Rehearsals Start For Kiwanis Show

Rehearsals for the 13th annual Medford Kiwanis Kapers got underway today. The musical variety show will be presented March 8, 9, 10 and 11 at the Medford High school auditorium under Kiwanis club sponsorship. Its title is "Off the Hook." Carl Hawley, Los Angeles, professional director for John B. Rogers Productions, Foster, Ohio, arrived yesterday. A casting party was held at the high school last night with Dr. Abner Clark, talent chairman, in charge.

Openings Available - Most of the roles will be taken by Kiwanians and their wives. There are still openings in the cast, however, and persons with specialty act, musical or dancing talent interested in participating may apply to Dr. Clark after 6:30 p.m. at the high school band room.

The Kiwanis Kapers, while providing fun and family entertainment for its audiences, also has the more serious purpose of furnishing financial support necessary for the dental clinic which the service club maintains for underprivileged children.

Hundreds of needy children each year are given dental treatment which they otherwise could not afford. The cases are referred to the clinic by the county health department, the county health department and school doctors and nurses. The agencies make sure that a real need for the treatment exists and that the child's family is unable to afford it.

First Established - The clinic was first established in 1957 and run on a three months' trial basis with funds supplied by the Kiwanis, Rotary and Lions clubs. The Kiwanis club had originally proposed the project, and when experience showed

Charles Dickens Particular Sleeper

Chicago -UPI- Charles Dickens would sleep in a bed only if the headboard were pointed due north, and E. W. Howe, the Kansas editor, once remarked: "There is only one thing people like that is good for them: a good night's sleep."

These and other oddities concerning famous people and beds were collected recently by the Northern Electric Company, blanket manufacturers, in compiling "A Sleep Reader for Insomniacs."

The early Egyptians are credited with putting beds on legs in an attempt to get the snakes to go under, not over them while they were asleep.

The famous bed of Ware accommodated 68 sleepers. It belonged to King Edward IV of England who could fit 34 or more persons in the trundle bed which slipped underneath.

Benjamin Franklin was of the opinion that women needed more sleep than men. He advocated "six hours for a man, seven for a woman, and eight for a fool."

Musician Declared Guilty in Slaying Mother, Daughter

Baltimore, Md. -UPI- A federal grand jury today found jazz guitarist Melvin D. Rees Jr. guilty of the kidnap-slayings of a Virginia housewife and her daughter, members of a massacred family of four.

The handsome, 32-year-old entertainer faces a maximum sentence of life imprisonment under the federal Lindbergh Kidnaping Law. The all-male jury did not specifically recommend the death sentence, thus sparing Rees execution in the gas chamber.

The jury deliberated five hours and 33 minutes on whether Rees was guilty of two of the four grisly murders in one of the nation's major mysteries of 1959. It reached a verdict half an hour after resuming deliberations following an overnight recess.

Technically, he was charged with the 1959 kidnap-slaying of Mrs. Mildred Jackson, 27-year-old Apple Grove, Va., housewife, and her 5-year-old daughter Susan Ann.

But the prosecution based its case on the belief that the handsome, dark-haired one-time Maryland University student also had killed the father of the family, Carroll Jackson, and 18-month-old daughter Janet.

Bodies in Two States - The strangled and beaten bodies of Mrs. Jackson and the elder daughter were found in a remote farm area near Gambrells, Md. The bodies of Jackson and Janet were found on a sawdust heap near Fredericksburg, Va.

Rees has been charged with murder of the father and infant in Virginia, but the federal government was the first to prosecute.

The government charged that after slaying Jackson and Janet, Rees abducted the mother and Susan Ann from Virginia to Maryland.

Rees sat somber and impassive as he heard jury foreman Charles A. Gomer, a steel company district sales manager, declare him guilty on two counts.

The convicted man remained just as emotionless when Gomer said the jury was not recommending the death penalty.
