RETURN FROM SOUTH POLE - Ralph E. Ash, center front, was one of eight men who returned earlier this month from a trip to the South Pole under the auspices of the National Science Foundation, Washington, D.C. He is in Medford visiting friends for a few days. Ash, formerly of Medford, is now with the University of Wisconsin as a traverse engineer with the polar exploration group at the geophysical and arctic polar research center. He was the chief of the recreation section at the Veterans Administration before leaving this area several years ago. Shown with him are (standing, left to right) Mario Giovinetto, University of Ohio, an Argentinian; Ardo Meyer, navigator,

Coast and Geodetic survey, Washington; Dr. Albert Cray, chief scientist, U. S. antarctic research program; Jack Zahn, glaciologist, polar institute, Moscow, exchange scientist; (front, left to right) Jack Long, traverse engineer, University of Wisconsin; Ash; and Ed Robertson, University of Wisconsin, seismologist. Ash has also worked with Tucker Snow-Cat company for several years and spent a month last year at the winter Olympics with a Sno-Cat. The trip at the South Pole took 62 days and the group covered over 1,450 miles. The scientists reported that the temperatures dropped as low as 60 degrees below zero. Will Your Grandchildren Live to See the Free World Die?

Nikita Khrushchev is telling the world, "Your grandchildren will grow up under communism." Do you believe it? Will they live in a barracks with their hair shaved off? Salute the communist flag? Forget God? "Never," you say. But are you sure? Ask yourself - what you can do now to oppose communism? There is one sure way: SUPPORT RADIO FREE EUROPE.

Radio Free Europe is a private organization supported by Americans like you... people who are willing to do a little something extra to make the future better for their children and children all over the world. Everyday, Radio Free Europe broadcasts the truth to 79 million captives behind the Iron Curtain... giving them the courage to resist Communist brainwashing.
