With heads covered and umbrellas raised, hundreds of Republican women from throughout Oregon stood in line, in the rain, outside of the home of Governor and Mrs. Hatfield in Salem recently waiting their turn to be received by Mrs. Hatfield. A tea at the governor's home was on the program for the annual meeting of the Oregon Federation of Women's Republican clubs, and about twice as many women attended as the committee had anticipated. Among those present from Jackson county were Mrs. Carl Sandeen (center, wearing fur stole), president of the Rogue River club; Mrs. Lyndal Deck (wearing light suit) and Mrs. Ralph O. Chapin (dark suit), delegate and alternate from the Rogue River club. (Tompkins photo)

Mrs. Mark O. Hatfield, First Lady of Oregon (at left), wore a fashionable flowered hat for a recent luncheon of Republican women in Salem. Mrs. Harold F. Strawn, Portland, retiring president of the Oregon Federation of Women's Republican clubs, covered her dark hair with a veil with the party emblem on it. (Tompkins photo)

MEDFORD  TRIBUNE
MEDFORD, OREGON, SUNDAY, MARCH 26, 1961

Two Conventions

Mrs. Edith Ingram (at left) and Mrs. Virginia Wicker, both members of the Medford chapter, Oregon School Food Service association, were co-chairmen of a banquet given at Rogue Valley Country club during the eleventh annual meeting of the Oregon group held in Medford.

These four women will head the Oregon School Food Service association for the coming year, having been elected to office during the eleventh annual conference held in Medford. They are (left to right) Mrs. Hazel Withrow, Medford, secretary; Mrs. Garnet Draper, Eugene, president-elect; Mrs. Blanche Barnett, Portland, president; Mrs. Blanche Miller, Junction City, treasurer. More than 300 women from throughout Oregon who are identified with the food service in the state's schools attended the conference.

Conventions require much planning, and four local members of the association did much of the work preceding and during the conference here. Pictured are (left to right), Mrs. Irene Drew, manager of the Medford High school cafeteria and a past president of Medford chapter, Oregon School Food Service association; Mrs. Virginia Wait, cafeteria coordinator for the Medford public school system and co-chairman with Mrs. Drew of conference arrangements; Mrs. Ruth Hurt, president of the Medford chapter and manager of the Lincoln school cafeteria; Mrs. Sybil Squire, president of the Una B. Inch chapter of the association and manager of the Phoenix school food service.

Mrs. Gladys Negelsbach, Portland, (at left) and Mrs. Laura P. Wells, Salem, director of the lunch program for Oregon schools, hold one of the cafeteria posters used in some Oregon schools to help the youngsters concentrate on their food.
