SCHOOL NEWS

Oak Grove School

Mrs. Ruth Dunn's second grade has been learning about halves in arithmetic. During art, we made pictures with cut paper in circles and halves of circles. We also made spelling book covers which we measured and designed with halves.

To go with our reading lessons we have made pictures of airplanes, trains, trucks, and steam shovels.

In Mrs. Mary Carlon's second grade Bill Ritchie has moved and is now going to Wilson school. We have a new boy from Beaverton, Scott Smith. We also have a new girl, Sherry Simpson. She came from Ashland.

We made pussy willow pictures with chalk and made pictures of cats on a fence. The cats were made from real pussy willows.

In art and social studies, we are finding out what foods are good for us and making health posters using pictures of good foods.

Mrs. Dena DeKorte's fourth grade won the room count for the last PTA meeting and got ice cream bars.

For geography, they are doing plays about France. The plays are "Life in the Mountain," and "Life in Brittany." The entire class did the play, "Knighthood." In art, they have made charcoal drawings of animals.

Christine Elmgren brought pictures to school of scenes in Sweden.

The National School Assembly was put on by Mr. Johnston. He had a dog named Lady taking Prince's place, four doves, a puppet and some magic. In two of the magic tricks, he had helpers, Phillip Taylor and Bryant Jones, both in Mrs. Corinne Kane's room, and Arnold Waldren, in Mrs. Florence Connors room.

Lady did such tricks as ringing a bell, walking on her hind feet, rolling and going through a barrel.

The four doves rode a merry-go-round, ferris wheel, and some flags. They also rolled a barrell and a ball. One walked a tight rope.

The puppet did one trick that was a card trick. Some of the magic tricks were changing color of a scarf, making a block and two paper rabbits go from one place to another.

St. Mary's High School

By BRYAN VON BUSKIRK

Last Monday, the students of St. Mary's school attended a Pontifical High Mass offered by His Excellency Edward D. Howard, Archbishop of this diocese. Following the 9 o'clock Mass, the students of the high school returned to the activity room for a formal reception honoring His Excellency. John Snider, student body president, welcomed Archbishop Howard, and the Boys' Glee club, Choralettes, and the Marian choir presented songs. The students enjoyed the remainder of the day as a holiday.

Last week end was the time for the annual visit of His Excellency to Medford to confer the Sacrament of Confirmation. He arrived Saturday, participated in the initiation of the Knights of Columbus Sunday morning, and held Confirmation in Sacred Heart church Sunday afternoon.

Tuesday the freshmen, sophomore and junior students spent their morning taking tests. The freshmen and sophomores took the National Educational Development tests, designed to show the participating students where their strengths and weaknesses lie and to show them the fields where they should do more work.

The juniors took the National Merit Scholarship qualifying test.

Wednesday was the day of the annual Student Teacher day sponsored by the National Honor society. Most of the students participating were in the NHS, but a few non-members volunteered to assume charge of classes.

Anne Bennett, NHS president, said "The purpose of Student Teacher day is to acquaint students of the duties and problems faced by the teachers. It also helps to show students whether they have the desire and ability to be a successful teacher."

On Wednesday the bi-weekly Student Council meeting was held. Senior Class President Florian Shasky, safety chairman, launched a drive to better alert the students of St. Mary's to the dangers concerning fire and automobile. Florian was given permission from the council to use the bulletin boards and the intercom to present a few thoughts on safety. He intends to ask the city firemen to give demonstrations in the use of various fire extinguishers.

The junior class talent show, "Spotlight Talent," was held Thursday with two performances, one at 1 o'clock, and the other at 8 p.m. Winners of first prizes were Arnold Kosmatka with a trumpet solo; vocalists Kathy and Patty Meeker, and "Pyramus and Thisbe," with Doug Snider, Dave Lowry, Bill Brown, Joe Kaiser, Pat Stinson and Jerome Higgins.

The afternoon performance was for the grade and high school students and the evening show was for the general public. Profits from the show are to go to the new school.

The Shadows, a local quartet composed of S.M. grads Paul Smith, Gary Mikschke, and seniors Bill Smith and Tom Newcomb, entertained while the judges were reaching their decision. All who competed in the show were students of St. Mary's.

Some of the acts were the Charleston, various groups of vocalists, solo numbers and several short plays.

Two senior boys, Fredrich Burich and Ric Carrara, have been chosen to be in the All-Northwest choir, scheduled for a concert in Spokane, Wash. Fredrich and Ric left Monday and will return Sunday.

