Bi g Y Supermarket Under New Owners

S and S Stores, Incorporated, will assume operation of the Big Y Supermarket north of Medford tomorrow, but the name will be the same, M. O. Bessonette, former operator announced Saturday.

Bessonette said he is leasing the market to the new operators, C. H. Sigman, formerly of Yakima, Wash., and A. C. Smith, Pocatello, Idaho. Also a part of the new operation is Howard Smith, A. K. Smith's nephew.

Smith has operated supermarkets in the United States and Canada and more recently was a manager in the Pay 'n Save drug store chain in Winnepeg, and later of a large drug department in Boise..

Approximately $200,000 will be spent on a general remodeling of the store which include an "in-store" bakery and a large restaurant.

The shopping center was built in 1938 and is now one of the largest supermarkets in the Medford area.

"I plan to concentrate my attentions on my property holdings and contracting business," Bessonette said. "This will include work on the expansion of the Big Y. Other projects include construction of a water treatment plant at Riddle and a new home for Crater Lake Motors.

Retreat Scheduled Along Rogue River

The Rev. C. Edward Crowther, Episcopal chaplain at the University of California at Los Angeles, is conducting a retreat for Southern Oregon college students at the Black Oaks conference center on the Rogue river this week end.

In addition, Mr. Crowther will be guest preacher at the Mite-Box presentation service sponsored by the Episcopal churches of southern Oregon at St. Luke's in Grants Pass this afternoon.

He was invited by the Rev. Duane S. Alvord, Episcopal chaplain at SOC. College students as well as their husbands and wives have been invited to attend the retreat, which will emphasize the need for prayer life and spiritual discipline for busy students.

Reservations were being received at the SOC student affairs office.

5 Oregon Interim Committees Planned

Salem—A Ways and Means subcommittee has settled on about five legislative interim committees for 1962.

Last year there were seven.

Rep. Clarence Barton, co-chairman of the full committee, said the 1962 study groups are shaping up to be those on business problems, natural resources, agriculture, education and public employees' retirement.

The Family Council

Editor's Note: The Family Council consists of a judge, a psychiatrist, three clergymen, three editors and a women's editor. Each article is a summary of an actual case history. The Council reports on problems that have been dealt with by responsible agencies and counselors. (Copyright 1961—General Features Corp.)

Gerard L. – She does things for spite, to anoy me.

Violet L. – He's a fusspot. He should live and let live.

• • •

Gerard L. – Offhand, you'd think our marriage a perfect one. We're both high school graduates, same religion, same background. Our families cause no trouble. We have a nice home and a comfortable income from our two paychecks. All the "big" things are fine.

Still we argue most of the time. It seems to prove that it's the "little" things that can make or ' ak a marriage, things like consideration and thoughtfulness. Such things never occur to Vi.

For example, why does she settle down next to me in the living room to do her nails? She has other times and other places for that, and she knows I can't stand the smell of that stuff. Why, too, does she read newspapers in bed and keep me awake with the rustling? Can't she bring along a book or a small magazine?

• • •

Violet L. – You never saw a man with so many crotchets. What alarms me is that I'm the one who brings them all out in Gerry. Nobody else seems to annoy him as much as I do.

How come he can work among chemicals all day and not be the least bit annoyed by the odors, but passes out from a whiff of my nail polish? I don't have "other times and other places" as he says, to attend to odds and ends like that. I like to do it while I watch TV or chat. Of course, if he prefers, he can treat me to a store bought manicure each week, and wait until I get home after it, for his dinner.

As to the newspaper, this is something new. It never used to bother him. That's the trouble. I never know what new thing will get his goat. Is it me he can't stand, or marriage?

• • •

The Council: The easy answer here would be: Save up for two bedrooms. But that's too easy. Besides it's not on the side of good marriages, which is the side we're plumping for. So, to Gerard we say: When you look at Violet, don't see red, see a very human gal you must make allowances for and get used to. And to Violet: In a good marriage you can't just be yourself. You must be your best self.

In simplest terms, marriage offers each a chance to be supremely kind to the other. With this in mind, Violet can easily do her nails in the bathroom. Maybe he's had his fill of chemical odors in his laboratory. And she can read her noisy newspaper before bedtime, say while Gerard does the dishes. (What say, Gerry?)

Gerard's right about the "little" things. They reveal the "internals" of the marriage which are more important, for the long push, than the externals. One long-married wife remarked recently, "I love him because he lets me talk." A husband of a 42-year-old marriage said, "The nicest thing she used to do was sneak my pocket comb out, soak it in ammonia suds, and put it back spic and span, without saying a word." Just small kindnesses.

As time goes on, the "crotchets" will appear and new adjustments must be made. But this is a small price to pay for membership in that most wonderful club of all – the happily married. Certainly Violet isn't the only one who annoys Gerry. But he speaks up to her, his forever-after mate, while he grins-and-bears the gum snapping, knuckle - cracking associates he can walk out on with the 5 o'clock whistle.

5 Per Cent Tax Cut Proposed for State

Salem – (UPI) – A five per cent tax cut for every state income taxpayer in Oregon was sent to the Senate Friday with the endorsement of the Senate Tax committee.

The bill, a drastically revised version of a House-passed income tax measure, would let taxpayers subtract the five per cent from the final tax bill.

Interested persons have been invited to attend the meetings.

Sources Say German Won't Hang in 1961

Jerusalem – (UPI) – Israeli legal soorces predicted Saturday that Adolf Eichmann will not hang this year – even if he is convicted of murdering 6 million Jews.

Whatever the verdict of the Israeli court, the sources said, it probably will not be carried out before at least nine months.

The trial is expected to drag on until August, despite vigorous efforts of presiding judge Moshe Landau to cut short rambling testimony and the time-consuming reading aloud of a mass of prosecution documents.

State prosecutor Gideon Hausner told Landau Friday he hopes to have the prosecution case completed in another two months.

Fluoridation Urged For Marion County

Salem – (UPI) – The Marion County Dental Health Advisory committee recommended Friday that flouridation of water be carried out on a county-wide basis.

Dr. David Copeland, chairman of the committee, said the group based its recommendation upon dental health records of children in the Salem Heights water district where water has been flouridated the past eight years.

He said the survey showed reductions in tooth decay of 51.5 per cent for children aged six; 66.9 per cent for those age seven; 34.8 per cent of those age eight; 37.2 per cent for those nine, and 43.3 per cent for those age 10.

1,000 Students Seen For Local College

North Bend–(UPI)–Dr. Leon P. Minear, State Superintendent of Public Instruction, said Friday if Coos county and parts of Curry, Douglas and Lane authorize a community college at the ballot Monday they will have a school with a student body of 1,000 by 1966-67.

Addressing the North Bend Chamber of Commerce, Dr. Minear predicted a 400-member fulltime student body in 1962-63.

4-H NEWS

Tricky Trotters

The April meeting of the Applegate Tricky Trotters 4-H club was held April 16 at the Fowler ranch.

We had a lesson on judging four mares which belong to club members.

Since most of the members had their horses with them, we practiced showing them at the halter. Then we had a relay race. Our next meeting will be held May 14 at Fowler's.

The meeting was then adjourned and refreshments were served by Mrs. Fowler.
