

AAUW Member In Salem Today; Show Continues

Mrs. Robert A. Boyer flew to Salem today to attend a meeting of the state legislative committee of the American Association of University Women. Mrs. Boyer, who is legislative chairman of the Medford branch, AAUW, was invited to the meeting by Mrs. Robert J. Weiner, Portland, Oregon legislative chairman.

A visit to the state legislature is planned for the eleven committee members from all parts of the state and visiting branch chairmen. Mrs. Weiner announced that plans were being made for the group to attend meetings of the joint ways and means committee and the executive committee of the house education committee.

Chairmen of the senate and house education committees are to be present at today's AAUW luncheon.

The university women's group supports legislation related to the association's program. Emphasis is on education to develop informed opinion as a basis for action.

The annual art show of Medford branch is open today and Saturday at the Public Library of Medford and Jackson county. The show will be open tonight until 9 o'clock and Saturday from 12 noon until 6 p.m. About 200 works of local artists are on display.

Auxiliary Lists New Members
Mrs. Sanford Saunders and Mrs. Donald Littman were initiated into Medford unit of the American Legion auxiliary at the last meeting.

Conducting the ceremony were Mrs. Gilbert Clayton, Cave Junction, president of District 13; Miss Laura York, Mrs. H. L. Alford, Mrs. Paul Drouin, Mrs. Howard Goldsmith, Mrs. Ross Minnick and Mrs. Dorothy Sutter of the Medford unit.

After the ceremony members joined the American Legion members for entertainment by The Shadows. Past commanders of Post 15 and past presidents of the auxiliary were introduced by Granville Brittan, commander, and Mrs. Everett Barlow, unit president.

Harold Sanborn To Be Speaker
"Science in the Kindergarten" will be the topic discussed by Professor Harold Sanborn at the March 13 meeting of the Southern Oregon Preschool association.

Professor Sanborn is a member of the staff of the biology department at Southern Oregon college.

The meeting will begin at 7:30 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Lester Harris, 707 South Oakdale avenue. Anyone interested in the program is invited to attend.

Bethel Has Inspection, Initiation

Mrs. Ralph Nelson, Portland, grand guardian, and L. R. Manning, Medford, associate grand guardian, conducted an inspection of Bethel 55, International Order of Job's Daughters, at a recent meeting of the group held at the Masonic temple here.

Miss Jane Ward, honored queen, presided, and initiation was held.

Other grand officers present were Mrs. J. W. McGill, Beaverton, secretary; Mrs. Harold Gordon, Medford, chaplain, and Miss Laurie Beth Buonocone, Medford, representative to Washington.

Mrs. Carl D. Elhart, Medford, past grand guardian of Oregon and past guardian of Bethels 14 and 22, and Mrs. Hal McNair, Ashland, past guardian of Bethel 22, were also present. Miss Linda Knips, Bethel 55, and Mrs. John Mast, Bethel 22, Glens Ferry, Ida., were presented as past honored queens.

Mrs. Frank Salyers and John Day, royal matron and patron of Romy Anne court, Order of the Amaranth, sponsoring organization of the Bethel, were escorted and introduced. Other members of their group also were introduced. Mrs. John North, guardian of Bethel 14, and Miss Michaelyn Boughner, junior princess of Bethel 59, were also present.

The Misses Sharon Urie, Vicki Hall and Claudia Potts were initiated.

It was announced that Miss Laurie Beth Buonocone was installing musician for the UD Bethel recently instituted in Grants Pass. Plans were discussed for grand session to be held in Portland in June.

Miss Ward explained her money-making project. Each member of the Bethel was given a sum of money to increase by an individual project. The member reporting the largest increase will receive a prize.

Miss Ward presented Mrs. Nelson and Mr. Manning with money bouquets.

Mrs. Nelson presented Miss Ward a cornucopia on behalf of herself and Mr. Manning, and explained her theme for the year—R, reaching for the best; S, sincere in undertaking; V, virtue of qualities which adorn womanhood, and P, purity which beams throughout the veil of humility.

