The Family Council

Editor's Note: The Family Council consists of a judge, a psychiatrist, three clergymen, three editors and a women's editor. Each article is a summary of an actual case history. The Council reports on problems that have been dealt with by responsible agencies and counselors. (Copyright 1961—General Features Corp.)

Neil G. - My niece refuses to move to a boarding school. Irene S. - I'm not a delinquent and no trouble to him.

Neil G. - This is a sordid tale, involving my headstrong sister who died at 35 after three marriages. I'm only 28 but the social agency has given me temporary custody of my sister's only child, Irene, who's 14 and the product of her first marriage.

I'm unmarried, not exactly qualified to watch over an adolescent girl in my small apartment. Her natural father has abandoned her, and my sister's subsequent husbands have no interest in her welfare.

Irene knows that her stay in my home is only a makeshift, until an application for her admission to a residential shelter is processed. But she clings to me, and refuses to show up for the medical exams.

Irene S. - There's nothing the matter with me, so I don't see why I must live in an institution with delinquents and addicts. All I need is a home and someone who cares about me. I have that with Uncle Neil.

Since my mother's death, the agency and the guidance teacher at school have been trying to "place" me, but nothing worked out until now. First I lived with a step-sister, then with a foster family. Each time something went wrong, like my step-sister getting engaged, or the foster parents fighting.

My schoolwork is at a standstill because of my worries. Now Uncle Neil can help me with homework, and I can help him with housework.

The Council: After so much buffeting, Irene understandably is weary and wary. We hasten, therefore, to try to restore her faith in the adults - Uncle Neil, the guidance teacher, the social worker who, as surrogate parents, have her long range welfare and interests at heart and in mind. They will not lump her with "delinquents and addicts."

It's true that Irene has been handed a particularly rough deal. Her predicament reminds us of the crushing burdens weighing upon many of our high school students to whom we try to teach algebra, Latin, citizenship. Because of the recklessness and irresponsibility of their parents, these youngsters want answers to: Who loves me? Who'll help me? Whom can I trust? And teachers try to understand. But Irene still has mettle and spunk. Her distant star may be a home of her own some day, in which to give a husband and children the warmth and love she never had. And the direct path to that star is the group-living to which she is being steered.

The right environment can make the difference. Irene is too young to see all the reasons why a 28-year-old uncle's flat isn't the answer for an orphaned, neglected, abandoned and confused teenager. But one reason is that a 14-year-old needs a father and a mother, or a reasonable facsimile found often in the "cottage - plan" residential schools for homeless girls. These offer a family "feeling," with a cluster of "sisters" sharing life under the roof of a trained married couple.

Schumacher Author Of Pamphlet Article

County Assessor Ray J. Schumacher is author of an article on depreciation studies in the February pamphlet on technical valuation published by the American Appraisers Society.

"Depreciation when applied to real estate improvements will apply only to the individual property, and will vary as to age, maintenance, use, utility, design, hazards, benefits and economic changes," Schumacher pointed out.

In the article, the Jackson county assessor explains the difficulties in making an appraisal and considering depreciation. He defines such factors as age obsolescence and physical deterioration, functional obsolescence and economic obsolescence.

Depreciation is loss in dollar value from new to current age and condition. Past depreciation is not percentage, and future depreciation is not annuity, Schumacher said.

Primary election speeches were made this morning, and primary elections will be held on Friday.

Oregon Technical Institute will have a senior visitation day April 15, open to all high school seniors or juniors who plan to attend OTI. There will be a general campus tour as well as special division tours. The students will have the opportunity to view classes in session.

"Up the Ladder" was the theme of the annual band spring festival March 23 at Hedrick Junior High. Each of the seven attending bands played two selections and all combined in the finale to play "The Star-Spangled Banner."

Nine weeks' tests were given last week. All library fines and make-up time should be cleared. Report cards will be sent home next week.

A meeting was held last week for all girls interested in the girls' tennis team. About 20 girls showed interest in the team. This will be the first year of active participation by a girls' tennis team. Pat Mounts is the coach.

