

Gold Hill Chamber Lists Objectives

By MARY KELL
Gold Hill Correspondent
Gold Hill—Officials of the Gold Hill Chamber of Commerce met for a planning meeting and luncheon last week at the Truck cafe on Second ave. in Gold Hill. Purpose of the session was to study proposed bylaws for the chamber which was reactivated Jan. 9.

Fred Jeddell, temporary chairman of the board of directors, presided. The proposed bylaws, prepared by members of the board prior to the meeting, were approved by the group. They will be recommended by officials to members of the organization for consideration before adoption.

The first regular meeting and luncheon of the Gold Hill Chamber of Commerce is slated for Thursday, Feb. 2 at 12 noon in the dining room of the Gold Hill Grange hall on Sixth ave.

It is hoped by officials that men and women from Sams Valley-Gold Hill and vicinity will join the Gold Hill Chamber of Commerce.

Listed objectives of the Gold Hill Chamber of Commerce are: to impress, instill and promote a more active spirit of civic pride in the inhabitants of Gold Hill and surrounding area; to promote and exploit the varied natural resources of the state of Oregon in general, and of Gold Hill and surrounding area in particular; to help, aid and assist every movement for the benefit of the financial, moral and educational interests of Gold Hill and its surrounding area; to bring about better acquaintance and closer association between its members and all others engaged in the development of the spiritual and material interests of the Rogue River valley; to advance the agricultural, commercial, industrial and civic interest of Gold Hill and surrounding area.

C. Norma Gail, owner of Gail's Gold Hill Market, is president of the chamber. Richard Abbott, assistant manager of Cogswell's Market, is vice president. Secretary is Ernest H. Cooper, owner of the House of Mystery at Oregon Vortex, and Donald Morrow, owner of Morrows' Hardware store, is treasurer.

The board of directors now consists of three members. Fred Jeddell, administrator of Jeddell Brothers' Sweet Mills, Inc.; H. S. Deuel, manager of Deel Rio orchards and A. A. Walker, retired grocery man.

These officers and board members were elected by a group of 26 people the evening that the chamber was reactivated after being inactive for a period of several years.

Siskiyou Schools Receive $11,262

Yreka—The Siskiyou county school system has received $11,262 in state aid for handicapped and retarded student programs and for driver training, the county schools office announced last week.

Of the total amount, $4,604 was for physically handicapped programs and $4,137 for mentally retarded minors. Drivers' training programs received $2,520 of the amount.

The state gave a total of $43,260,541 to California's 58 counties recently. The funds were part of more than $640 million the state will pay toward support of public schools during 1960-61.

Woodell To Address Ruch PTA Meeting

Applegate Valley—Dr. Marshall Woodell, professor of political science at Southern Oregon college, will present a tape recording at Puch PTA meeting Friday, Feb. 3 describing brainwashing of Korean prisoners of war.

The tape is narrated by a Marine corps psychiatrist, William E. Myer, and tells of the spread of communism and its infiltration in churches and schools.

Dr. Woodell will speak afterward, and the founding of the parent-teacher organization also will be observed. The public is invited to hear a discussion of this important topic. The meeting opens at 8 p.m.

AMAZING PSORIASIS STORY

Jan. 10, 1960 — Pittsburgh, Pa. "Doctored for psoriasis 30 years. Spent much money to no avail. Then used GHP Ointment and Tablets for 2 weeks. Scales disappeared as if by magic. In 6 weeks skin completely cleared and clean. First time in 30 years. Thanks for your marvelous product." This much abbreviated report tells of a user's success with a dual treatment for psoriasis now made available to all sufferers. Full information and details of a 14 day trial plan from Canam Co., Dept. 279B Rockport, Mass.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

New York, N. Y. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain—without surgery. In case after case, the gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place. Most amazing of all—results were

Zoning Protests To Be Considered

Yreka—The Yreka planning commission will hold a public hearing Feb. 15 to hear protests regarding proposed zoning of new additions to Yreka, according to Harry Crebbin, commission secretary.

The commission has proposed to zone the North Ridge Terrace addition as single dwelling residential. The John Moreno addition has also been scheduled for single dwelling residential zoning, Crebbin said.

The Greenhorn reservoir addition will be zoned industrial with parking provided and residential agriculture, which will allow residents to have domestic animals, Crebbin said.