Miss Buonocone was in charge of entertainment. Miss Patty Selby read a script which was pantomimed by the Misses Julie Barclay, Lynn Langston and Claudia Edson. Miss Madlyn Buonocone supplied properties.

If you sit with your coat on for any length of time, unbutton it and pull it up slightly in the back to lessen the strain.

Paris - The tailored suit for spring will have a slightly longer jacket with a dropped waistline and asymmetrical detail, set atop a gently flared skirt that barely covers the knees. This beige and white wool tweed version, from Marc Bohan's first collection for the House of Dior, has high low self buttons set under a narrow notched collar. A narrow self belt ties in a bow at the side, far below a single, high-placed pocket. The high-crowned hat in beige suede is framed in a roll-brim faced in matching tweed.

Club Has Review Of Book Written By Local Author

"The Blood Remembers," was the book chosen for review by Mrs. Marie Dizney at the recent Wednesday Study club meeting. The story was written by Mrs. E. H. (Helen) Hedrick, 503 South Oakdale avenue, wife of the former Superintendent of public schools in Medford.

The locale of the narrative is southern and northern California along the Klamath river region extending from Happy Camp south to Somes Bar and Orleans.

The theme, partly fiction, and mostly factual, deals with the life of the Indians, their rites and ceremonies, religion and superstitions, intermarriage with the whites and carries an intriguing love story.

Mrs. Dizney stated Mrs. Hedrick has had several stories accepted by the Saturday Evening Post and Collier's magazines.

Mrs. Hazel E. Flurry presented an article she had written dealing with Prehistoric Oregon and the subsequent facts of the history of the settlement of Oregon down through the years.

Mrs. Flurry emphasized five important epochs in the history of Oregon. First, the discovery of the Columbia river and the overland journey of Lewis and Clark to the mouth of the river; second, settlement of old Oregon by the trappers and traders and by the Americans who came in true colonial fashion to occupy and improve the country; third, the Oregon Provisional Government 1843 to 1849; fourth, Oregon as a territory from 1849 to February 14, 1859 when Oregon became a state and fifth, Oregon as a state, the 33rd star in the constellation of states.

U.S. Economic Problems Topic for League Speaker

An optimistic view about the "future of the dollar" was expressed yesterday by Dr. Frank Munk, economist and professor of political science at Reed college, Portland, who talked for a noon luncheon sponsored by Medford League of Women Voters. About 100 league members and guests heard Dr. Munk speak.

Dr. Munk, a former president of the World Affairs Council of Oregon, former advisor to Radio Free Europe and one of those who pioneered the Great Decisions program, outlined some steps which this country can take to stabilize the dollar.

The speaker said the government can work to increase exports and bring about a more favorable balance of trade; cut out "some of the frills" and reduce military expenditures abroad without impairing the program; examine with care our aid to underprivileged countries and cease help where "it is just money down a rat hole"; discourage private capital investments in foreign countries which do not need it and in countries where it is in danger of being nationalized by governments, defer some travel abroad by Americans and encourage tourists from other nations to come here.

Encourage Tourists

The speaker said that this country could encourage more tourists by liberalizing our passport and visa restrictions. Elaborating about private capital investments, Dr. Munk said that many underprivileged countries have no private capital in the sense that there is in this country, and said "it is unrealistic to expect private capital to flow in; aid in these countries should be through governments."

This is at variance with league ideas, he added. Enlarging on the matter of examining foreign aid, the speaker said this country spent $3.2 billion on foreign aid in 1960 and added "it is not a question of how much is spent but how it is spent."

He pointed out that 40 per cent of this has been for military aid, some of which was not needed and some of which eventually helped the Communists. He gave Laos as an example. "Economic aid is usually more productive," he declared.

Discussing this nation's military expenditures abroad, Dr. Munk said that some of the other Western powers were now able to take over part of the military burden and should do so. He said Western Germany has the "biggest military establishment in Europe now" and added that when France is able to terminate the expensive war with Algeria, that country will be able to supply NATO troops for the European defense system.

