. They were shown with cover-up shirts and skirts.

Pharmacy Phacts

From GENE WESTLAND

From time to time we're asked about drug manufacturing. Many people are surprised to find that pharmaceutical houses as a matter of general practice produce many drugs which have an extremely small potential sale.

Their real question in cases like this is the purely humanitarian one of the need of the drug where cure or prevention is possible. It's interesting to note that all drugs have to prove their worth, whether they be for common or rarely heard of diseases. Only those which are "proved" are carried on our shelves.

You think you've thought of everything before your new baby comes, but always there is something that has been overlooked... or a change in plans made. At McLain's Drug Centre, 8 North Central, Medford, we're always glad to help you find unfamiliar items and talk over their uses with you.—adv.

His and Her Haircuts Now Available in New York City

By GAY PAULEY UPI Women's Editor

New York—(UPI)—Now, couples can get "his" and "her" haircuts.

John Bernard, a hairdresser for 16 years, said the "his" and "hers" aren't always happy with the neighborhood barber produces and ask Bernard to help their husbands to more becoming trims.

Bernard said it all began with a couple of actress-customers, Patricia Medina and Kitty Carlisle.

Miss Medina came to Bernard when she finally decided to shorten her long shoulder bob. He cut her locks to ear lobe length and gave the whole hairdo a rounded look. Miss Medina promptly asked if he also would restyle the haircut of her husband, actor Joseph Cotten, when he returned from the West Coast.

"I'll give him a blunt, short on the sides trim," said Bernard. "He has a strong jaw. It should be played up."

Miss Carlisle also got an ear lobe bob and tapped Bernard on the possibilities of improving the haircut of husband Moss Hart.

"His haircut is perfect as is," said Bernard. "I just told him to bring out more of the silver."

The hairdresser, born in Britain but now an American citizen, started his career as hairdresser and makeup artist in the theater in London and New York. He soon will take over as general director of salons for a leading cosmetics firm.

Bernard said that his present shop does not cater to the masculine trade but "when a wife asks me for help, I'll consult with her husband. After all, a man's hair should flatter his features just as a woman's should hers. This does not retract from his masculinity."

The crew cut for instance is not for every male. Bernard said it is most becoming to the man with a square face and small nose.

A long lean face would call for hair a little longer and fuller at the sides than the standard cut. The man with a

Eatons Announce Betrothal News

Dr. and Mrs. Orval Eaton, 620 Hamilton street, announce the engagement of their daughter, Sara, to Wallace Nelson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Nelson, Astoria, Ore.

Miss Eaton, who attended Southern Oregon college, Ashland, last year, is now a student at Northwestern School of Commerce, Portland.

Mr. Nelson, a former student at the University of Oregon, is a member of the university chapter of Phi Delta Theta. He is now attending Western University School of Business in Portland.

No date has been set for the wedding.