Public Hearing Set For Tuesday Night

Central Point—A public hearing will be held Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in the auditorium of the Jackson county courthouse for consideration of a zoning variance request by Peter Kiewit Construction Co. on property being used for gravel and fill dirt supply for the new freeway near Central Point.

The company has asked for a variance in the zoning ordinance enabling excavation for gravel and installation of a portable rock crusher. The area under consideration is located on Bear creek north of the new freeway overpass on Head rd.

GREAT RESPONSE

Central Point—The class in beginning welding for Crater High school adult education program was met with greater response than had been anticipated. There were more applications than the facilities could satisfactorily accommodate. An effort will be made to present the course at a later date to take care of those who were, of necessity, turned away at this session.

so thorough that sufferers made astonishing statements like "Piles have ceased to be a problem." The secret is a new healing substance (Hic-Tyne®)—discovery of a world-wide research institute. This substance is now available in suppository or ointment form under the name Preparation H. At all drug counters.

Personally Speaking

By JOHN STAFFORD

As a young married man of 23, I don't feel qualified to discuss any matters pertaining to parenthood with any degree of authority. As a matter of fact, a certain amount of sensitivity exists when anyone mentions our tender age. We were cut deeply when R. E. Nealon, a youngster in his seventies, referred to us as a "youngster in his early twenties," in an edition of Tablets many weeks ago.

Thus any discussion of parenthood on our part is definitely out. However, no one is more qualified to deal with the subject than Joan Millemann, our Murphy correspondent, and incidentally, mother of seven children.

Dr. and Mrs. R. J. Millemann are an unusual couple. They were bold enough to leave the exciting area of New York City for peaceful and quiet Oregon. They live in the country five miles south of Murphy. Seven children keep them extremely busy. A recent letter Mrs. Millemann wrote to a friend back East demonstrates the plight of the modern parent.

The following is part of Mrs. Millemann's letter: "You know the old song 'It's so peaceful in the country, so simple and quiet, you really ought to try it?' Well, I'm here to tell you that it must have been written by some fellow high in a city apartment smelling a vagrant breeze from a neighboring penthouse garden. Consider this past week end."

"To get the picture it must be remembered that we really took this country move seriously and live about 14 miles from town. Fridays are always a little hectic. Along about 3:30 it is wise to have a cup of coffee and get set for the fray. I know why safety councils make their week end accident statistics begin about 4 p.m. or so on Friday. That's when the school buses arrive home and the race is on."

"We have a flute-playing daughter who could only manage to schedule a lesson from 4:30 to 5 p.m. and a junior varsity basketball playing son who has to have an early dinner and be back to school by 5:30. Begin to get the picture?"

"Well I've become more clever and so just give a pat on the back as he leaves in the morning, a wish for good luck in the game and an extra dollar to stay in town, read and relax in the library, buy some dinner and thus eliminate that trip. Friday we left at 4 for the flute lesson." (Some time later)

"Out came daughter from her lesson and we proceeded home after synchronizing our watches for the big push ahead. Somehow, we managed to have dinner, do the dishes, get the baby undressed, leave one daughter baby sitting and leave for the junior varsity game. After the game all got home at different times, and being just naturally nosy, I came in and find out all the evening's news. Gathered from the reports that everyone had fun at the dance following the game and that the Dixieland group, of which oldest son is a 'boppin' member, had been quite successful as featured entertainment at the dance."

"Saturday morning revealed the following interesting plans for the day: "Fifth-grade son had invited four friends to play basketball on the outdoor court and ride bikes and 'stuff'; flute-playing daughter had phone conversation with boy in her class, the result of which was that he was scheduled to arrive later with, of all things, two horses which he was going to teach her, or someone, to ride—mentally determined it would not be me; remembered that son was scheduled to leave for Klamath Falls at 2 p.m. for the night's game; sophomore daughter was to go to someone's house for supper and to the movies and to stay all night and was due to be in town at 5."

"The thought of this, combined with trip in and out of town, was going to succeed in filling a few of those dreadfully empty hours I might otherwise have had. The whole thing made me think of a book I read which remarked on how much easier it was to raise your children right from the start to be quiet little introverts who only wanted to spend all their time in their rooms with books."

"Everything progressed according to plan, with the one addition of pouring rain

Jacksonville Chief Issues Warnings

Jacksonville—Frank Carter, Jacksonville police chief, issued a warning Monday to parents to keep their children away from the old Opp mine west of Jacksonville.

