415 Scoring Total Reached by Quinney

Medford high's Bob Quinney, third high class A-1 scorer in Oregon, totaled 415 points in two games last week end to become the first player in Southern Oregon conference basketball this season to top the 400-point mark for the full state-both league and non-league games.

He has 415, according to Jerry Acklen, Grants Pass Daily Courier sports editor, who is tabulating conference statistics for the 1960-61 campaign.

The tall Medford cager ranks behind Jim Jarvis, Roseburg (438), and Fred Willie, Thurston (417). Lynn Wheeler, Junction City, has 434 in A-2.

And, Quinney, likely will be the only player of the SO loop to reach 400. He also may be the only one at 300 points or over in league play when the curtain drops next Saturday night.

Second ranking scorer, Loyal Higginbotham, Crater, needs 78 in two games to make 400 end in the loop needs 63 to reach 300. His totals now in the two categories are 322 and 237, respectively.

Wally Palmborg, Klamath Falls, still is running third in tabulations, with 275 and 183, despite absence because of an appendectomy.

Bob Quinney is the full season leader in field goals with 157 and Higginbotham heads in free tosses with 122. Quinney has a 19.7-point average for the full schedule and 21.2 for the circuit. Higginbotham follows with 16.9 and 18.2.

U.S. Seeks Back Taxes From Ingo

Palm Beach, Fla. — Inge-marg Johansson left his tax problems to his attorney today and resumed training for his March 13 title fight with heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson.

The U.S. government won a temporary injunction Tuesday, freezing Johansson's share of the purse from the fight. Earlier, Internal Revenue service (IRS) agents served Johansson at his training camp here with a demand for $598,181 in back taxes.

Federal District Judge Emmet C. Choate, who granted the government's request for the injunction tying up Johansson's purse, scheduled a hearing in the case for 2 p.m. EST Thursday in his court in Miami.

Has Been Paying "I don't owe the U.S. government a cent because I work for a Swiss company," Johansson told United Press International Tuesday night.

"The agreement is that I pay taxes in Switzerland. And I have been paying taxes. My attorney will take care of this."

"Yes, of course the fight will go on."

In New York, Bill Figazy of Feature Sports Inc., promoters of the fight, said the organization would comply with any order attaching the purse.

The government claims the back taxes are owed on receipts from Johansson's 1959 and 1960 fights with Patterson, and on money he received from television and other appearances in the United States.

Patterson Likes Cheers At Training Site; Rival Inspired by Schmeling

(The following are two more dispatches written for United Press International by heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson and challenger Ingemar Johansson concerning their title fight at Miami Beach, Fla., on March 13.)

By FLOYD PATTERSON (Written For UPI) Miami Beach, Fla. — Any athlete worth his salt performs better when he has a rooting section.

That's why college football teams have cheer leaders and big league teams value bench jockeys. And it's also why training in Miami Beach has been one of the most important experiences of my career.

It's convinced me that you don't have to train like a hermit to be a good fighter.

The people here have been wonderful. They flock to my without realizing people are behind you. You train harder because you want to live up to their faith.

Best Condition This is something that was missing from my previous training camps. Roughing it in the woods is like a football team playing in an empty stadium or an actor performing in an empty theater.

Ticket sale for the closed circuit television showing of the Ingemar Johansson-Floyd Patterson heavyweight title bout is "going very well," Robert Corbin, manager here for Oregon-California Theatres reported this morning.

The bout will be seen on the Craterian Theater screen on March 13.

Corbin said that the theater is about 50 per cent sold out and that a lot of mall orders are being received. The sale is a little better than normal, according to Corbin.

I think I'll be in the best condition of my life—mentally and physically—when I meet Ingemar Johansson on March 13 and that's the final test of a training camp.

I decided to come here on the spur of the moment. But it's a carefully thought-out decision that I'll be coming back again and again both as a fighter and a tourist.

By INGEMAR JOHANSSON (Written For UPI) Palm Beach, Fla. — When I was a kid starting to box as an amateur, I had a hero—Max Schmeling, first European to win the heavyweight title. I admired him and his right-hand punch. Nothing ever inspired me as much.

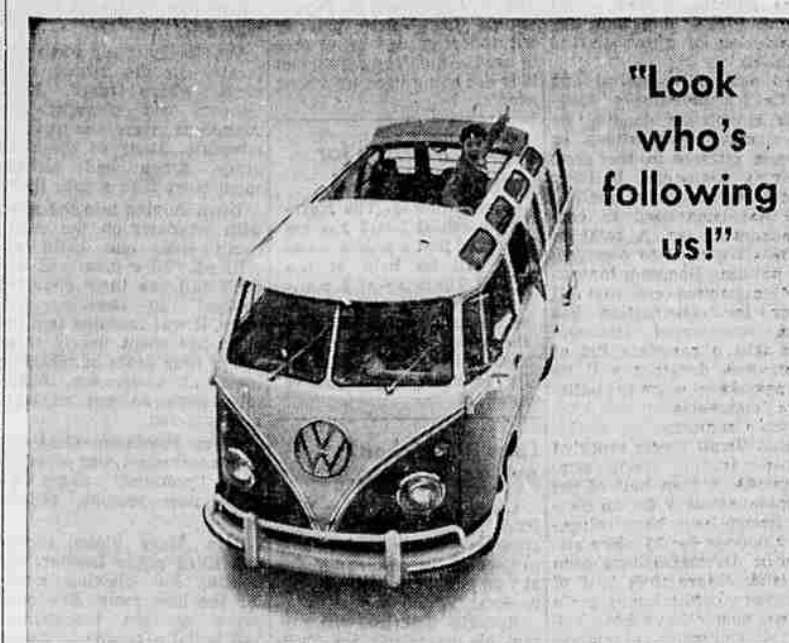

So hearing that Max will be on the scene for my title fight with Floyd Patterson on March 13 at Miami Beach, I put something extra into my workouts last week.

I have the privilege of being his host at my camp in Palm Beach and the conversations we'll have there are something else that will help me.

Schmeling's Faith How can I ever forget that it was Schmeling who had faith in me and picked me to win the first bout with Patterson. It was his faith when everyone doubted me that inspired me to win.

He was the straightest and sharpest right-hand hitter of his time. I consider myself the best since. Putting our heads together can produce a recapture of the title for me, I'm sure.

It's always nice when your neighbors admit you were absolutely right. Which is just what happened recently when two neighbors in the automobile business came out with what the newspapers called Volkswagen-type station wagons.

We thought it quite a compliment. It means that the VW Station Wagon is now officially a trend.

The VW Station Wagon is a new type of automotive animal—the equivalent of a steer that's all steek.

It's 4 feet shorter than a regular wagon yet holds more: 9 passengers plus 28 cubic feet of luggage.

Its air-cooled engine is in the rear, will never boil over or freeze, gives greater traction in mud or snow.

You can see why it's being followed. But remember: a "Volkswagen-type" station wagon is not a Volkswagen.

The VW wagon has been in production 11 years. Continuity means quality. Doors fit properly. Rattles were silenced years ago. The finish is a labor of love: four coats of paint and two complete hand-sandings.

And only the VW wagon has the guts of a VW: the engine that can run at top speed without strain and deliver the legendary Volkswagen mileage.

But here
