Parents Urged to Educate Children About Molesters

By GAY PAULEY
New York—(UPI)—"It seems unbelievable," said a neighbor of four-year-old Edith (Goochie) Kleckler, "that on a day when nobody was working he could have walked down the street and in there with her and nobody noticed."

Police on Sunday found the battered, sexually assaulted body of the blonde tot in a rooming house on Manhattan's West Side. She had disappeared on Washington's birthday from the sidewalk in front of her home.

Such crimes seem, as the neighbor, Mrs. Beatrice Bieck, had said, "unbelievable."

Yet they happen and the black headlines tell the grim story of the children who are what New York's police commissioner Michael J. Murphy calls victims of the "vicious degenerate."

'Human Cultures'
J. Edgar Hoover, director of the FBI, calls these criminals "human cultures." And their threat "hangs over every community in our land," says Hoover in a recent publication called "The Menace of the Child Molesters."

At what rate they commit their heinous acts, federal authorities can only guess from police departments use varying labels to book these criminals.

Police authorities believe this type of crime will be reduced or wiped out only as parents and school authorities educate their children sufficiently to the dangers of association with strangers.

The FBI began one such campaign four years ago with coloring books, distributed through elementary schools. The sketches taught the lesson of turning down rides by strangers, of refusing gifts such as candy, of the need to be home after dark unless with some member of the family. The FBI said more than three million of the books had been distributed.

New York City's police department has a section on child safety in its "Pamphlet for Women," a publication of the public information office. Called "Children Need Protection," its message cannot be repeated too often to parents nor drilled too thoroughly into children.

"Remember these things can happen to anyone," said Sgt. John Collins of the police department. Collins, who has

PTA Honors Montague Resident

Yreka-Simon Koppes, who will observe his 88th birthday in April and who is still operating the Montague Creamery, was honored at a recent Montague Parent-Teacher association meeting.

He was presented with an honorary life membership pin for "his many acts of charity and generosity to families in need and also for his generous participation in many civic events when he provided milk, butter, cream and other dairy products without charge."

Mr. Koppes, who was out of town on business, was represented by Wallace Turre, president of Montague Creamery, Inc. and who has been associated with the creamery since 1922. Mr. Turre accepted the pin and spoke in behalf of Mr. Koppes.

Founder's day was also observed at this meeting. During a candlelight ceremony honoring the past presidents Mrs. Vera Clements explained what each candle represented as it was lit.

By Mrs. Jeanette Frost, Mrs. Wanda French, Mrs. Bernice Burch and Mrs. June Marty.

Past presidents honored were Mrs. Harold Cooney, Mrs. Fred Deter, Mrs. Donald Gordon, Mrs. S. A. Messner, Mrs. Robert See and Mrs. Albert Clement. Each past president was presented with a corsage.

Past presidents unable to attend were Mesdames Ernest Lemos, L. L. Lichens, Chester Wilcox, Wesley Hogan, William Moore, James Elson, Ray Wheeler and Lester Owens.

Judge J. I. Everett Barr spoke on functions of juvenile courts.

Cub Scout Pack No. 51 presented the colors and the inspirational message was given by Mrs. Susie Jones.

During the business session presided over by the president, Lester Owens, Mrs. Boyd Meline, president of the 25th district of California Parent-Teacher association was introduced.

A nominating committee appointed to select the new officers for 1961-62 is composed of Mrs. Clement, Mrs. Arnold Paul and Paul Weddle.

Master Point Winners Named
White City—Members of Camp White Veterans Bridge club played for master points at the last session, with women taking first place in both north-south and east-west positions.

North-south winners were Mrs. Paul McDuffee and Mrs. Jack Mitchell, first, 116½ points; Mrs. Ivan Harrington and Mrs. Frank Perl, second, 102½; Mrs. Fred Burch and Walter Humes tied with Dr. and Mrs. C. A. Holmes for third and fourth, both pairs scoring 95½ points.

Students At Meeting In Corvallis

Corvallis—Home economics students from Medford, Crater, and Phoenix High schools will participate in the 18th annual meeting of Oregon's Future Homemakers of America March 3 and 4 at Oregon State College, Corvallis.

Some 400 representatives from the 111 junior and senior high school chapters across the state are expected for the state meeting. Total membership in Future Homemakers of America in Oregon now is 4,042.

Two goals will be emphasized at the meetings: To develop a better understanding of family members and neighbors, and to develop individual potential abilities.

DeAnn Taylor is president of the Medford High school chapter, which has 80 members. It is one of the 10 largest chapters in the state. Mrs. Ruth Hockersmith is chapter adviser.

Chris Bartels is president of the Hedrick Junior High school chapter in Medford, which has 78 members. It is also one of the 10 largest chapters in the state. Miss Phyllis Black and Mrs. Dorothy Sneed are chapter advisers.

Sharon Thompson is president of the Crater High school chapter in Central Point which has 102 members. It is the second largest chapter in the state. Mrs. Frances Willett is chapter adviser.