Carter says it is very dangerous for children to be in the mine area. Old mine shafts and mining tunnels could cave in, Carter said.

Carter repeated a previous warning to residents that the dog control ordinance is still in effect in the city and all dogs must be confined on their owner's property or under their owner's control both day and night.

All children seen with air rifles and pellet guns in the city limits will be questioned by police, Carter said.

Carter also reminded city residents bicycle licenses must be obtained by Feb. 15.

Regional Calendar

Applegate Valley—Jerry Brog, county 4-H club agent, will speak at a general meeting of 4-H clubs at Ruch school cafeteria Tuesday at 8 p.m. Clubs will be organized for the year and parents are invited.

Central Point—Band Director Norman Carothers, Crater High school, has announced the first planning session for the tentative Portland Rose parade trip for the Crater band will be held Wednesday, Feb. 1 at 7:30 p.m. in the Crater high music room. All Crater band parents and interested District 6 persons are urged to attend.

Mother's March To Be Held Tuesday
Eagle Point—A Mother's March on Polio drive will be held Tuesday night in Eagle Point. Members of the Eagle Point Lions auxiliary are sponsoring the drive.

The areas to be covered include Eagle Point north to the Hammel rd. and Brownsboro rd., south to Ajax st. and the White City area, east to the city limits and west to Agate rd.

Those desiring to contribute are asked to turn their porch lights on between the hours of 7 and 9 p.m. Women who are interested in taking part in the drive are requested to call Mrs. Glenn D. Hale at Hillcrest 6-1141. Those wishing to donate may also contact Mrs. Hale.

Eagle Point—The South B st. coffee party will be held at the home of Mrs. David Kahl 330 South B st. at 10 a.m. Tuesday. All ladies living on South B st. are invited.

Eagle Point—The Eagle Point Garden club will hold their annual dinner for members of the club and their husbands Wednesday, Feb. 1 at 6:30 p.m. in the Eagle Point Grange hall. Mr. and Mrs. Lonzone of the Jackson County Soil and Conservation Service will present the program and show a film.

Tree Nursery Is New Trail Business

Shady Cove—A nursery handling many varieties of trees and shrubs has been started in the Shady Cove area.

Mr. and Mrs. V. G. Hinkle have initiated the Trail-Rogue nursery near the Rogue river at Trail. They plan on growing week-old chicks, spruce, Scotch fir and Norway spruce trees. It is expected the trees will be ready for market by this fall and they will be sold both locally and in wholesale quantities. It is also planned to raise Christmas trees, Hinkle says.

Hinkle said he hopes to develop a local and wholesale market for perennial flowers.

Officers Installed

Yreka—New officers of the Yreka Methodist men were installed by the Rev. Harold C. Coleman during the morning worship hour at the Methodist church recently.

Serving for the coming term will be George Luttrell, president; W. O. Andrews, vice president; and Larry Hennig, secretary-treasurer. The officers were elected at a dinner meeting of the Methodist Men organization held Monday Jan. 16 at the church.

BENEFIT GAME

Applegate—A benefit basketball game for the March of Dimes will be played at the Applegate school gym Wednesday, Feb. 1 at 8 p.m. Applegate men will play a men's team from Appleton. Refreshments will be sold by the 4-H clubs with all proceeds going to the March of Dimes.

which necessitated all four boys coming indoors to play, eat, run around, play, watch TV, eat, run around and eat."

"Horses had to be tied somewhere and then promptly moved, since first location had been right where husband had planted new spring bulbs."

Chicken Ranch To Be Featured in Magazine

By JEANNETTE HEAD
Applegate Correspondent
Applegate—There has been considerable activity on Thompson creek at the Lyle and Stoner chicken ranch near Applegate.

The Stoners were busily tending up the ranch as a photographer from Western Farmer magazine came out to get pictures of the wire cage system they have for their chickens in the open, the feeding and watering systems and egg house. The egg house has a refrigerated room and also boasts a new egg washing and cleaning machine. Grading, sorting and packing of eggs is also done in this building. The illustrated article will appear in the March issue.

The Stoners presently have about 1,100 laying hens, 1,000 3-month-old pullets and 1,000 week-old chicks.

Mrs. Stoner reports that feed fieldmen from as far away as Portland have been to see their open-air chicken operations and shake their heads in disbelief at its success. The young pullets laying peaked at 89.9 per cent and laying has held up well in spite of cold weather.

