Measure for PUD Bonds Without Vote Defeated

Salem—(UPI)—A Democratic-backed power bill that Rep. Beulah Hand said would bring Oregon "into step" with the times and lead to reduced rates was killed in the Oregon House Tuesday by a 38-20 vote.

The measure would have permitted public utility districts to issue revenue bonds without a vote of the people. Rep. Hand said it would bring Oregon into competition with Washington, where no such vote is required now.

Few Democrats Join

A few conservative Democrats joined Republicans voting the party line to kill the bill.

Rep. Hand said in Washington 65 per cent of the power is public, and rates are an average 30 per cent cheaper than in Oregon.

She said 24 public utility districts are flourishing in Washington out of 26 tries, while Oregon, hamstrung by the voting requirement, has only four active public districts out of 12 tries.

Bill Prohibits Turning Auto Mileage Indicator

Salem—(UPI)—Rep. Beulah Hand (D-Milwaukie) Tuesday introduced a bill making it illegal to turn back the mileage indicator on an automobile.

It would also be against the law to let anyone else alter a speedometer reading.

This bill would allow the state to suspend the registration of a car dealer found guilty of the practice.

Grange News

Griffin Creek Grange

Griffin Creek Grangers met for a dinner before the last meeting, March 23, in observance of the founding of the Grange 25 years ago.

The program, prepared by Lecturer Jane Hopping, consisted of old songs, readings, and reminiscences of earlier days. Twenty-five year members present, all of them also charter members of Griffin Creek Grange, were Mr. and Mrs. Harry Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Clark, Mrs. Jessie Minear, and Mrs. Iva Harper.

Four new members were voted into the Grange. They are Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Graham and Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Graham. At the March 9 meeting, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Smith were welcomed into the Grange, and given the obligations of the third and fourth degrees.

For the program of the next meeting, April 13, a group of Future Farmers from the Crater High chapter will present special musical numbers and give a demonstration on parliamentary procedure and public speaking.

Upper Applegate Grange

The Upper Applegate Grange met March 24 with Master Anna Scott presiding. It was announced that Alexander Smith, former member of the Grange and resident of the Applegate, has been removed from the Camp White Domiciliary to Veterans hospital in Vancouver, Wash.

Verma Culy, HEC chairman, read her quarterly report. A letter was also read from the Pearsons, who are living in Honolulu. Shirley Dunlap-Madden resigned from the Grange. Veva Saltmarsh was conducted to the Master's station and presented a citation for her reports of last year when she served as lecturer.

Agriculture Chairman Martin Grier read the "no trespassing" notice that will be posted on his property and this notice is available to all Applegate residents.

The lecture program consisted of a reading by Edna Sawyer entitled, "A Monkey's Opinion." The program also included a reading by Lora Scott from Edgar Guest's "My Creed."

The Sad-Faced Bloodhound Is Really a Gentle Soul

There is a good reason why the bloodhound on the trail of the criminal is always held by a leash in the hands of its trainer.

Not because of what you might think or by what you have read or seen in pictures, but because the unleashed hound would probably lick the fugitive's hand after he caught up with him, for by nature the bloodhound is more saint than beast; he's so good-natured he's never mad at anybody.

The name "bloodhound" is a misnomer. This dog, the "head man" among the hounds little deserves the reputation and the name his press agents have given him, for he is one of the gentlest and kindest of the hounds.

It is his willingness to serve his human masters that makes him the expert "tracker" he is. He follows the trail, not because he is bloodthirsty, but because he is willing.

Man, however, has taken advantage of the dog's keen scent and made of him a "man hunter." Some fiction writers have tried to picture the bloodhound as a ferocious beast, that readily attacks and willingly kills. But such are not the true facts. After a bloodhound tracks a criminal to his hiding place, the natural action of the dog would be excessive tail-wagging and a desire for the culprit to pat the loose skin of the dog's head.

The name "bloodhound" was affixed to this solemn-faced canine a long time ago when the trainer smeared the blood of a deer on his shoes and placed the hound on the trail. From this the next step was the "dry track," whereby only the foot of the deer was the scent-trail.

It is surprising that even in this so-called enlightened age, there are so many people who still think of a bloodhound as a fierce, bloodthirsty beast. They visualize a fearsome dog of giant proportions, with snarling fangs and a desire to hunt down and kill.

If you believe this you have been deceived, for the bloodhound is a kindly animal, with sad eyes, long, pendulous ears, and a very deeply wrinkled and melancholy face. He closely resembles an old gentleman who has lost his glasses and is doubtful of ever finding them.

In spite of his name, the bloodhound wants to be friendly. He will look at you sadly from eyes that seem always to be "bloodshot," as if he hadn't had a wink of sleep

ARMS LIFT CONTINUES

Washington—(UPI)—A State Department spokesman said Tuesday the Soviet arms airlift to Laotian Communists continued during the past 24 hours, although fighting in the tiny Asian kingdom slackened off.

in a week. The worst that can be said about the bloodhound is that he is more of a "man-lover than a man-bater," more saintly than beastly.

Portland Buckaroo Bill Davidson says

"Sure, I bank at U.S. - doesn't everybody!"

Buckaroo defenseman Bill Davidson knows the importance of a good bank. Shortly after moving to Portland from Canada he discovered that almost everybody did bank at U. S. And when he found a branch close to home... well, it's a lot more convenient than Souris, Manitoba! (Convenience is a habit with U. S., having 78 banking offices in Oregon.) Now, Bill is enjoying the same personalized attention that every customer enjoys at U. S. National. Many other newcomers to our state have found U. S. to be the friendly bank. And thousands of Oregonians have known for years that "your kind of bank" means U. S. National.
