NCAA Gains Praise of Attorney

By JOE BREU

New York – (UPI) – Dist. Atty Frank S. Hogan today praised the NCAA for its efforts to prevent the current college basketball scandal which is scheduled to go before a grand jury on April 4.

"The NCAA has made tremendous efforts to prevent basketball scandals since 1051," said Hogan, who said that his investigation is not nationwide, and does not involve college football, professional football or professional basketball. "But perhaps administrators of colleges have to take even more steps."

Otherwise, Hogan kept the curtain of secrecy that has been dropped over the investigation for almost a week. He declined comment on a report in Sports Illustrated magazine that his representatives had visited the campus of La Salle college in Philadelphia and that three University of Connecticut students had been questioned.

Not Measuring

And he snapped, "I'm not in a measuring mood," when asked whether the current scandals would prove larger than those of 1951 which involved some of the game's biggest stars.

Hogan said his office has been investigating college basketball for five months and had planned to keep it rolling for two more months before making any announcements. He said his hand was forced when one of the principals involved made plans to leave the country.

Aaron Wagman, 28-year-old New Yorker who is charged with giving a $1,500 bribe to a University of Connecticut player, was said to have obtained a passport on March 15. The only other person under arrest is Joseph Hacken, 41, of New York, who is accused of giving $1,000 bribes to each of several Seton Hall players to control the score in a game against Dayton University.

Bud Wilkinson Chosen To Head Fitness Program

Washington –(UPI)– President Kennedy today named University of Oklahoma Football Coach Charles B. (Bud) Wilkinson to head up a national youth fitness program.

The appointment was announced after Kennedy met with Wilkinson at the White House.

Wilkinson, 44, who is athletic director as well as football coach at Oklahoma, will be Kennedy's special consultant on youth fitness.

The White House said Wilkinson will start immediately to confer with both government agencies and private organizations and groups to formulate a program.

Serves Without Pay

The coach will serve without pay for an indefinite period, the White House said.

The annuoncement added that Wilkinson "will fulfill his coaching duties at Oklahoma during spring training and the fall football season."

Wilkinson was in the Navy in World War II as a hangar deck officer on the aircraft carrier Enterprise. He saw action in the battles of Iwo Jima, Tokyo and Okinawa.

His Oklahoma football teams have consistently ranked high in the national ratings.

Nieder May Go Only Six Rounds

Carson City, Nev. – (UPI) – Olympic shot put champion Bill Nieder will be able to fight only six rounds when he makes his professional debut in Reno next month, according to the Nevada athletic commission.

Nieder was scheduled to meet boxer-wrestler Rayork Becerra of British Columbia in a 10-round main event April 7, but the commission ruled Wednesday that the Olympic star could only go six rounds.

"We don't feel an amateur right out of the ranks should fight 10 rounds with a seasoned opponent who has had maybe 40 or 50 fights," said Commissioner James Deskin of Las Vegas.

Judge Beats Odds; Draws Name for Jury

Dallas, Tex. –(UPI)– The odds were staggering, something like 400,000 to 1, but District Judge Dallas A. Blankenship did it.

He not only drew his own name as a prospective juror Wednesday, but also drew the name of C. A. Maxwell, the bailiff in the jury room.

Blankenship excused himself, and told Maxwell not to worry about it either.

Pirates Feel They Can Take It Again Despite Weaknesses

By LEO H. PETERSEN
UPI Sports Editor

Fort Myers, Fla. – (UPI) – The Bucs may beat 'em all again.

"Beat 'em, Bucs" as the slogan of the Pittsburgh Pirates in 1960 and they lived up to it. They won their first National league pennant in 33 years and their first World Series in 35.

Manager Danny Murtaugh and his players feel they can do it again in 1961.

"We're the team to beat," says the tobacco-chewing Murtaugh. "You always figure in baseball that the team which wins the pennant is the club to beat the following year.

"So despite all this talk about the Dodgers, I figure we should win again. Maybe the Dodgers or some other club will come along and knock us from the top, but I don't believe it can be done."

At the same time, however, Murtaugh admits that his 1961 club has "some weaknesses."

"I'm not going to tell you what they are," he said. "The other clubs will find out soon enough, just like we will find out what their weaknesses are."

Murtaugh isn't worried about his second line pitching, which the New York Yankees bombarded unmercifully in the Series; his bench strength; or the fact that the Pirates stood pat with their 1961 personnel except for the acquisition of relief pitcher Bobby Shantz.

Depends On Bench

"We wouldn't have won last year without our second-line pitching," Murtaugh observed. "So far as our bench is concerned, whenever we called upon it, it produced.

"And Shantz should give us the best bullpen in the business, teaming up with Elroy Face."

