Moose Drum Corps To Be in Parade

The Medford Moose Junior Drum corps is expected to be among bands, floats and equestrian groups in the parade at the annual Azalea festival Saturday and Sunday, May 27 and 28, at Brookings.

Gov. and Mrs. Mark Hatfield will pay an official visit to the festival, and many other special events are planned for the Brookings-Harbor area during the week end.

Queen Randi Hopkins will be crowned in Azalea State park following the parade. A crab feed, rodeo, square dance jamboree, community worship service and barbecue also are planned.

BOY DROWNS IN HOLE

Old Tappan, N.J. — Four-year-old Stuart Bennet drowned Wednesday when he fell into a water-filled hole dug for a septic tank in a new housing development. The boy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Bennet, was found in the hole by a construction worker who dove into the water after seeing the boy's baseball bat floating on the surface.

About Candidates

(Editor's note: This is the second in a series of articles in which biographies of candidates for the Medford school board are presented. One will be elected for a five-year term on the Medford school board at the annual school election May 1. Today's article is about Gerald M. (Jerry) Gastineau.)

Gerald M. (Jerry) Gastineau, 40, has lived in Medford since 1955, when he moved here from Newport to accept the position of regional manager of the Equitable Life Assurance Society.

He was born in Baring, Mo., and following graduation from high school was a professional baseball player for three years as pitcher for the Three I league (Illinois, Indiana and Iowa).

Gastineau moved to Oregon in 1955 to attend Willamette university, Salem. While there he coached at Chemawa Indian school, as one of several jobs he held to help pay his college expenses.

Upon graduation from Willamette in 1960, he entered the Navy for three years. He served in the Pacific Theater during World War II.

Move to Ashland

He moved to Ashland after his discharge, and coached at Ashland High school before moving to Newport to accept the position of principal and then superintendent of schools. He held that position until 1955.

Gastineau is president of the Rogue Valley chapter of the Life Underwriters association, and in 1957 and 1958 he served as Jackson county chairman for the National Foundation. He has been active in the Boy Scouts, having served as finance chairman for the Big Pine district.

He and his wife, Sunny, and five children live at 2647 Eastover Terrace dr.

BLM Employees Receive Awards

Checks for $150 for outstanding performance in 1960 were presented to Edward A. Kupillas and Edward L. Hastey recently by the bureau of land management.

The two men, employees in the Medford BLM district, received certificates acknowledging their outstanding performance from James Doyle, area administrator for the bureau. District Manager Ross A. Youngblood made the presentations.

Kupillas is assistant unit forester in the Greensprings Forest Management area. In 1960, he not only performed his own job assignment with distinction, but he acted as unit forester for a three-month period, the bureau reported. He is a graduate of Syracuse university college of forestry, and has been with BLM for five years.

Hastey, assistant district engineer, is a graduate logging engineer from the University of Washington. He has been with the Medford office for four years and earned the award "by not only doing his own job assignment with honors, but carried the work load of the district engineer's office for four months," according to the bureau.

4-H Leader Speaks At Kiwanis Club

Ashland — Victor Stewart, leader of the Sis-Q 4-H club, spoke on the 4-H program at a meeting of Ashland Kiwanis club this week.

He described materials, records and procedures used in 4-H and displayed trophies and record books on winning animals.

His son, Steve, gave a demonstration on "A year in a 4-H beef club."

The club leader explained that since a 4-H club is an educational program, it is important to have good materials and information, such as are supplied by Oregon State college. The county extension staff provide professional assistance, he said.

Steve Stewart, president of the Sis-Q club, told how members select their steers, how they feed the animals, and how they get ready and show their animals. He explained the educational program on disease, pests, parasites and other related subjects, and the operation of the auction at the county fair.

STILL OLD FRONTIER

Washington — UPI — It's still the old frontier—to look at the small switchboard on the receptionist's desk in the White House lobby. Reminiscent of the Eisenhower regime, the nameplates above the telephone keys still are: Mr. Hagerty, Gov. Adams, Mr. Shanley. Hagerty was Eisenhower's press secretary, Adams was chief presidential assistant and Shanley was Cabinet Secretary.

Local Eagles Host To Region Aeries

Crater Lake aerie of the Fraternal Order of Eagles was host to aeries of region 5 of Oregon last week end. Nearly 250 members from throughout Oregon attended the meeting and a state drill team jamboree at the Medford hall.

William T. Bigoni, Portland, past state president, was the main speaker and Harvey Hawley, Medford, was in charge of ritualistic competition. Jack Saterlee, Medford, is regional director.

State officers present included Fred Shafer, Salem, president; John Weber, Medford, vice president; Vern Banks, Portland, conductor; Ben Packard, Bend, treasurer; Carl Berg, Toledo, inside guard; Harry O'Grady, Bend, outside guard; Leo Woods, Klamath Falls, and Robert Hansen, Albany, trustees; and W. M. Loy, Bend, membership director.

JERRY GASTINEAU

TESTIMONY HEARD — Gen. Thomas D. White, Air Force Chief of Staff, left, and Air Force Secretary Eugene M. Zuckert are shown as they testified before the Senate Military Appropriations subcommittee. White said that failure to meet the challenge and threat of Russia's man-in-space feat "could prove disastrous." They both urged that the B70 2,000-mile-an-hour bomber should be developed rather than cut back as directed as President Kennedy.

New Telephone Device For Use of the Blind

San Mateo, Calif. — UPI — A new telephone device for use of the blind that automatically dials up to 250 numbers individually or consecutively at the push of a key has been put into production here. Tape indexed in braille is provided in the device (produced by Dialaphone).

The person turns the tape to the name desired, pushes the key and within seconds the call is completed.

Children's shoes are so designed that when correctly fitted at the time of purchase they will allow unrestricted foot growth for four to six months.