Sharon Trautman of Crater High school is one of the state FHA officers this year. As parliamentarian, she will help conduct the statewide conference.

Shearon Poole is president of the Phoenix High school chapter, which has 11 members. Miss Catherine Carter is chapter adviser.

Clubwomen Honored In Rogue River

Rogue River—Three members of the Rogue River Civic Improvement club of the Oregon Federation of Women's clubs were honored at the February meeting at the club home on Oak street.

Mrs. William Trotter, Mrs. E. A. Miller and Mrs. Jerusha Moore were presented life membership cards in the Rogue River club by the club president, Mrs. Edward B. Burkett, at the beginning of a program prepared by Mrs. William A. White, senior citizen committee chairman.

A quintet composed of Mrs. Robert Brown, Mrs. Albert Osborne, Mrs. Rollin Stehl, Mrs. Burkett and Mrs. White sang a group of old songs. Mrs. Ray Powell played the accordion accompaniment.

Mrs. Fred E. Rankin of Medford, a member of the Oregon Council on Aging, spoke of the work done at the Senior Activity center in Medford. Mrs. Rankin told of the many activities for senior citizens that the Center promotes and said one of the members of the Rogue River club, Mrs. Elizabeth Scheffeld, had been very helpful in securing some of the benefits the members of the center now enjoy.

Since the program was in honor of the club's senior citizens, Mrs. White had invited all former members to be present. Mrs. Edward Oliver, Kerby, Mrs. Harry Nelson, Grants Pass, and Mrs. Jack Demory, Mrs. Jim Whipple and Mrs. Richard Hargitt, Rogue River, attended. Other guests were Mrs. Lloyd Smith, Mrs. L. Benefield, Mrs. Ray Powell and Mr. Oliver, who was a teacher in the Rogue River grade school in 1925.

Mrs. Lynabel Deck and Mrs. Beryl Ingle were co-hostesses for the dessert luncheon served preceding the program.

Dance at School Planned by Club
Hilltoppers Square Dance club will hold a dance at the old Wagner Creek school on Saturday, March 4. Dancing starts at 8:30 p.m. and all square dancers are invited.

Potluck refreshments will be served during intermission. Francis Cronin and guest callers will call the squares.

Music Boosters To Hold Session
Phoenix—The Talent-Phoenix Music Boosters' club will meet Tuesday, March 7, at 7:30 p.m. at the Phoenix grade school gymnasium.

Entertainment will be provided by the Talent Junior High school jazz band.

Everyone interested in school music, both instrument and vocal, is welcome to attend.

Social Events Women's News

Mrs. Richard Doi, wife of a faculty member at Southern Oregon college, Ashland, has been filling a number of speaking engagements in the valley. Mrs. Doi was on the program for the recent annual banquet of Medford Zonta club, and spoke on the evolution of the Japanese language. She holds one of several children's books printed in Japan which she brought to the banquet.

Women's Council Has Program On Realtors' Code

Four members of the Women's Council of the Medford Board of Realtors presented a program on the code of ethics at the February meeting of the council at Kim's restaurant. Speaking were Mrs. Celia Martin, Mrs. Helen Fosbury, Mrs. Lucille Daniels and Mrs. Lorraine von der Hellen. A round table discussion of realtors' obligations to the public, clients and fellow realtors, followed.

Members concluded that the discussion was "well covered" in the closing section of the code of ethics: "The term realtor has come to denote competence, fair dealing and high integrity resulting from adherence to a lofty ideal of moral conduct in business relations. No inducement of profit and no instructions from clients ever can justify departure from this ideal, or from the injunctions of this code."

The chapter is making plans for a rummage sale to be held March 28 in the Fehl building. The sale is to raise funds for the "Build America Better" project of the national council.

Following a report by committee chairman, the president, Mrs. Mary Miner Fasel, presented a resume of what is expected of the local club by national Medford and Salem were the only reporting councils in Oregon in the national year book, she noted.

Chops In Casserole
New York—(UPI)—Pork chop casserole is a good cold weather dish. Brown six double-thick pork chops in a lightly greased skillet. Place chops in baking dish and add three large onions, sliced thin, two finely chopped green peppers, one-half pound of mushrooms, chopped, salt and cayenne to taste, and one-half cup of hot water. Cover and bake at least 2½ hours in a 275-to 300-degree oven. Watch carefully and add more water if necessary. Serve with boiled buttered noodles.

Mrs. Eva Smith Presents Program For Relief Corps
Central Point—Mrs. Eva Smith presented a humorous program to members of the Central Point Woman's Relief Corps at the last meeting. Mrs. John Novak, 23 Lincoln street, Medford, was hostess for the meeting and potluck dinner. Mrs. Bessie Henderson presided.

Mrs. Smith, who held a pencil and paper contest and gave a comic reading, was costumed for her act and carried a caged bird.

Mrs. Novak related stories about Abraham Lincoln which revealed noble traits of character. Mrs. Fred Lawrence, new Veterans Administration Volunteer Services chairman of the state department, reported on matters concerning the local domiciliary.