What's more, Murtaugh pointed out, the Pirates gave up three players "who didn't figure in our 1961 picture" to get Shantz. Shantz toiled for the Yankees last year, but went to the new Washington Senators in the American league draft to stock its two new clubs. The Senators in turn sent Shantz to the Pirates for pitcher Bennie Daniels and infielders Harry Bright and R. C. Stevens.

Except for pitching and the bench, the 1961 Pirates are all set.

Dick Stuart, going against left handed pitching, and the aging Rocky Nelson, swinging against righties, will platoon at first base. Series hero Bill Mazeroski will be at second; the National league's most valuable player and batting champion, Dick Groat, at short; and Don Hoak, one of the best in the game, at third.

In the outfield it will be Bob Skinner in left, Bill Virdon in center and Roberto Clemente in right, with Gino Cimoli ready to step in if any one of them goes into a slump. Cimoli, as last season, also will be used for late-inning defensive purposes, replacing Skinner.

Has Three Catchers

Murtaugh will go with three catchers because he often uses pinch runners for his two slow running regulars, Smokey Burgess and Hal Smith. They are good hitters, fair receivers. The third catcher, Bob Oldis, is fine defensively, but he isn't much of a threat at the plate.

Joe Christopher, who hit .232 with the Pirates and .341 at Salt Lake City, probably will win an outfield reserve berth. Rookie Don Clendenon, a .335 hitter with Savannah last year, and Roman Mejias, who didn't make the grade in previous trials, have a chance to stick.

For infield reserves there are Dick Schofield, who took over for Groat late last season when the Pirate star fractured his right wrist and did an outstanding job, and Gene Baker, who apparently has overcome the knee trouble which has handicapped him the past few seasons.

Murtaugh has decided to go with 10 pitchers. Those sure of their jobs are starters Vernon Law, who won 20 while losing nine last season, Bob Friend (18-12), Vinegar Bend Mizell (14-8) and Harvey Haddix (11-10) and Shantz and Face.

Looking for Pitcher

Murtaugh is looking for a fifth starting pitcher "so I can give Haddix an extra day's rest every now and then." He thinks he may have him in Curt Raydon, bothered by a sore arm last season while winning seven and losing five at Columbus, Ohio, and 1-0 with Savannah.

"He has been real impressive this spring," Murtaugh said. Tom Cheney, 2-2 with the Pirates and 4-8 at Columbus, is another possibility for that fifth starting spot.

For the middle innings there are Fred Green (8-4) and the hard-throwing Joe Gibbon (4-2). The veteran sinker ball expert, Clem Labine, 3-0 with the Pirates last year after moving to Pittsburgh from the Dodgers, will be around for relief pitching too.

Two others, Jim Umbricht, 8-4 at Columbus and 1-2 with the Pirates, and Tom Parsons, 12-7 at Salt Lake City, also have a chance to make the grade.

Summing up, there appears to be no question about the Pirates front line and relief pitching, and their catching, infield and outfield regulars.

But whether the bench and that second-line pitching is strong enough remains to be seen.

Murtaugh thinks it will be. He should know. That's why it looks like the Bucs may beat 'em again.

Titleholder To Be New

Detroit – (UPI) – Team champions rarely repeat in an American Bowling congress tournament, and after Wednesday night there will be a new regular division titleholder in this year's tourney.

Four members of the 1960 championship team, A. and A. Asphalt of Birmingham, Mich., appeared bowling under the Pfeiffer Beer banner Wednesday night and the team rolled a weak 2807.

Jack Born, Hank Gniewek and John Nickell rolled in the A. and A. championship lineup in Toledo last spring but were off their games as Born totaled 588, Gniewek 535 and Nickell 541. Monte Ancza, on the bench at Toledo, had a 569 series.

The Old Fitzgeralds of Chicago went into fifth place in Classic team standings with a six-game 5796 total. The team bowled 2841 after an opening 2955.

The Munsingwears of Chicago finished with a 5572, hitting 2851 Wednesday night after an opening block of 2721.

Milwaukee Braves Might Have Robbed Peter To Pay Paul

(This is one of 18 dispatches on the 1961 prospects of the major league teams.)

By LEO H. PETERSEN
UPI Sports Editor

Bradenton, Fla. –(UPI)– The Milwaukee Braves have solved the problem which cost them the National league pennant last year and in so doing have created another problem which may cost them the pennant this year. They have, it appears, robbed Peter to pay Paul.

Because manager Charley Dressen and general manager Johnny McHale blamed their second place finish of 1960 on defensive and offensive weaknesses at second base and short, they went out and cornered the market for those positions. But to do it they had to give up one of the top centerfielders in the game, Billy Bruton, and two second line pitchers with starting potentialities, Joey Jay and Juan Pizarro.

