Eagle Point—The Eagle Point Lions club presented a $418 check to the Scout-Community building fund committee Monday night. The money will be used for construction.

Mrs. David Kahl, committee treasurer, accepted the check. She reported that money raised at last Sunday's benefit smorgasbord dinner totaled $231.42. Between 325 and 350 people attended the dinner. After bills were paid, a balance of approximately $350 remains in the building fund treasury, Mrs. Kahl said.

Ed L. Lamm reported that about $700 will be needed to buy required cement, steel supports and materials for completion of floors in the building.

To date, all material and funds for purchasing materials have been donated by merchants, organizations or private citizens in the area. Harry Hanscom, building committee chairman, said $3,500 has been used in construction so far. A total of $1,500 is needed to complete the building, Hanscom indicated. He pointed out that all labor for construction has been volunteered. Hanscom said that a complete list of labor and donors will be acknowledged when the building is completed.

Stamp Campaign

Mrs. Virgil Hayes reported on the trading stamp campaign. More than half of the stamps necessary for an electric range have been collected. Coupons for 35 piece setting of silverware have been obtained. More than half of necessary coffee bands for a coffee maker have been collected. Collection of stamps and coupons will continue until the building is as completely furnished as possible, Mrs. Hayes said.

Work details will start at 8 a.m. on Saturday and Sunday, March 11 and 12. Work to be done will include painting, window replacements, hanging of doors, stapling the ceiling panels, pouring cement steps and digging and installing the septic tank. All help possible will be appreciated, Hanscom said.

Hanscom said that materials for interior cabinets in the kitchen are available. Anyone wishing to make cabinets can contact either Hanscom or Ed Kimmel.

The building will be available free of charge to all youth groups in the community when completed. Youth groups have first priority with adult groups being able to use the building only when it is not being used by young people.

REGIONAL NEWS

Williams School Has New Classroom

Williams—Second and third graders at Williams school are mighty proud these days. They have a brand new classroom and they make no attempt to hide their enthusiasm.

Some of them have been counting the weeks and days since the school year started, anxiously awaiting the day when they would be able to "move in."

Previously, their room was located in the school basement where space, light, warmth and pleasant surroundings were termed inadequate. Many of the third grade group had already spent more than a year there.

Upon moving into the room with windows on the entire north side, one child exclaimed, "Now mom and dad can't call me their educated gopher!" In checking this story, it was revealed that the child has spent nearly three out of four years of school in basement classrooms, beginning with an out of state kindergarten.

Clyde Hamilton, Grants Pass contractor, was occasionally "prodded" along by these new tenants, reports reveal.

Mrs. Mary Sloan, second and third grade teacher, has nothing but glowing words for the new room. She compares spacious blackboards and bulletin boards to a limited number in the old classroom, tile floors to cement floors, windows to tiny bits of light and a cabinet sink unit with drinking fountain to none previously. There is library book space, science and work display boards, book shelves and a built in sink and drinking fountain, among modern conveniences.

Minstrel Show Set for March 4

Applegate Valley—Preparations have been completed for the valleywide minstrel show to be given at Ruch school gymnasium Saturday, March 4 at 8 p.m. Proceeds will go to the Medford Red Cross chapter.

Jimmy Mitchell and a group of musicians from McLoughlin Junior High school will provide music before the show. Boys participating are Seldon (Skipper) Vansickle, Paul Jenney, Gary Clark, and Billy Warren. Boyd Gibson, Ruch principal, will extend greetings and tell of the origin of minstrels.

Fifty persons are participating, with 25 voices in the Negro chorus. Mike Loftus is interlocutor. A number of vaudeville acts and vocal numbers will be included in the program, making a show of an hour and half duration. "Topsy" will be portrayed by Mrs. Frank (Helga) Mitchell, and Forbes Brown and Clarence Roloff will impersonate Amos and Andy. The show is directed by Mrs. Edna Sawyer.

Mrs. Otis Buck, Red Cross chairman for the Applegate district, will have charge of donations at the door. Refreshments will be served following the show. Many from Medford and other communities are expected to attend.

Storm Damages Williams Area Lumber Mill

Williams — Damages from Friday's windstorm at Brown Brothers Lumber company near Williams were estimated at between $750 and $1,000 when the side of the waste burner was flattened.

Lee Brown reports the mill is still operating and the metal burner has been pulled out and tied down until further repair can be made.

A large oak tree toppled over at the Robert Rippee ranch, blocking the road and downing telephone wires serving the east and west forks of the Williams area.

Trees were blown across Blodgett rd. and interrupted both telephone and electrical service to several residents in that area. On the Walter Scholer ranch, a shed was totally wrecked when a tree fell through it.

The only other damage reported were roofing losses, trees uprooted and broken fences.
