

Bonn—179—Thirteen thousand political prisoners are in East German jails for crimes that wouldn't even rate a fine in a western state. West German officials report. Their "crimes," All-German Affairs Minister Ernst Lemmer said, range from threatening to close a business house because it was losing money to refusing to join a Communist farm collective.

"Whoever dares to publicly criticize the state (in East Germany)," Lemmer declared, "goes to jail."

Just one example of unnumbered cases," Lemmer continued, "is that a barber shop owner in Juetterbog was said during a discussion that if prices didn't change, he would have to close his shop. He was sentenced by a court in Potsdam to four months in jail for 'attempting to pressure the government in an effort to attain egoistic goals.' His license to operate a barber shop also was withdrawn.

According to Socialist opposition party documents, upon arrival at a jail, a political prisoner's hair is cut to within an inch of his skull, he is issued normal prison clothing, given a number and placed in solitary confinement for several weeks.

Works Under Guard
Thereafter, the prisoner may work under guard in a factory, mine or construction job. The bookkeeping for this work is fancy, and indicates the prisoner earns a basic wage of 180 marks ($45) a month. But after deductions the prisoner has left only 10 marks ($2.50).

If he is on his good behavior, he is permitted to spend the money in a special commissary, to supplement regular rations, which the Socialists described as mainly bread and soup with a couple of slivers of sausage twice a week and boiled potatoes on Sunday.

As an inducement, prisoners are promised their sentences will be reduced by one day for each two days they work on condition they over-fulfill their "work norms" by 141 per cent.

"But the norm are so high that only an insignificant percentage of the prisoners are physically able to fulfill them, much less exceed them," the Socialists said.

The Lutheran church weekly Sonntagsgottesdienst recounted recently the experience of a woman who spent five months in a Communist East German jail. The woman, she said, slept in their underclothing and, as cells were overcrowded, many bedded dirty blankets on the cement floors. Once every fortnight, they were allowed to shower.

Attempt to Flee
Many of the prisoners were sentenced for attempting to flee to West Germany.

There are some of the best bits of gallows humor ex-prisoners have reported. The tale has it that a government man from East Berlin inspecting an inmate morose party had been certified.

He tried to flee East Germany," was the reply.

"But that doesn't make him crazy," the inspector murmured.

"But this one," came the answer, "tried to escape to the Soviet Union."

Scout News
Cub Scout Pack 82 Yreka-Pack 82 Cub Scouts met at the Jackson Street school multipurpose room recently.

The flag was presented by Den 7, and the meeting was called to order by Cubmaster Louie Choate. Skits were presented by Dens 6 and 1 and 3. The theme was railroad days.

Den 8 showed a model of an old time train and gave some definitions of railroad expressions. Dens 1 and 3 made up a human train using props made during den meetings.

Mrs. Pat Henderson and Mrs. Don Moore were introduced as new Den Mothers along with their cubs forming Den 8. The achievement flag was presented to Den 8 for being the den receiving the most awards at the meeting. Den 8 received the attendance flag for having all members present at the pack meeting.

A Bobcat ceremony was held with boys receiving bobcat pins. Additional pins and awards were given to other den members.

Boys receiving Webelos badges will form a new Boy Scout Troop sponsored by the Yreka Elks club with Forest Seright as their Scoutmaster. Ed Foss was named as a committee chairman to replace Seright. Eight new Den Mothers received pins.

Colors were retired by Den 7, cookies and coffee were served at the close of the meeting. There were approximately 78 boys and their parents present.