Dr. Munk said the United States could supply atomic arms for the Western powers in Europe, while those countries supplied conventional arms and manpower.

Increase Exports
About the increase of exports, Dr. Munk declared that other countries must be encouraged to lower duties and remove obstacles to imports from this country and added that league members could help to "put the heat on."

He pointed out that considerable export business could be built up with the raising of standards in underprivileged countries and said many of these peoples are eager to buy U. S. products.

Dr. Munk began his talk by speaking of the urgent problems now facing the world and declared that there are about 100 of the "new" countries and those struggling for independence. Part of these problems are only partly soluble, he added, and said "it will take a tremendous amount of money and effort" to bring about the economic development of these countries and "we should be satisfied with only a start."

He spoke of the "little recession" which started in the United States in 1958 and said "it has now bloomed into a depressionette." Saying that unemployment figures are confusing and misleading, Dr. Munk explained that the nation is now only about 90 per cent as productive as it should be. Measures which can be taken to correct this condition are, in some ways, at variance with those of aiding underdeveloped nations, he explained.

The problem of the United States dollar in part reflects our progress in aiding countries abroad," the speaker said. "It is a measure of our success in helping Europe to get to her feet after the war."

"Much of the outflow of gold is due to the fact that Europe has regained her position in world trade. Europe is now the magnet for money. Money is going from the United States to Germany, France and Italy, and in some measure to Japan."

Europeans Work Hard

Dr. Munk spoke of the reduction in our monetary gold supply, saying it has been reduced from $25 billion to $17 billion and gave figures on the corresponding increase of the gold supplies of the European countries. He added that this was not completely due to United States aid and said "They work hard in Europe. Remember, the only source of wealth is hard work." He also pointed out that Europeans have benefited greatly from overcoming their age-old prejudices and "getting together" to work out a common market and reducing trade barriers between nations. Europe will eventually abolish all tariffs, Dr. Munk believes.

Scouts Earning Puppet Badge; To Give Show

Girl Scouts of Troop 193, composed of girls in the sixth grade at Jefferson school, have made puppets and will stage a play entitled "Why Be a Drop Out" during Girl Scout week which opens March 12. The puppet show will be given for all Brownies and Scouts from Jefferson and Washington schools.

The troop made their puppets of papier mache and dressed them. The play was written by the leader, Mrs. J. A. Mills, after the girls did research on Girl Scouts and Girl Guides in all the 26 countries in the International Girl Scout council.

The first act introduces two 11-year-old girls discussing whether to continue with scouting, or to "drop out." The second act takes place at the Scout chalet in Switzerland with girls from all over the world attending a council meeting. The last act is the troop, practicing for the play, and it is brought out that scouting is now more meaningful.

In the play the Girl Guides from Mexico, Kathy Taylor and Barbara Lilly, will explain that they are a tenderfoot country and the puppets will do a Mexican dance. Guides from Liechtenstein, Karen Perkins and Mayde Lul Mills, will do the Liechtenstein polka and repeat the Scout Promise. Guides from South Africa, Kathy Whitney and Janice Mason, will discuss work they are doing for the leper colonies.

Guides from India, Teresa Wilkins and Rhonda Davis, speak of their work with the Red Cross, and do an Indian dance. Gail Smith and Carol Templeman, representing Brazil, will explain how they sell Girl Scout cookies and Christmas cakes to help out flood and earthquake victims.

The third act incorporates material about the Girl Scout laws, slogan and meaning, and the start of the movement in this country.

The puppets were to have been completed March 9. Earlier this year the members of Troop 193 worked on badges to complete their first class scout rating. These have been in drawing and painting, the cooking badge, and the puppeteer badge.

To earn the paint badge, troop members painted pictures for their parents at Christmas. Most of the free hand scenes were in Oregon, and the pictures will be on display this month in a window.

