

Edwards Most Valuable Crater Basketball Player

Central Point—Dennis Edwards was named most valuable player of the 1960-61 Crater High school basketball team at a dinner honoring the Comets here last night.

Edwards also received the sportsmanship and rebounding awards. Field goal and free throw awards went to Louis Alvarez and Loyd Hignbotham, respectively.

Wally Palmberg Sr., head basketball coach at Oregon Technical Institute was main speaker at the dinner sponsored by the Central Point IOOF and Rebekah lodges. He stressed to the players that "Education is our most important product." Palmberg brought out that there should be a balance between athletics in schools and education.

Other Speakers

Tom MacLeod, manager and sportscaster for radio station KYJC of Medford, was master of ceremonies at the dinner. Other speakers included C. A. Meyer, District 6 superintendent of schools, and Lloyd Hoffine, Crater's basketball coach.

Edwards, a 6-3 senior, led the Comets this year with 274 rebounds. Hignbotham, 5-8 senior, was the club's top scorer and topped Crater in free shots with 140 out of 183 for a .763 average. Alvarez had high field goal average with 401 on 65 out of 182 tries.

WRITERS HONOR RUSSELL

New York—Bill Russell, 6-foot, 9-inch rebounding star of the Boston Celtics, will be honored March 19 by the New York Metropolitan Basketball Writers association as the most valuable player of the year in the National Basketball association.

Pro Class Teams Roll In Tourney

Detroit—UP—The classic division, limited to bowling professionals, makes its team debut at the American Bowling Congress tournament tonight with two teams competing, the Sullivans of Detroit and the Amster-Wirz Club of Akron, Ohio.

Appearing in the first classic team action will be such stars as Billy Golembiewski, present Masters tournament champion, Ed Lubanski, former All-Star champion, and Thurman Gibson, recent winner of the $75,000 prize on a nationally televised bowling show.

Led Record

The Sullivans, rolling as the Pfeiffer Beers two years ago, established an ABC tourney record with a 3243 total.

There were two minor changes in team standings in Tuesday's action.

Fantasy Bowl from Detroit took over fourth in regular team standings with a 2853 and Mathews Five of Livonia, Mich., took third in booster standings with 2650.

There was a new leader in the regular singles division as Joe Santeek of Kalamazoo, Mich., fired a 687. The other leaders remained the same and were Orville Smith of Dayton in all-events with 1834 and Ed Johnson and Walter Crossno from Chicago in doubles with 1261.

The Wildcats used a well-balanced scoring attack to gain the victory and offset 25 and 20 point performances by EOC's Tom Neel and Pasco Arritola.

Center Gene Carlson led the Linfield attack with 18 points while Benie Grant, John Polhemus, Bob Close and Ron Phillips all scored in double figures for the winners.

Linfield, which had a 73-52 rebound edge, held a narrow 47-44 halftime advantage. The Wildcats will now compete in the NAIA championships at Kansas City.

In the third place game Portland State defeated Lewis and Clark 77-65 with Don Powell getting 22 points. Royce McDaniel had 19 for the losers.

New York—UP—Lynn Burke of Flushing, N.Y., a double gold medal winner for the United States at last year's Rome Olympics, announced she is retiring from swimming competition "because the demands of training are too arduous."

PAL BATTLER—A new name in southern Oregon boxing circles is Winningham. There is Jerry and his brother, John, from the Applegate area, who battle for the Medford Police Athletic League. Above is Jerry, 145-pounder, who likes it best when the going is toughest. He'll be on the PAL club's March of Dimes benefit card Saturday night at the Medford armory in a rematch with Stan Kiefer, Coos Bay. He lost a split decision by one-half point at Coos Bay recently to Kiefer. Still new to boxing, Winningham is fast learning to be a potent puncher. He has a punishing right hand. There are separate prices for balcony seats for students and adults, for regular main floor seats and for ringside seats. Twelve to 15 bouts are planned.

Johansson Changes To Pressure Style

By JACK CUDDY
Palm Beach, Fla.—UP—Ingemar Johansson, a changed fighter at 28, finished his glove preparations today for perhaps the ring's "greatest experiment" Monday night.

Under fire, he'll attempt a transition from the long-range "fear-fighter's" style that made him world champion to a close-quarter pressure attack which he hopes will recapture the crown from Floyd Patterson at the Miami Beach Convention Hall.

It's extremely doubtful if any other boxer of Swedish Ingo's prominence and age ever attempted such a drastic shift as that for which he has been rehearsing during 266 rounds of sparring for this fight.

When big, brown-haired Ingemar won the title from Patterson in June, 1959, with a third-round knockout, he was what boxing men call a "fear-fighter" — without any necessary reflection on his courage.

The term "fear-fighter" has been applied for many years to boxers who prefer fast footwork and long-range sharp-shooting to a close-quarter attack and its accompanying exchanges.

A fear-fighter who can punch is a very dangerous opponent because usually he is under such tension that his reflexes are lightning fast and his timing verges on perfection.

Ingo used that same long-range style in his second title fight with Patterson last June, but apparently he underrated Floyd because of the first-fight knockout and he lacked his former alertness — particularly in the second round when he stunned Floyd with a right to the head and then failed to follow up. Patterson knocked him out in the fifth round.

Now, Ingemar — strictly an upright fighter during his career — has changed to a semi-crouch, and even attempts to bob-weave at times. And he presses forward, flat-footed, after his sparmates. He jabs and jabs at them with his left — with a solid left — and tries to batter them with both fists in exchanges.

Highway Job Bids Opened By Commission

Salem—UP—Frank G. Baulne, Yardley, Wash., was apparent low bidder Tuesday for an Oregon highway commission contract in Baker county for $996,460 as the commission opened bids totaling more than $4.3 million.

The Baker county job was the most expensive in the lot. It involves 9.99 miles of paving and signs three miles southeast of Baker on the Old Oregon Trail highway. The bids ran only 3.5 per cent under highway department estimates. Contracts will be awarded Friday.

Other apparent low bidders and projects by county include:

Jackson: Clayton creek-Bear Gulch creek work, Pacific highway, Hughes & Dodd, Medford $31,575; Emigrant Reservoir section, Green Springs highway, 4.54 miles paving, Acme Construction, Redmond, Wash., $95,754; Fourth st. grading and paving in Phoenix, 2.3 miles, M. C. Lininger & Sons, Medford, $22,103.

Klamath: Chiloquin paving on Yahoskin st. and 2nd ave., .17 of a mile, Asphalt Paving Co., Klamath Falls $14,667; Williamson river-Medoc Point section, The Dalles-California highway, 5.7 miles paving, Rogue River Paving, Medford $75,190.

Lane: Honeyman State park, Coast highway, new equipment, Harley E. Lowe and Rolla A. Bryant, Medford, $56,003.

Doctor Escapes Death by Choking

McMinnville—UP—E. G. Parrish, 62, escaped death by strangulation here Tuesday night when he choked on a piece of meat at a restaurant that was hosting a medical society dinner.

The Yamhill County Medical Society was holding a dinner meeting when Parrish was stricken. An emergency tracheotomy was performed with a pen-knife to open a passage to the windpipe. Parrish was taken to McMinnville General Hospital where his condition was described as good.

Eight of the doctors at the meeting worked to save the choking man.

ORIOLES SIGN TWO

Baltimore—UP—The Baltimore Orioles today signed two 20-year-old hopefuls to farm club contracts. They are southpaw pitcher Harold Knowles, from New Brunswick, N.J., and second baseman Thomas J. Parsha, of Seward, Pa.
