REMOVED—James G. Cross, above, president of the Bakery and Confectionary Workers, has been removed from office by the executive board of his union. Peter Olson, secretary-treasurer of the union, also was ousted. The action, a union spokesman said, resulted from "certain disclosures concerning the activities of Cross and Olson."

Irish Playwright Wages Battle in Toronto Hospital

Toronto — (UPI) — Brendan Behan, 38, Ireland's colorful playwright, was fighting the most serious battle of his life against the bottle today in a Toronto hospital.

The writer's latest drinking spree landed him in a private hospital early this week, and reports from his doctor, wife and friends indicate he is on the brink of death.

Behan's wife, Beatrice, who Tuesday feared he might die after two violent alcoholic seizures, said Wednesday her husband was "much better." "He's even managed a joke or two with his doctors and nurses," she added.

Too Optimistic
But Wednesday night, Eamon Martin, a close friend, reported the writer had "slipped back a bit."

"I'm sorry to say we were a bit too optimistic," he said. Martin was quick to add, however, that "Mrs. Behan and I are still expecting he will pull through."

Dr. David W. Pratt, the physician attending the playwright at Sunnyside Hospital, described Behan as a "terribly, terribly sick man, desperately needing treatment." He would not comment further.

Warned By Doctor

Behan is a diabetic who has in the past been warned by doctors that drink may cost him his life. He indulged in a wild drinking bout last week following the opening of his jazz show, "Impulse."

A clash with police followed, he landed in jail, was bailed out, was fired as emcee of the plush jazz revue, and started his pub crawling in earnest. He wound up in the hospital Monday, the day he was scheduled to appear in court to face charges of assaulting a hotel detective and city policeman during his earlier shenanigans.

Russia Urged To Curb Veto Demand

Geneva — (UPI) — The West warned Russia today its demand for a veto on inspection might prevent agreement on a worldwide ban on nuclear tests.

The United States and Britain urged the Russians to withdraw their demand, indicating that Moscow's reaction would be regarded as a token of Soviet intentions at the 2½-year-old nuclear test talks.

U.S. delegate Arthur H. Dean and British Minister of State David Ormsby-Gore did most of the talking at the conference's 281st meeting today, which will be its last before the Easter recess. The conference will meet again Tuesday.

Tussia's Semyon Tsarapkin said only that he hoped to be able to reply to the Western spokesmen "soon after the Easter recess."

Eugene Youngster Drowns in Slough

Eugene — (UPI) — A 2½-year-old Eugene boy drowned in a slough near his home Wednesday.

The boy was identified as Mark C. Moir, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Moir.

There were no witnesses. His body was found floating face down in two feet of water by his brother, Tod, 5. Two neighbors pulled the body out of the slough.

JUST TOO MUCH
Lewes, England — (UPI) — Irritated by dozens of questions about why the 9:57 from London was running late, a porter exploded to passengers: "Elephants are tearing up the line at Polegate."