All seniors who expect to take the college examination board tests in May were asked to obtain their applications and test material explaining the tests. Applications must be in the Los Angeles office before April 22.

Lenore Zapell, dramatics coach, has announced the cast for the coming production, "The Madwoman of Chaillot." Production dates will be May 4, 5, and 6.

The lead characters are Bill Deemer, the prospector; Dean Hiser, the president; Mark Goodman, the baron; Terry Wiek, the ragspicker; JoAnn Johnson, Irma; DeAnne Taylor, Countess Aurelia, madwoman of Chaillot; Bob Walker, Pierre; Linda Jo Waltermire, Mme. Constance; Beverly Gebhard, Mlle. Gabrielle, and Diana Hunter, Mme. Josephine.

Other roles will be played by Bruce Bush, Bill Deckard, Nancy Duncan, Julia Gandt, Lindsay Darnelle, Ann McElrath, Jo Miller, Paul Goodwin, Jim Douglass, Larry Scruggs, Steve Eickelberger, Vance Welty, Eugene Vermuelen, Jack Smeltz, John Stewart, Noia Robbins, Bob Betts, Warren Parke, and Berry Scruggs.

Bill Hobbs and Jerry Wine-trout will serve as stage manager and assistant. Mark Goodman will be the business manager, and publicity will be arranged by Judy Foreman, Susan Elder, Pat Bandy, Sandra Klatt, Mary Andrews, and Lynn Offord.

Nominations for ASB officers of 1961-62 have been made by the Medford High student council.

Candidates are Chuck McNair, Scott Eaton, Joel Gregory, and Carl Washburn, president; Doug Robertson, Bruce Niedermeyer, Frank Graham and Susan Garner, vice president; Martha Watson, Bonnie Cheney, DeEtta Lawson and Theresa Six, secretary; Don Weter, Joyce Leon, Janet Turner, and Lana Merrifield, treasurer; Nancy Duncan, Bill Heyerman, JoAnn Johnson and Bill Dames, business manager; Vicki Enders, Shirley Donahoo, Mary Milne and Sandra Bates, yell queen; Kenneth Bradford, Bob Darby, Mark Cochran and Dave Irving, yell king.

Bruce Matheny of Ruch school visited the 6M class Thursday. Matheny is interested in the science reading research program. The fourth class in this program began at 8:10 a.m. Monday.

Mrs. Angela Thompson's fourth grade class presented a play entitled, "A Family in Space," to the PTA and the student body recently.

The theme of the play centered around a classroom situation, and the guest speaker, Professor Stellar. The professor, played by Ron Havnear, directed the situation while the various planets gave their own presentation of their importance to the solar system. Also of importance was the role of the Sun, played by James Mercer, and Charlie Comet, portrayed by Terry Witter.

The production was in the Jackson school auditorium. The stage was decorated with a large picture of a space ship, and the back wall was covered with a mural of the planets scaled in relation to the size of the sphere.

The students had a good time preparing the production as well as learning a great deal from the study of the script. All children in the room participated.

Miss Edna Smith from West Side visited the three second grades Friday.

Louis, Rita, and Mary Melger from Middelburg, Zeeland, The Netherlands, visited Mrs. Sarah Watson's third grade class Wednesday. Mrs. Bernice Kunzman, who brought the children to school, is teaching the children to speak English. The family recently moved to the United States.

Bill Jacobs, a master of musical novelties, presented a musical show to the Jackson school student body. Musical instruments were drums, goose horns, musical skillets, Swiss song bells, vibra-harp, puppets, and the chromatic musical bottles. The main instrument was the marimba.

Jacobs showed speed, precision, and colorful playing on the novelty instruments. This was one of our National School assemblies paid by the student body from funds obtained from the April Frolic.

Mrs. Myrna Dean and her second grade students have illustrated on the bulletin board three books: "The Country Bunny" by DeBose Heyward, "The Bunny's Easter Gift" by Bill and Bernard Martin and "The Egg Tree" by Katherine Milhous.
