Duysen Was Named Award Candidate

Glen Duysen, woods manager for Kogap Manufacturing company, was candidate for Oregon's Young Man of the Year from the Columbia River section of the Society of American Foresters, it was announced Friday night at a meeting of the Southern Oregon Conservation and Tree Farm association.

Carroll Brown, Rogue River National Forest superintendent and chairman of the Siskiyou chapter of the society, said Duysen was selected for his enthusiasm, ability and integrity.

SOCTFA, of which Duysen is immediate past president, is noted for its united efforts in forest fire prevention programs and lumber promotion. It is an outstanding voluntary group, Brown read from the nomination letter.

"This is a real honor for the tree farm association," Duysen said.

Brown said although Duysen was not selected as winner in the final contest in Grants Pass last week, his nomination was a great honor.

9,000 Residents Of State Eligible For Health Plan

Seattle — About 9,000 Oregon residents are eligible for coverage under a Government Health Insurance program for retired federal employees, according to U.S. civil service officials here.

The commission has announced approval in principle of the benefits structure and premium costs of the Uniform Health plan to be offered to retired federal employees and survivor annuitants.

The plan offers eligible annuitants the choice of enrolling for basic coverage alone, for major medical coverage alone, or for both. They will not have to meet any age or physical requirements for coverage under the uniform plan, the commission said.

Basic Coverage Plan
The basic coverage plan will pay specified hospital benefits and the major medical coverage will help pay room and board charges for additional days in a hospital. Certain other hospital fees are included.

Cost of the basic coverage will be $6.50 a month for an individual and $13 for family enrollment. The major medical coverage will cost $6 and $12, respectively. The combined basic and major medical coverages will cost $12.50 for individuals and $25 per month for family enrollment.

Regardless of which plan is desired by the annuitant, the government will contribute $3 per month for individuals and $6 for families. Complete details on the program and instructions for enrollment will be sent to eligible annuitants next month, according to the civil service commission.

Services Held for Pioneer Daughter

Relatives here have received news of the death of Mrs. Bertha Prim Eckelson, Portland, member of a pioneer Jackson county family. Mrs. Eckelson died during a visit with daughters in California, and funeral services were held Wednesday in Portland.

Mrs. Eckelson, born and reared in Jacksonville, was a daughter of Judge Charles Prim and Effie Bybee Prim. Her grandfather, Judge P. P. Prim, was one of the first supreme court judges of Oregon. She is survived by her daughters, Mrs. Theresa Roth, D'Castle Madera, Calif., and Mrs. Edward Reville, San Francisco, and a brother, Charles Prim.

Mrs. Lewis Ulrich, 839 Minnesota avenue, Medford, is a cousin.

Three district court cases Friday were continued to this week, according to District Court Judge L. L. Sawyer.

The case of James Franklin Lovelace, 345 Apple st., Medford, was continued to Tuesday for sentencing. He pleaded guilty to charges of indecent exposure in Medford Feb. 7. He is being held in the county jail in lieu of $500 bail.

Also continued to Tuesday was the case of Eddie Coleman, White City Domiciliary, who is charged with disorderly conduct. He pleaded guilty to shouting obscenities and pounding on a door of a home at Eagle Point near the Crater Lake highway Feb. 4. He is being held in the county jail.

Del Raymond Beebe, Medford, requested his case be continued to allow him to obtain an attorney. He is scheduled to appear in district court at 11:30 a.m. Thursday.

Beebe is charged with obtaining property under false pretenses. He also requested a preliminary hearing.

Births

BEATTY To: Mr. and Mrs. Robert, 1669 Roberts rd., Medford, Feb. 11, 1961, a girl 7 3/4 lbs., at Crater Osteopathic hospital.

EVENT PUBLICIZED — Medford Mayor John Snider is shown above as he received a box of dates as a gift from Mayor J. O'Brien of Indio, Calif., where the National Date festival will be held Feb. 17 to 26. Bearer of the gift, at right, is Mike Rossi, manager of the Medford branch of the Oregon Nevada California Fast Freight Inc. The trucking firm is helping to promote the date festival by means of large posters on the box of a big semi-trailer, which is currently on a four-state tour. The freight company, as a public service gesture, also used the posters to promote the National Scout 50th anniversary, the Oregon Centennial and the winter olympics at Squaw Valley. The date festival, featuring ostrich and camel races, as well as mineral and citrus fruit displays and pageants, is one of the most colorful of California fairs.

Lottery Tickets Received in Area

Lottery tickets from Australia have been received by several Jackson county residents, according to Moore Hamilton, Medford postmaster.

The tickets, mailed in books of 12, are for Australian government controlled lotteries.

Hamilton said use of the U. S. mails to distribute such tickets is illegal, and asked residents receiving lottery tickets to turn them over to the post office for forwarding to the postal inspectors.

He said attempts will be made to control the flow of such mail in this country.

Bill Would Relieve RR Man From Repayment

Sen. Wayne Morse (D-Ore.) has introduced a bill in the senate which would relieve a Rogue River resident from liability for repayment of salary received while a White City Domiciliary employee.

Morse wrote Thomas O. Tate Jr., route 1, box 30A, Rogue River, that the bill was referred to the senate committee on the judiciary and he has asked the committee chairman for prompt and sympathetic consideration of the bill.

Tate had retired as a temporary chief warrant officer from the U. S. Navy when he took a job as stationary boiler fireman at the domiciliary. This temporary rank gave him a dual status of enlisted man and temporary officer, Morse explained to the senate.

Appointment Proper
Domiciliary personnel officers considered Tate's appointment at the domiciliary Jan. 4, 1960, a proper one and not a violation of dual compensation procedures, the senator explained further.

However, the U. S. Navy Fi-
