

Disgusted Red Technicians Said Leaving Cuba

Havana - (UPI) - Communist technicians sent here to train Cubans in their specialties were reported today to be heading for home, disgusted with the inefficiency of Premier Fidel Castro's government.

Seven aviation instructors from Red Czechoslovakia left Monday, telling friends they had found it impossible to work under the "inefficient direction" of the Castros.

A dozen other Czech flying instructors left some time ago. Another group of Czechs assigned as advisors to the National Bank of Foreign Commerce left recently, saying they could not work with the "undisciplined Cubans."

A Russian team overseeing the construction of a cement factory near Matanzas pulled out without explanation, leaving the job half done.

The exact duties of the aviation instructors never had been made clear, although their presence was linked with reports that Russian Mig jets are being assembled at San Julian airbase in western Cuba.

These reports have never been confirmed, and no Soviet jets have been sighted in flight.

Foes of the Castro regime started a $5 million fire Wednesday at the nationalized Hershey sugar mill, burning out one of Cuba's biggest sugar refineries and a warehouse containing nearly 14,000 tons of bagged sugar.

Destruction of the sugar alone accounted for $1.6 million of the loss. A total of 279,096 100-pound bags of sugar had been crammed into the warehouse, which was designed to hold only 250,000 bags.

Observers said the overload indicates the difficulty the Castros are having in disposing of the current sugar crop.

Before the government took it over, the Hershey mill belonged to refugee Cuban sugar tycoon, Julio Lobo. So far as is known, it had no connection with the American chocolate company.

Numerous cane field fires were reported Wednesday in Las Villas Province. It appeared some of them had been set by sugar workers angered by the recent reduction of their wages, while others were believed to have been set by political opponents of the regime.

McCann Arrives In Hong Kong From Red China

Hong Kong - (UPI) - Robert E. McCann, his body wasted by cancer and wracked with pain, emerged tearfully into the free world today from 10 years imprisonment in Communist China. Doctors sped the American to a hospital to try to save his life.

A doctor said the 60-year-old McCann was in "extremely grave" condition.

A U.S. Air Force transport stood ready to fly him back to the United States with his wife, Flora, when and if doctors felt he could risk the trip. His three children and six grandchildren were waiting to see him in California.

It was obvious McCann had suffered on the 1,100-mile trip by plane, train and ambulance from Tientsin to Hong Kong. His wife was by his side all the way.

Tears flowed down the frail man's hollow cheeks as three male and two female Chinese Red Cross attendants carried him on a stretcher up to within five feet of the border at Lowu Station.

He was shifted there to a British Red Cross stretcher and carried across to an ambulance waiting on the Hong Kong side.

McCann grimaced in pain during the transfer and as he crossed the border Mrs. McCann burst into tears with him.

Neither of the McCanns would speak to newsmen. The ambulance had to keep its speed down to 15 miles an hour to prevent jostling McCann on its trip over winding mountain roads to St. Theresa's Hospital.
