45 Qualify for Honor Society Membership

Grants Pass — W. W. Baldersee, Grants Pass attorney, was guest speaker at the National Honor Society's installation of new members on March 9.

In addressing 45 students who qualified for the society, he emphasized what he felt was an undue amount of panic connected with getting into college in these years of crowded schools. He said that the pressures brought to bear in an attempt to have a student admitted to a large, well-known college failed to take into consideration the excellent development taking place in most of the many smaller colleges throughout the country. He urged these students not to be overawed by all the talk of being unable to get into acceptable colleges, but to realize instead, the tremendous opportunities the future holds for them in these challenging times.

School Problems Explained To Tiller-Drew PTA

Tiller-Drew — School problems and potentials were explained by Bill Lewellyn, superintendent of District 15 schools and Charles (Bud) Porter, member of the district board of directors, at the regular meeting of the Tiller-Drew PTA Tuesday, March 7.

Lewellyn explained the hot lunch program beginning with State aid to the program in the form of cash and commodities, and ending with the shortage of funds that now face the district. He explained that since reorganization last year, the new board of directors failed to budget enough money for the deficit in the lunch program.

This, he explained, is why one assistant cook was laid off and the rest of the cooks received a wage cut. In order to try to keep out of the red for the rest of the year, meal prices to adults have been raised.

Funds for the lunch program on the budget will be on a separate ballot this year. Porter explained how sending the Tiller seventh and eighth grades to Days creek and bringing the Days creek fourth and fifth grades to Tiller would lower the cost of instruction hour per pupil. This change would make it possible for teachers to have only one grade. They have two presently.

Porter explained how the change would necessitate finishing an uncompleted room at Tiller, hiring an extra teacher for the district, and paying additional mileage to the school bus contractor.

He said this move would not affect the bus schedules at Tiller but would affect them at Days Creek by one-half hour.

Mrs. Hillard Lillgren, treasurer of the PTA, reported that roller skating on the first and third Saturdays of the month had cleared $80 so far this year for the PTA.