The cooking badge was earned in the girls' homes, under the guidance of their mothers.

Last year the girls earned child care and our troop badges. For the latter, the girls studied millinery and made Easter hats for their mothers.

Mrs. F. H. Taylor is assistant leader of the troop.

State President Of Blind Council Calls Meetings

Ronald Warner, Medford, president of the Oregon Council of the Blind, and Mrs. D. A. Harris, corresponding secretary, also Medford, will attend the annual spring seminar of the council in Portland Saturday, March 18. They will also attend an executive board meeting which will be held there March 19. Sessions will be in the Washington hotel.

The Oregon council is sponsoring a number of bills in the state legislature, including House Bill 1141, "Aid to the Blind," and legislation for a more adequate white cane law and for tighter controls on handling of explosives.

The council will also consider a membership campaign and fund raising among other items on the program.

The monthly meeting of the Jackson Council of the Blind will be held at 2 p.m., Sunday, March 12, in the St. Mark's Episcopal church Guild hall, Fifth street and Oakdale avenue.

Following the business session a social hour with light refreshments is planned. All friends and interested persons are invited to the meeting. Those wishing transportation may call Miss Gwen Edwards, Spring 2-6731, or Mrs. Elna Ragsdale, Spring 2-6072.

Mrs. Drew Lamb Is Club Hostess
Ashland - "The Dean's Watch" by Elizabeth Goudge was chosen by Mrs. Elizabeth Sommer when she presented the book review on the Monday afternoon program of Ashland Study club. Hostess for the meeting was Mrs. R. Drew Lamb, 634 Iowa street.

The story is laid in mid-nineteenth century England and action centers about the cathedral's honored dean and a humble clock-maker. The painstaking precision and beautiful artistry involved in making the celestial clock, followed by its disastrous end, furnish the framework for the plot.

Mrs. Harold Merrill based her selected subject on the heroic life of the late Dr. Tom Dooley. She traced his inspiration to become a medical missionary from an early visit with the famous jungle doctor, Albert Schweitzer, telling of the harrowing experiences in Indo-China while ministering to war refugees.

Despite his brief career the dedicated young doctor's influence will live long after him through MEDICO (Medical International Corporation) now operating in 12 Asian countries. Book royalties and many memorial contributions are already increasing the Dooley fund.

March 20 Mrs. Sommer will be hostess for the 2 o'clock meeting which will include a book review by Mrs. Harry Skerry and a half-hour subject by Mrs. Frances Hardy.

Protective
New York - (UPI) - A new perspiration resistant, transparent coating for application on brass, copper and aluminum has been developed by Sun Chemical corporation.

The coated surfaces resist marring, scuffing, bruising, scratching and abrasion. As a result, the coating is recommended for lipstick cases, compacts, hardware, drawer pulls and door-knobs.

Mrs. Jack Collier Hostess for Shower At Williams Home

Williams-The home of Mrs. Jack Collier, Williams, was the setting for a shower March 2, honoring Mrs. Robert (Betty Katzenbach) Dump and infant daughter, Sandy Lee Dump, who was born February 18.

Assisting Mrs. Collier with hostess duties were Mrs. Robert Boyce and her daughter, Miss JoAnn Ralph.

Mrs. Dump has been with Mr. and Mrs. Howard Dump, Provost, and will soon be at home near Rich, where Mr. Dump is now employed.

Invited to the shower were Mrs. Mark Saunders, Mrs. Howard Dump, Mrs. William Katzenbach, mother of the honored guest, Mrs. Harold Vencill, Mrs. John Katzenbach, Mrs. Howard Collins, Mrs. Percy Sowell, Mrs. Harry Fischer, Mrs. John Lathrop, Mrs. Gertrude Davidson, Mrs. Chester Booth Sr., Mrs. A. D. Fitzpatrick, Mrs. Norman Webb, Mrs. Paul Sakraida, Mrs. Chester Booth Jr., Mrs. Richard Holloway, Mrs. W. T. Parsons, Mrs. Omar Lytle, Mrs. Henry Hart, Mrs. Axel Blodgett, Mrs. W. W. Claypool, Mrs. Dorothy Rippee, Mrs. George Cockman, Mrs. Daisy Lewman and Mrs. Clem Blodgett, all of Williams; Mrs. Garner, Murphy; Mrs. Lew Varner, Mrs. Carl Neuber, Mrs. Lora Katzenbach, Mrs. Bert Bigelow, Mrs. Artha Wilson, Mrs. Cleo Reel, Mrs. Curtis Frazier and Mrs. Mike Rak.