The two boys were chosen by Ralph Hunter, director of the event. Five boys from St. Mary's sent in applications to Hunter, and Fredrich and Ric were selected to be among the 500 participants. Fifteen hundred boys had sent in application from the Northwest.

Walker, Ashland

"The Pilots" group in Mrs. Clara Fader's room dramatized a story, "Big Bear's Sack," in their reading period for the rest of their classmates, and Mrs. Janice Gouley's students.

The boys and girls enjoyed working with Miss Marlene Powell, their student teacher.

Mumps has been responsible for two absentees, Charles Chappelle and Judy Weitnauer.

Spring vacation is a welcome password, teachers and children alike.

Mrs. Judith Paulsen's room has a new boy from Portland. His name is Alan Collier. The class presented a movie of the story, "Seven Little Postmen," to the other second grade rooms.

They are studying simple machines and have made a bulletin board of pictures showing how wheels, inclined planes, levers, and pulleys make work easier.

Many finger paintings are on display around the room.

Mrs. Toby Deller's room received a new student, Tim Iba, from Lincoln school.

Arlo Miller of the Ashland fire department was a guest of Mrs. Trubee Bell's fourth grade, room 6, Wednesday. He talked to all the fourth grades about fire safety and prevention.

The room 6 fourth graders presented a program for their parents entitled "Living Together Around the World" March 8. All the children in the room participated, sharing concepts learned since September, of the world and the people that live in its different areas.

Monday, March 6, Miss Arlene Inlow's fifth grade class accompanied their student teacher, Mary Lou Klann, to the college science hall to see exhibits relating to the science unit "Living Things."

Dr. Sturges of the science department showed the different kinds of mounted birds and told of their habitat. The children were interested in seeing the king snakes and noticed the difference between a reptile and the toad, which is an amphibian. They also saw stuffed mammals and some skins of mammals.

Boys and girls of the fifth and sixth grades have completed intramural activities in basketball and are looking forward to spring sports, baseball and track.

Bellview, Ashland

In Mrs. Rose Van Buskirk's fourth grade, we are going to have a marble tournament. The boys play the boys and the girls play the girls. We have a winner from each room. We have a winner from the primary grades and the intermediate grades, too.

Our class has been studying and learning about different kinds of desert life. The three main deserts we know the most about are the Sahara, the Gobi, and the Egyptian desert.

Some of the things we know about these three deserts are their food, clothing, vegetation, homes, climate, and transportation. In studying these deserts I am sure we all have learned many things we never knew about before.

New officers for the remainder of the school year in Mrs. Josephine Jarnagin's fifth grade class include president, Craig Botts; vice president, Craig Landing; treasurer, Christine Miller; secretary, Don Renfro; newspaper, Carson Parker; librarian, Donnie King.

Willard Ellis moved recently and is enrolled in Briscoe school.

The children are painting a mural of western scenery. This is their art project for the Western States.

Many pupils have been quite ill recently, some missing as much as two weeks of school.

Noel Deets chose three arithmetic groups in his sixth grade class. We are studying division of fractions.

Bellview school is having a poem contest. It will include poems from all the grades. The contest was started by Mrs. Van Buskirk's fourth grade. The poems written by the fourth grade will be challenged by all the other grades.

This contest is to encourage interest in poetry.

In social studies we are studying about Mexico. Mexican cities and farm lands in the valleys are surrounded by mountains. There is not much level land in Mexico. There are two great ranges of mountains named Sierra Madre Occidintal and Sierra Madre Oriental. There are also the mountains called Orizaba, Popocatepetl, and Ixtaccihuatl. We have found out a lot about minerals and the kinds of food they eat. The most unusual product is chicle. They use it for chewing gum. We have heard interesting things about Mexico.

Foresters Attend Soil Science Meet

Forty foresters from the Rogue River, Siskiyou and Willamette national forests are attending a one week training session in soil science in Medford, according to Carrol E. Brown, supervisor of the Rogue River national forest.

The session is being conducted by Dr. Donald D. Johnson, of Colorado State university, under the auspices of the regional office of the forest service. It is the only session being held by the forest service in Oregon and Washington this year. Medford was chosen because of the varieties of soil and geologic formations plus favorable climate, Brown said.

This session will enable foresters to do a better job of land management because soil is a basic resource and knowledge of how to manage it is fundamental.
