Letter Attacking Higher Education Chancellor Cited

Salem—UPI—The Senate Education Committee issued a subpoena today for a man who said had "attacked the integrity of one of the high officials" of Oregon.

The committee voted unanimously Thursday to subpoena Angus B. Campbell, Oswego. The action came in the midst of a crowded hearing on school reorganization.

Sen. Lewis showed the committee a letter received by several legislators, attacking Chancellor John Richards of the State Board of Higher Education.

The letter was signed with the name Angus B. Campbell, who listed himself as president of Order of Patriotic Americans. It said "Richards should be replaced by a true American before he does further damage."

The letter, urging repeal of school district reorganization, said Richards was "reported to have been an official of UNESCO" which the letter described as "traitors to our country."

A section of the two page letter, headed "Chancellor John R. Richards and UNESCO," said UNESCO was "one of the brood of deadly agencies spawned by the United Nations" and "designed to operate in the schools to destroy in American youth all sense of loyalty to their own country."

Sen. Lewis said the charges appeared to be "a smear . . ." and Campbell should appear before the committee.

Asked if he cared to comment on the letter, Richards noted that his appointment to UNESCO "was an Eisenhower appointment and, of course, thoroughly checked out by the FBI."

Richards served several years ago as chairman of a U.S. delegation to UNESCO.

School Reorganization Described as 'Holocaust'

Salem—UPI—A crowd of irate citizens who packed a Senate Education Committee hearing described school district reorganization as a "holocaust" Thursday and clashed with school administrators over whether the 1957 Oregon law should be repealed.

But the tag-wearing taxpayers found educators surprisingly on their side in agreeing that the law at least needs amendment to make it more workable and fairer to minorities and local communities.

The testimony came on Senate bill 302 by Sen. Ben Musa (D-The Dalles) which would halt school district reorganization where it now stands by repealing the law. Musa said the question should be referred to the voters. The audience, many wearing tags saying "support 302" applauded Musa.

Eugene Fisher of the Oregon School Board Association urged amendment of the law to allow rejection by a simple majority of voters and to let local school boards continue to operate. Such bills have been introduced.

But Fisher agreed the law "is not acceptable as it is."

He defended the basic principles of the law, however, and said social changes have made larger administrative units imperative. At the same time, he said, local control "remains fundamental."

Harold Baker of the Morrow County School Board,

EARLIER PENSIONS

Salem—UPI—Rep. Edward Fadelcy said Wednesday he is sponsoring a bill to let a public employee become eligible for pension rights after five years, instead of the present 10.

strongly attacked the law.

He said Morrow was the first county to reorganize and he wanted to help other districts avoid "falling into this holocaust."

Baker said two of the county's 11 schools had been closed, directors had been vastly decreased, and districts had been shocked to learn they were unable to "vote out" once reorganization was begun.

Beatnik Pacifists Make Futile Move To Board U.S. Navy Warship

Dunoon, Scotland—UPI—A small group of beatnik pacifists made a futile move to board a U. S. Navy warship today to protest the establishment of a nuclear submarine base in Scotland.

The pacifists, some with beards and flowing hair, paddled their canoes up the River Clyde but were intercepted by British police and Royal Navy guards before they could reach the Proteus, mother ship for America's nuclear-powered Polaris submarines.

In a chase around the stern of the 18,500-ton submarine tender, two of the pacifists fell out of their canoe, but were fished out of the water and taken to shore. Two others were hauled bodily into a police launch after refusing to get out of another canoe.

The water-borne demonstrations erupted shortly after the Proteus steamed into Holy Loch on schedule this morning. The demonstrators, who had hung placards on the pier which said "remember Hiroshima," shouted "ban the bomb" as they headed for the Proteus.

Trail Girl Wins In Forestry Work

Margaret Hanson, 15-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Hanson, Elk Creek rd., Trail, was named a county winner in Oregon's 4-H forestry program. Eight 4-H members were honored.

The contest is sponsored by the forest industries and administered by the Oregon State college extension service. The awards are based on forestry work by the member and their leadership and personal development.

Miss Hanson is now in her fifth year in her 4-H forestry program.

Hatfield Will Be Released Saturday

Portland—UPI—Gov. Mark Hatfield is scheduled to be released from the hospital Saturday, aides said today.

Hatfield has been hospitalized since Monday night for treatment of fatigue and vertigo and a general checkup.

His administrative assistant, Warne Nunn, was scheduled to read Hatfield's speech at the opening this afternoon of Dammasch State Hospital near Wilsonville.

Frightened African Natives Swarm To Protection of UN

Leopoldville, The Congo—UPI—Hundreds of Africans, fearing the same fate as 44 natives slaughtered by rampaging Congolese troops, swarmed to refuge with the United Nations command today.

At the same time, friction between the U.N. command and the central Congolese government worsened as a result of new incidents involving UN personnel.

Frightened natives streamed into a special UN camp set up in Luluabourg, the capital of Kasai Province where the massacres occurred Tuesday night and Wednesday.

The bloodbath, the worst in the Congo in months, and the troubles between President Joseph Kasavubu's government and UN authorities came at a time when Congolese leaders were preparing for a conference at Tananarive, Malagasy Republic, on Sunday. It was hoped that leaders of all factions would attend, including Antoine Gizenga, leader of the leftist pro-Lumumbist regime in Stanley-ville. UN troops and Congolese soldiers jointly patrolled Luluabourg to prevent further bloodshed, according to reports reaching here.

Dick House Asks Justification of Federal Building

Dick House of the House of Security, Medford, requested the Medford city council last night to seek justification of a "$5 million expenditure" for the proposed federal office building here.

The council heard House's request and then adjourned without comment, giving no indication that they would act on the request.

House claimed that he read in the Mail Tribune that the federal government was planning to spend $5 million for the new federal building—half of it for site acquisition alone.

House called the expenditure "federal foolishness," and said "it does not seem to me to be at all justified, nor has the need for it been proven." He said he hoped the council would seek justification of this expenditure.

House "Way Off" (Medford Postmaster Moore Hamilton and Medford General Services Administration Superintendent Forrest Herdman, both said this morning that House is "way off," on his estimate of the cost of the federal building.

(While cautioning that no figure is yet official, Herdman pointed out that the estimated cost of the building and site acquisition together is slightly over $2 million.

(Herdman said he could not recall ever having seen a story in the Mail Tribune in which a $5 million figure was mentioned for the federal building.)

House said after last night's meeting that the reason he approached the council on the matter was so the local press would pick up his views.
