Blinking from the blazing sun outdoors, a lady entered the corner shoe shop and took a seat. Soon she was approached by a clerk. "What can I do for you, madam?" he asked. The lady looked embarrassed. "To tell the truth, sir," she said, "I came in here for a No. 9."

"That's nothing to be ashamed of," the clerk replied. "Many women have big feet!"

"Young man," the woman replied icily. "No. 9 is the bus I'm waiting for!"

"Oh, no," the boy replied. "The rest of us are coming by boxcar."

A motorist saw a man trying to change a flat tire on the side of the road. The man was smeared with dirt and soaked in perspiration. Beside him was an immaculately dressed woman, talking and gesturing.

The motorist pulled up beside them and said, "Look, friend, you seem to be having some trouble. I've changed a lot of tires. Can I be of any help?"

The crestfallen tire-changer turned slowly. "You certainly can," he said coldly. "My wife is an expert, too. Now if you will exchange advice on how this tire should be changed, I can concentrate on getting the job done!"
