

Variance Restrictions Noted by County Board

Several restrictions, to be compiled with by Peter Kiewit Son's company, were detailed by the Jackson county planning commission's board of adjustment last week with its approval of the company's request for a variance.

The variance, first requested in early January, was for the location of fill dirt and rock crusher sites north of Central Point. The property is between Gebhard and Scenic rds. east of the proposed freeway route and a site north of Eric ave. about three miles northwest of the other property.

The restrictions include:

1. Protection of the Central Point sewer line crossing Bear creek by not removing material within 100 feet upstream from it;
2. Planting a screen of trees between the pit and the freeway;
3. Leave a berm between the Ball property and the Elstad property in the excavation area with an outlet ditch constructed;
4. Slopes in the pit on the Ball property to be cut on approximate 2 1/2 feet to 1 foot; and

5. To terminate variance at end of company's contract with the state highway commission which started March 1 for a period of 210 working days.

The variance was requested due to the county's interim zoning ordinance. In commenting on the planning commission's action, R. B. Miller, area manager for Peter Kiewit's Sons company, commented for contacting all interested parties prior to the public hearing Jan. 31.

He stated that because of the meetings with all concerned differences were ironed out prior to work being started.

Three New $200 Scholarships Are Listed by ONPA

Eugene — Three new $200 journalism scholarships, supported by the Oregon Newspaper Publishers association, were announced last week by Charles T. Duncan, dean of the University of Oregon school of journalism.

The scholarships are financed under a plan presented to the ONPA at the annual Oregon Press Conference in February. The plan was unanimously endorsed by the board of directors and has since been widely supported by member newspapers.

A total of 37 newspapers (nine dailies and 28 weeklies and semi-weeklies) pledged their support when the plan was presented.

"The immediate response was most enthusiastic," Duncan said, "and there is every reason to think that further pledges of support will enable us to offer at least one more scholarship per year and possibly two more."

The great value of the plan, according to Duncan, is that at very little cost to any individual member, the newspapers of Oregon can offer tangible evidence of their interest in the education of future journalists.

"Individually the members of ONPA have always been exceptionally cooperative with the school of journalism," he said, "and several of them have been generous with their financial as well as their moral support. Now, for the first time, we can offer scholarships that represent the press of Oregon collectively. There is no better way of telling young people interested in journalism that the newspapers of their state are interested in them too."

The plan calls for a small annual contribution by ONPA members, on a pro-rata basis, to the Eric W. Allen Memorial Fund. The contributions are earmarked for scholarship purposes, and thus do not become involved with the main fund.

Lenten Message

By THE REV. DR. WILLIAM LARSEN, Secretary, American Lutheran Church (Written for UPI)

Soon after Jesus had made his announcement to his disciples "that He must go to Jerusalem and suffer many things... and be killed, and on the third day be raised." He told His disciples, "If any man would come after me, let him deny himself and take up his cross and follow me. For whoever would save his life will lose it, and whoever loses his life for my sake will find it."

Lent is the season of the year when we are asked to renew our commitment to Jesus Christ and recognize Him as the Lord of our lives. It gives us opportunity once again to look at the life we are living. We may examine our goals, our hopes, and aspirations. What is it that we want most in this life and where is our supreme loyalty?

There are certain conditions under which we serve if Christ is the Lord of our lives. It means that we give ourselves to Him and accept the claim that He has on us. We do not hold back but willingly listen to His voice and the prompting of the Spirit. We follow him unhesitatingly and lose our lives for His sake in order that we may find meaning in whatever we do.

The blessing of Christ comes to us if we appear before Him in prayer and request that He be the Lord of our lives. New joys are received when our purpose is to follow Him and listen to His will.

College Skiesta Said Successful

Ashland — The Ore-Cal Skiesta, sponsored by Southern Oregon college last week end at the Mt. Shasta Ski Bowl, was a "huge success" according to Dan Bulkeley, faculty advisor for the skiesta, and plans are already under way to make next year's event even better.

Over 250 students from SOC, OTI, College of the Siskiyous, Humboldt State, Chico State, and Shasta Junior college attended.

Elaine Tonkin, a sophomore in elementary education at College of the Siskiyous, was crowned queen, Sharon Zundel from SOC was runner up and Ruth Turner of Humboldt State was third.

Bulkeley praised Jim Johns Lakeview, chairman for this event, and other organizers for helping make it such a great success.