The work is handled by Mr. and Mrs. Stoner and their son Don. In a pinch, Don's wife Maria will help out, as well as their son Neil. Neil worked on the ranch until he started farming further up Thompson creek.

During the past several very cold mornings, the Stoners discovered just how cold it was, as some of the eggs froze before they could be gathered, even though the lights were on. The lights are turned on the hens from about 4:30 a.m. to 9:30 a.m. Each hen lives in its own 8-inch wide, 16-inch deep and 19-inch high wire cage. The Stoners hope to increase their hens to the 5,000 mark. They also build hen and turkey cages and rabbit pens on a commercial basis, and employed two extra men to work on them this past summer.

Cook Book Project Of PTA Progressing

Gold Hill—Mrs. Kenneth Fluck, ways and means chairman of the Gold Hill Parent-Teacher association, reports that the unit's project for the year is progressing on schedule. A cook book that will contain favorite recipes of each family in the Gold Hill schools is being compiled.

Further information may be obtained by contacting Mrs. Fluck afternoons or evenings. The chairman named the following committee to assist her, Mrs. Ogden Kellogg, Mrs. Walter Dye and Mrs. Rolan Washburn. Mrs. Paul Molloy and Mrs. Delos Walker will be in charge of sales and taking orders for the cook books.

Beef Production To Be Class Subject

Central Point—The livestock management class of the Crater adult education program will feature discussion of beef production at the 8 p.m. session tonight.

Ed Griggs, Crater High school agricultural instructor, has arranged to have experts in several fields present lectures at future meetings. Earle Jossey will discuss raising sheep. George Gilman, of Gilman's Dairy products, will discuss phases of dairy farming. W. J. "Bill" Bray, owner and operator of the Midway Auction Yard, will present information on the marketing of livestock. Griggs will present the lessons on beef and swine production.

Griggs stated there was still room for a few more interested persons in the class, which meets each Monday at 8 p.m. at Crater High school. Fee for the course is $5.

Applegate Hunter Safety Class Set

Applegate—An Oregon Hunter Safety course will be offered to all boys and girls between the ages of 10 and 18 in the Applegate area.

The course will be taught by Frank Baum of the Oregon State Police, qualified instructor of the National Rifle association. The Oregon State Game commission will furnish material for the course.

Registrations are being accepted at the Applegate Shopping Center, and the classes will start as soon as it is determined how many will enroll.

The course will consist of three two-hour evening classes and one two-hour afternoon class. Parents of the children will be welcome to attend the classes along with their children.

Men's Night Slated For Applegate PTA

Applegate—Men's Night will be featured at the Applegate PTA meeting to be held Feb. 2 in the school cafeteria at 8 p.m. The men will have charge of the business meeting, program and serving of refreshments.

Clay Brion will preside over the business meeting, and Ashton Foerst's FFA boys will present a parliamentary procedure program, which will be followed by Philip Krouse showing slides of his recent trip to Chicago.

Baby sitting will be provided in the gym and all local residents are urged to attend.

TAKES PLEDGE

Eagle Point—Dick Brown was one of 14 students at Oregon State college to take the pledge for the national engineers honorary Tau Beta Pi recently. Brown is a senior at Oregon State and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Brown of Lorraine rd. in Eagle Point. He was on the honor roll during high school and graduated from his class at Eagle Point High school as valedictorian in 1957.

Cancer Education Program Slated

Gold Hill—A cancer education program will be presented in Gold Hill at the Patrick school multi-purpose room Monday, Feb. 13 at 7:30 p.m. It was incorrectly stated in Sunday's paper that the program was to be held tonight.

Dr. Earl Lawson will speak and show slides on the use of x-ray in the diagnosis of cancer. Mrs. C. Norma Gail, chairman of cancer education for the Gold Hill Health unit, said Dr. Lawson is highly recommended as being well informed and an interesting speaker. He is a well-known x-ray specialist in Medford and is helping the American Cancer society program of education about cancer.

This is a combined effort on the part of the Gold Hill Health unit and the Parent-Teacher association to bring a cancer education program to this part of Jackson county. Everyone who is interested is urged to attend the meeting, Mrs. Gail said.

Refreshments will be served by members of the health unit and the fourth grade mothers of Patrick school.