Dressen points out they would not have made the deals if they were not convinced they could plug the outfield and pitching gaps. He professes not to be worried, claiming that any club which beats the Braves will win the pennant. He doesn't think that is going to happen, though.

Admit to Worry

McHale, on the other hand, frankly admits that he is "worried about our pitching situation." He feels he can remedy the situation, if necessary, by putting some of his extra second basemen and shortstops on the market.

Except for two outfield and some second line and relief pitching spots the Braves are all set.

The infield will have big Joe Adcock at first base; Frank Bolling, the ex-Tiger at second; Roy McMillan, the ex-Red, at short, and the hard-hitting Eddie Mathews at third.

Bolling and McMillan were the key players in the deals the Braves made to solve their infield problems.

They did not stop there, however. They also picked up second baseman Billy Martin from the Reds and shortstop Andre Rodgers from the Giants. Also available are three holdovers – shortstop Johnny Logan and second baseman Mel Roach and Felix Mantilla.

Mantilla also can play the outfield and is one of the leading candidates for Bruton's old center field post.

Only Sure Bet

Hank Aaron, always a good bet to win the batting, home run and runs batted in championship, is the only outfield certainty. He can play right or center, but prefers right. However, he will be shifted to center if none of the flock of candidates Dressen has for that berth makes the grade.

Right now the leading candidate is Mack Jones, who is not even on the roster. He hit .309 at Louisville last season and Dressen says he can do the job with his glove. It's a question of whether major league pitching may be too good for him.

Al Spangler, another good glove man with a .267 batting average with the Braves last season; John Demerit, the bonus outfielder who can get 'em in the field but is light with the bat as his .270 average at Louisville last season testifies, and Mantilla are the other candidates.

If Aaron stays in right, that would leave Wes Covington, who slumped to a .249 average last year, and Lee Maye, who batted .337 at Louisville and .301 with the Braves at the tail-end of the season, for left field.

Dressen also is giving Roach a chance at an outfield berth. The quantity is there, but whether there is quality outside of Aaron remains to be seen.

Spahn Anchor Man

The seemingly ageless Warren Spahn, who will be 40 in April, again will anchor the pitching staff, with Lew Burdette, also getting along in years, and Bob Buhl the other hurlers sure of starting jobs.

Spahn, who needs only a dozen victories to reach the 300 game winning circle, won 21 games last season–the 11th time he has won 20 or more games in a season.

Carlton Willey (6-7) probably will be the fourth regular starter. Two rookies, Ken MacKenzie, 6-5 at Louisville, and Don Nottebart, 13-5 with Louisville, are also candidates for starting roles. So is Charles Hendley, a 16-game winner at Louisville who isn't on the Braves roster but will be moved up if he continues to show as well as he has thus far this spring.

The Braves may be hurting for bullpen strength unless Don McMahon can return to his 1959 form. Last year he won only 3 games while losing 6.

Ron Piche, 3-5 with the Braves and 2-1 with Louisville, may help while southpaw George Brunet, who won two games for the Braves last season, also could win a relief role.

Considering the age of Spahn and Burdette and the uncertain status of some of the others, it is easy to see why McHale is concerned about the pitching.

Del Crandall will handle the bulk of the catching with Charley Lau the No. 2 man. So long as Crandall is not hurt, the Braves do not figure to have any catching worries.

Beavers Edge Puerto Ricans

Homestead, Fla. –(UPI)– The Portland Beavers downed Puerto Rico 8-7 in an exhibition baseball game Wednesday.

It was Portland's second victory in three starts in the exhibition season.

Mantle Blasts Pair Of Ruthian Wallops

By FRED DOWN
United Press International

The new Mickey Mantle looks suspiciously like the old Mickey Mantle.

And just in case there's any doubt about it, that's awfully bad news for American league pitchers.

You don't hear much talk any more around the Grapefruit circuit about Mantle's "DiMaggio-like" leadership qualities – Remember two weeks ago how Mickey was going to develop into a quiet leader?–but you sure do hear about his Ruthian wallops.

Mantle unloaded a pair of 'em Wednesday and the second coming in the ninth inning, produced a 14-11 victory for the New York Yankees over the Milwaukee Braves. Mantle, who belted his first homer of the game off Warren Spahn, drove in six runs in all and raised his spring batting average to .483. He's hit four homers.

Whitey Ford and Spahn were both hit hard during the game but elsewhere on the spring training circuit the front-line pitchers are rounding into shape.

Friend Goes Seven

Bob Friend and Elroy Face combined in a five-hitter to pitch the world champion Pittsburgh Pirates to a 10-1 win over the Chicago White Sox. Friend hurled seven innings, yielding the five hits and Chicago's run, and then Face pitched hitless and runless ball the last two innings.