Refreshments were served.

Seattle Woman Tells of Tour
A tour of Norway was described by Mrs. Theodore Jones, Seattle, when she spoke at a recent meeting of Christian Women's club at Kim's.

She described the difficulties of traveling in a country where one's language is understood only by a few persons, and how overjoyed she was to meet those who spoke English.

Mrs. Jones stated that the prices of food were high, and that she found menus quite different, with breakfast of cheese and bread common. She spoke of the fact that many buildings and houses were unheated.

The speaker stated that about two per cent of the population of Norway attends church. Mrs. Jones' husband is a well known builder of hydroplanes.

Mrs. C. G. Haggard explained that the purpose of the club is to supply rural and village missionaries in America. She stated that 28,000 churches in America have no ministers, 60,000 churches are closed and 10 million children do not attend Sunday school.

Mrs. H. H. Bresson sang, accompanied by Mrs. Harold Yost.

Mrs. Pauline Bright, owner of Rogue Valley Florist shop, demonstrated arranging of the less expensive flowers.

Sunshine Girls Initiate Seven
Talisman Rosebud council, Pythian Sunshine Girls, initiated seven girls and welcomed them into the council at the last meeting.

Those initiated were Tina Quozzo, Carol Furland, Susan O'duane, Rebecca Robertson, Regina Robertson, Donna Trout and Kathy Hartle.

Speakers Listed For Girl Scouts

Medford Police Sgt. DeLaire Tusow will speak on the operation of the police department and highway safety and Westley Stanfield will speak on safety out-of-doors at the Girl Scout Operation X program to be held Saturday, March 11, at Hedrick Junior High school in the Little theatre.

Starting at 9:30 a.m. and continuing until 12 noon, the program is for all Girl Scouts and leaders from the sixth grades through senior scouting, in the North Jackson, South Medford and Madrona districts.

Sergeant Tusow plans to speak on causes of accidents, what to do and not to do at an accident, correct bicycle riding behavior, animals on the road, what to do if you need a policeman, and behavior when approaching anyone using a white cane, which indicates a blind person.

Mr. Stanfield, technical assistant and forester for the State Department of Forests, will speak to the girls about safety in the woods, how to recognize poison oak and poison snakes, and what to do if they come in contact with either. He will also tell how to act when lost in the woods, and how to prevent being lost. He will also explain what to do in case of lightning, how to take care of fire in the woods. The speaker plans to stress that a person should never enter the woods alone, but should always have a buddy along.

Dr. Wells Talks For Ashland Club
Ashland—Contrasts of jungle wilderness and modern architecture, of life in Egypt and in Kenya Colony were combined in the picture tour of Africa presented Wednesday evening by Dr. Wayne Wells before members of Ashland Business and Professional Women's club.

The professor-emeritus of Southern Oregon college shared some of the experiences and impressions of his recent travels abroad and illustrated them with amusing anecdotes as well as colored slides.

In the business session held after Dr. Wells' talk it was voted to hold two meetings each month for the remainder of the club year, beginning March 15 with a 7 p.m. dinner in the Mark Antony hotel. Reservations are to be made by March 13 with Mrs. Victor Flint, Murdock 2-8871.

Mrs. Horace Myers presided over the meeting held in Wesley house and Mrs. Carl Peterson and Mrs. Chester Squire were hostesses for the social hour when refreshments were served from a St. Patrick's tea table.