The next meeting of the group will be March 21 at the home of Mrs. Sally Musty.

Famed Violinist To Be Soloist With Orchestra

Portland—Isaac Stern, one of the world's great violinists, will appear as guest artist with the Portland Symphony orchestra at a pair of concerts on March 6 and 7. Piero Bellugi will conduct.

Stern will play the Beethoven "Violin Concerto," the orchestra completing the program with Schubert's "Symphony No. 2" and David Diamond's "Symphony No. 4."

The violinist has been much in the news lately, not only for his widely-hailed tour of the Soviet Union last spring, but for his spearheading the fight to save Manhattan's venerable Carnegie Hall when that famous auditorium was doomed to destruction.

Last September, Stern opened the refurbished building as soloist with Leonard Bernstein and the New York Philharmonic Symphony and won a standing ovation from the celebrity-studded audience.

His extensive tour in the Soviet Union, which coincided with the break of the Summit Conference, was undertaken through the Cultural Exchange Program between the State Department and the Soviet Ministry of Culture.

In city after city the Russians gave the violinist unprecedented ovations and gathered in huge crowds in the streets to applaud him as he passed.

Advance reservations for his Portland appearances March 6 at the Auditorium and March 7 at the Oriental Theater may be made at the Symphony Office, 403 Park Building, Portland, Ore. The J. K. Gill box office opened March 2. The two programs will be identical and begin at 8:30 p.m.

Piano Team Announced
Nelson and Neal, an Australian-American two-piano team, will perform at a Jackson County Civic Music association concert March 16. The couple met while they were students at Philadelphia's Curtis Institute of Music and in the past ten years have played nearly 1,000 recitals all over the world.

They have been featured in the press and magazines and their life story has been dramatized over CBS-TV and on NBC-TV's "This Is Your Life" program.

The local concert will begin at 8 p.m. in Medford High school auditorium.

Reed Professor To Speak For League, Knife-Fork

The "Future of the Dollar" will be discussed by Dr. Frank Munk of Reed College Thursday, March 9, at a luncheon meeting sponsored by the Medford League of Women Voters. Dr. Munk will be in Medford to speak to members of the Knife and Fork Club Thursday evening.

The luncheon, which will be held at the Jackson hotel at 12 o'clock, has been planned to accommodate a large number of guests. The league invites everyone interested to hear this discussion of one of the country's foremost domestic problems.

"The League considers it a privilege to give residents of the valley an additional opportunity to hear such an outstanding teacher and lecturer," said Mrs. Dunbar Carpenter, president of the League of Women Voters.

"People are increasingly aware of their need to understand issues involving our domestic and foreign economy. Widespread reforms may be proposed by our government in relation to our gold and dollar problem. Dr. Munk's talk on the dollar offers an excellent chance to obtain information from an expert in the field of economics."

Dr. Munk is professor of Political Science at Reed college. He has been a research fellow of the Rockefeller Foundation and was Director of Training of the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration. He is the author of several books in the field of international relations. While he was president of the World Affairs Council of Oregon, the Council pioneered the Great Decisions program. Dr. Munk has served as advisor to Radio Free Europe and as consultant of political geography to the U.S. Air Force.

Reservations for the luncheon may be made by calling Mrs. Richard Schwann at SP 2-8825. Any one unable to attend the luncheon is welcome to come for the speech.

Footlights Rehearsing
"The Glass Menagerie" the first Tennessee Williams play to come to the Footlights stage, will go into production during the last week of March. Rehearsals are now underway as Director Glen Foster works on the cast to bring out the sensitive character portrayals called for by author Williams.

The lead in the Footlights production is taken by stage veteran Mrs. Jim (Bette Lu) Foster, who plays Amanda Wingfield. Amanda was a southern belle who married unwisely and is found deserted by her foot-loose husband with her two children; Tom, played by Alvin Riess, and crippled Laura, played by Sherril Bulger.

The three have a gentleman caller, played by Dr. Laurence Ware, and as Tom relates the story we see their lives change.

"Glass Menagerie" was the first play of Tennessee Williams to appear on Broadway and one of his most successful. This character study of four people has appealed to theatergoers both on the stage and as a hit movie.

Riverside Club Reports Winners
Winners at Riverside Bridge club Wednesday, March 1, were reported today. Eleven tables of players competed for monthly master points.

North-south top scores went to Mrs. Paul McDuffee and Mrs. Jack Mitchell, first; Mrs. Van Gilbert and Mrs. Marris Gibbons, second; Mrs. Fred Rehling and Mrs. Richard Gordon tied with Mrs. C. A. Holmes and John Solheim, third and fourth.

Winners for east-west were Mrs. Berg Marten and Mrs. F. E. Bowman, first; Mrs. Adam Richter and Mrs. Joseph Clark, second; Mrs. J. J. Finegan and Mrs. Fred Burch, third; Mrs. Sam Van Dyke and Roy Pruitt, fourth.