Robin Roberts and Jim Bunning each turned in a strong performance in the Philadelphia Phillies' 7-1 win over the Detroit Tigers. Roberts allowed only one hit in three innings and now has pitched 10 consecutive scoreless innings this spring. Bunning became the first Detroit pitcher to go seven innings and three of the five runs he allowed were unearned.

Dick Ellsworth yielded one unearned run and three hits in seven innings as the Chicago Cubs shaded the Cleveland Indians, 2-1. Johnny Antonelli continued his fine showing for the Indians allowing one run and six hits in six innings.

Orioles Extend Streak

Steve Barber and Jack Fisher combined in an eight-hitter to give the Baltimore Orioles a 9-4 win over the Cincinnati Reds and run their winning streak to five games.

Relief ace Lindy McDaniel did his specialty for the St. Louis Cardinals to preserve a 5-3 victory that snapped the Kansas City Athletics' three-game winning streak. McDaniel went the last three innings yielding an unearned run.

Larry Sherry's three innings of shutout relief were rewarded with a victory when pinch-hitter Jim Gilliam's ninth inning single enabled the Los Angeles Dodgers to beat the Minnesota Twins, 3-2. Sherry followed Johnny Podres, who allowed seven hits.

San Jose, Calif. – (UPI) – San Jose State broke a nine-game losing streak by defeating Oregon 13-5 in college baseball play here Wednesday.

The loss was the Ducks' second in three starts this season.

Dave Turnbull, a sophomore righthander, went the nine inning route for San Jose. He struck out 10 and gave up only six hits.

Dick Brede started for the Ducks but was chased out in the fourth.

Snead Shatters Bayshore Mark

Miami Beach, Fla.—(UPI)—When the warm Florida sun soaks the aches out of aging Sam Snead's muscles, none of the bold newscomers to golf can touch him.

The old master from the West Virginia hills set a new competitive course record for the Bayshore course Wednesday with a nine-under-par 63. Who held the old course record 64? Sam Snead. It was such an old record that officials could only guess it was set about 10 years ago.

Snead and a select field of professionals are warming up in a pro-am event for today's start of the $25,000 Sunshine Open.

Nez Perce Seen Harmful to Fish

Portland –(UPI)– A consulting fisheries engineer for the Washington Public Power Supply System said Wednesday there is a possibility that the Nez Perce Dam could not be built without harm to fish.

The testimony of Harlan Holmes was given as the Federal Power Commission hearing here on rival applications to dam the Snake river continued in its second week.

Holmes testified Tuesday that the "fish facilities at Nez Perce stand a good chance of doing a reasonably good job." Under cross-examination by Hugh Smith, counsel for Pacific Northwest Power Co., applicants for the high Mountain Sheep Dam above the mouth of the Salmon river, Holmes said he could "see a possibility" of some delay in the salmon spawning migrations if the Nez Perce is constructed.

The hearing erupted Wednesday when Smith was accused by Mrs. Evelyn Cooper, counsel for the WPPSS, of "wild and reckless cross-examination." Smith made counter-charges that he was being harassed by Mrs. Cooper.

Holmes also accused attorneys of trying to distort his testimony.

Architect Gives Park Estimate

Portland–(UPI)–It would cost "no more than $5 million" to turn Multnomah Stadium into a 45,000-seat major league baseball park, an architect estimated Tuesday.

Architect John Storrs made the estimate to the City Planning Commission. A new stadium of comparable size would cost about $12 million, he said.

RETIRED CHAIRMAN DIES

Mobile, Ala. – (UPI) – Funeral services were scheduled today for George Anderson Eastwood, 81, retired board chairman of the Armour Packing Co., who died Tuesday.

Mat Meet High Interest Centers on Individuals

Corvallis —(UPI)— Oklahoma State's powerful Cowboys were such top-heavy favorites to win the NCAA wrestling title that chief interest at the three-day meet opening today centered on individual crowns.

Coach Myron Roderick's Cowboys, who have swept aside all opposition this year, boast strength in each of the 10 divisions as they go after their 22nd title in the 31 years the event has been held.

Last season Oklahoma State dropped to fifth place, with the title going to state rival Oklahoma. The latter is strong again but the Cowboys are conceded by coaches to have too much all-round strength.

"They're probably the best collegiate wrestling team ever assembled," coach Dale Thomas of host Oregon State said. "They could set a new team record for points in this tournament."

Three defending individual champions are back from last year and six members of Uncle Sam's 1960 Olympic team will compete. The individual kings include Oklahoma heavyweight Dale Lewis, Iowa State's Larry Hayes, 147 pounds, and Gary Simons, Lock Haven, Pa., State, 117 pounds.
